'ENORMOUS U. S. FORCES' TO ENTER STRUGGLE UNLESS END COMES SOON

Premier Says Allies Now Have More Than Two Million in Action—Meeting With Stalin on Peace 'Essential.'

(Partial Churchill Text on 1-B.)

By JOHN F. CHESTER

LONDON, Sept. 28 (AP).—Prime Minister Churchill warned the House of Commons today that the war against Adolf Hitler might well continue into 1945.

"I deprecate very much people being carried away into premature expectations of an early cessation of the fighting," he said in a full-dress report on the Quebec conference and the war in general. "There is still a great deal to do in a military sense.

"Unless organized German resistance collapses in the near future enormous additional United States forces will be brought to bear in the final struggle.

"I shall certainly not hazard a guess as to when the end will come. Many persons of the highest technical attainment and knowledge and responsibility have good hopes that it will all be over by the end of 1944. On the other hand no one—certainly not I—can guarantee that several months of 1945 may not be required."

Wants Meeting With Stalin.

Other high points in his address were:

That he considered it essential that Premier Stalin join with the heads of the British and United States governments in a new meeting before revelation of peace plans, a meeting which Churchill said he hoped would take place before the end of the year.

Allied forces in northwestern Europe have grown to between two and three million men, he reported. The ratio is three Americans to two British and there are five and a half United States divisions to four British divisions.

The British have suffered 90,000 casualties in France, he said, and American losses in killed, wounded and missing, including those in southern and northern France, have risen to 145,000.

Indicating the tremendous power exerted by the Allies on

TASS GIVES ALLIED PLAN FOR GERMAN OCCUPATION

Country to Be Divided in Three Zones, With U. S., Britain, Russia Each Taking Over One—Berlin Similarly Split Up.

LONDON, Sept. 28 (AP). — The official Russian news agency Tass denied today that the tripower European Advisory Commission in London is considering cutting up Germany into small states on its unconditional surrender.

In a Moscow broadcast, the agency said, "the problem is often raised in the British and American press concerning the possibility of Germany's dismemberment into several independent small states. Projects of this kind, however, have not been and are not considered by the European Advisory Committee."

Soviet Russia, the United States and Britain are represented on the commission.

The Tass broadcast was prepared before Prime Minister Churchill indicated in his address to commons that no final decisions had been made at the Quebec conference concerning Germany and that a new conference with Premier Stalin present was "essential."

The Russian news agency said that the following conclusions on the results achieved by the European Advisory Commission could be drawn from available reports out of London:

(1) The committee has "approved the most important document, namely, on Germany's unconditional surrender."

(2) Representatives of the Big Three powers agreed on the procedure for disarming Germany. Tass said the agreement "also points out that Germany must be demilitarized in the interests of the preservation and insurance of peace."

(3) The commission aproved a

CHURCHILL TELLS M.P.S TO DISCOUNT U. S. NEWS UNTIL ELECTION IS OVER

LONDON, Sept. 28.

PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL told the House of Commons today that an election was on in the United States and told members "not to be startled or carried away by sensational reports" during the campaign.

"The United States is a land of free speech," he said, "Nowhere is speech freer. Not even here where we sedulously cultivate it, even in its most repulsive form.

"But when I see some of the accounts given of conversations I am supposed to have had with the President of the United States, I can only recall a Balfourian phrase of many years ago when he (Lord Balfour, former Prime Minister) said that the accounts given bore no more relation to the actual facts than the wildest tales of the Arabian Nights to the ordinary incidents of domestic life in the East."

JAPAN PROBABLY HIT BY HARD QUAKE, SEISMOLOGIST REPORTS

Shock Recorded at Weston College in Massachusetts Lasted Two Hours.

WESTON, Mass., Sept. 28 (AP).—Japan "probably" was visited yesterday by a "quite strong" earthquake, the Rev. Daniel J. Linehan, S. J., seismologist at Weston College, reported today.

He said the first tremor was recorded at 12:38:21 p. m. and lasted for two hours.

Father Linehan said the center of the shock was 6695 miles from Weston and that its direction placed it "probably in Japan." He added that he could not determine as yet if the quake struck the Japanese mainland.

NEUTRALS TO LOSE U. S. FRIENDSHIP IF THEY SHIELD NAZIS

Hull Warns That Giving Sanctuary Would Affect Relations 'for Years to Come.'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP).—Secretary of State Hull disclosed today that neutral nations had been warned they would lose American friendship "for years to come" if they should give sanctuary to Hitler or other Axis leaders after the war.

Several governments of neutral or former neutral status, notably Sweden, Turkey, Switzerland and Spain, either have given assurances that they would not permit Axis nationals to flee into their borders or that they are fully aware of the problems such action might provoke.

"No indication has yet been received of the views of certain other governments," Hull said in a statement released at his press conference.

Hull himself brought up the question raised frequently at previous press conferences as to whether Hitler actually is on the list of war criminals already drawn up by a special Allied commission in London.

Any suggestion, Hull said, that Hitler or any other Axis leader has been or is about to be overlooked is answered by the year-old Declaration of Moscow providing that (1) war criminals guilty of specific actions against people shall be returned to the scene of those actions for trial and (2)

Butter Up to 20 Points a Pound Sunday---For 90 Days at Least

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP).—Reflecting short supply and spotty distribution, the ration value of creamery butter goes up four points Sunday to a new high of 20 points a pound.

This increase is the only point change to be made in October, OPA announced today. All other rationed foods—meats, other dairy products and processed foods—retain current values.

Hinting the record-high points on butter may continue through December, Administrator Chester Bowles said:

"There are no two ways about it, we civilians are going to have to get along with less butter than formerly—at least during the next 90 days or so. We simply don't have anywhere near the normal supply of butter to distribute.

The Government has ended its butter purchases for the year but OPA said production this year is about 12 per cent less than that in the corresponding period of 1943. July production of creamery butter was the lowest in 22 years, with output continuing to taper in August and this month, the War Food Administration reported. Production normally declines in the fall and begins to rise again in December.

The purpose of the new 20-point value, he said, is to build up stocks in the trade so that "more people everywhere will be able to get some butter during the next month."

The increase does not apply to farm or processed butter, which continues at 12 points a pound, or to margarine which stays at two points a pound.

Not quite so much turkey will be available for the American dinner table on Thanksgiving and Christmas this year as last, but the supply still will be larger than the average of pre-war years.

Food Administration officials said today that increasingly large quantities of Government-owned food stocks are being released to civilians.

The Agriculture Department said that civilians will get more egg products in the next six months than for the similar period in 1943-44 as the result of smaller requirements for drying purposes and record storage stocks.

DETAILS GIVEN OF 9-DAY FIGHT BY BRITONS FOR ARNHEM BRIDGE

Plan Called Daring Gamble to Shorten War — Churchill Says Battle Was 'Superb Feat of Arms.'

LONDON, Sept. 28 (AP). — Prime Minister Winston Churchill paid tribute before the House of Commons today to "the superb feat of arms" of the British First Airborne Division, whose 2000 survivors retreated back across the Neder Ryn (Rhine).

Some 6000 of the red-bereted warriors were left behind as captives, killed or wounded after nine days of warfare in which the division tried unsuccessfully to win a bridgehead over the last great waterway in Holland.

The War Office disclosed that the Germans had captured the general commanding the British in the Arnhem pocket, but that he escaped. Maj. Gen. R. S. Urquhart "is believed to have been in enemy hands a short time but subsequently escaped and now is safe," the announcement said.

"This glorious and fruitful operation will take a lasting place in our military annals and will in succeeding generations inspire our youth with the highest ideals of duty and daring," Churchill said.

"The cost has been heavy . . . but for those who mourn there is at least the consolation that the sacrifice was not needlessly demanded nor was it given without result.

"The delay caused to the enemy's advance upon Nijmegen enabled the British Second Army and their American comrades in two other airborne divisions to secure intact the vitally important bridges and to form a strong bridgehead over the main stream of the Rhine at Nijmegen.

"'Not in vain' may be the pride of those who survived and the epitaph of those who fell."

Montgomery's Appraisal.

At Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's headquarters the over-all operation which opened the way into mid-Holland was described officially as "85 per cent successful."

Purposes of the operation were listed as three:

1. To seize the vital bridges at Grave, Nijmegen and Arnhem.
2. To loosen the German garrison in western Holland.
3. To accelerate the drive through Holland.

The British press, still ringing with the praise of the division's fight, described it not as a defeat—but as a "glorious failure."

"It was a gamble to force a quick end to the war," said the Daily Express. "It nearly succeeded, and it was always worth trying."

A Daring Plan.

The "Red Devils" had floated down on parachutes and in gliders a week ago last Sunday to hold the Arnhem bridge. It was part of the plan, a dangerous plan, but so daring that if it succeeded the war could be shortened by weeks—perhaps by months.

Arnhem was 50 miles behind the German lines. If the bridge there could be held along with the one across the Waal Rhine at Nijme-

DEWEY'S ADVISERS PONDER VALUE OF STINGING ATTACKS

Campaign Tempo Stepped Up by Shift in Tactics but Aids Aren't Sure It Picked Up Votes.

By EDWARD A. HARRIS
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 28.—As Gov. Thomas E. Dewey returned today to his executive offices in the State Capitol, the question was: Has he left his New Deal spree behind him, and will he let the stuff alone during the balance of his presidential campaign?

The Dewey special train arrived at 9 a. m. but the Governor and Mrs. Dewey did not leave their Pullman car until 9:30. They were greeted by about 300 persons, who gave them an impromptu reception.

The 8635-mile, three-week transcontinental swing through 21 states taught the Republican presidential nominee several lessons. He learned early in the trip that, despite his abhorrence of barnstorming, he could not afford to high-hat the unscheduled little and not-so-little gatherings at station stops. After his aids had talked to him about it, he changed his tactics. He began giving short, impromptu speeches at every whistle stop, but they were mild, genteel-worded affairs.

Similarly, his major addresses were patterned on "constructive" lines, with comparatively minute quantities of pepper. The strategy was to appeal to the millions of independent voters who had utterly rejected the philosophy of the Republican Old Guard, but who were

Allies Come Not As Oppressors, ---Eisenhower

But, He Tells Germans, Nazism Will Be Crushed.

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Sept. 28 (AP). — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, in his first proclamation to the people of Germany, said today: "We come as conquerors, but not as oppressors."

Text of the proclamation:

"1. The Allied forces serving under my command have now entered Germany. We come as conquerors, but not as oppressors.

"In the area of Germany occupied by the forces under my command we shall obliterate Nazism and German militarism. We shall overthrow the Nazi rule, dissolve the Nazi party and abolish the cruel, oppressive and discriminatory laws and institutions which the party has created.

"We shall eradicate that German militarism which has so often disrupted the peace of the world. Military and party leaders, the Gestapo and other suspected of crimes and atrocities will be tried and, if guilty, punished as they deserve.

"2. Supreme legislative, judicial and executive authority and powers within the occupied territory are vested in me as supreme commander of the Allied forces and as military governor, and the mil-

NAZIS EVACUATING RIGA AS RED ARMY MOVES IN ON CITY

Position of Withdrawing Germans 'Strategically Hopeless,' Soviet Military Men Say.

LONDON, Sept. 28 (AP).—Russian troops have seized more than 200 populated places northwest and west of Parnu in their task of clearing the western shore of Estonia and have made strategic gains at other points on the long front, Moscow's broadcast communique announced tonight.

By DANIEL DE LUCE

MOSCOW, Sept. 28 (AP).—German troops have begun an attempt to withdraw from the Latvian capital and port of Riga, along a hotly strafed coastal road, front dispatches said today.

With the Russians tightening their arc northeast, east and south of the city, the German command decided apparently to move the bulk of its troops out of the Riga, rather than risk entrapment by a possible breakthrough and cutting of the escape corridor west of the port. The dispatches told of rearguard actions outside Riga and heavy enemy movements westward on the Tukums road leading to Western Lithuania and East Prussia.

Smashing through the lake and river barriers to Riga, the Russians drove to Skulte on the Gulf of Riga, 22 miles north of the city yesterday, and to Vatrane and Kaibala, 35 and 31 miles east and southeast, capturing more than 200 communities, the Soviet command announced.

The Estonian island of Vormsi, which lies between the mainland and the more heavily fortified island of Hiiu (Dago), was captured in an amphibious operation. The small island of Muhu, the large one of Saare (Osel) and Hiiu remain to be taken before the Gulf of Riga is fully open to the

Nazis' Tribute to 'Lost Division': They Fought 'Like Lions' to Last

LONDON, Sept. 28 (AP). — A German Transocean News Agency correspondent, Guenther Weber, paid high tribute today to the British "Lost Division" of Arnhem, saying its members "fought like lions" and as the end neared "resisted with knives and pistols."

"I spoke to German officers and men who have been in the fighting lasting for 250 hours," Weber said in a broadcast. "They said: 'The British airborne soldiers were the highest qualified men we have met during the entire invasion campaign." Weber said the British division commander surrendered "only after being seriously wounded at close quarters."

"The Eighty-second and 101st United States Airborne Division taking part in the fighting at Arnhem suffered heavy losses," he added. "The Eighty-second previously had taken part in operations in Sicily and the 101st in the Cotentin (Normandy) landings."

There was no confirmation of Weber's assertion that American troops fought at Arnhem, but Allied headquarters announced today that the Eighty-second and 101st Airborne Divisions had participated in the operation, landing at Eindhoven and Nijmegen.

U. S. FIRST ARMY ATTACKS EAST OF AACHEN, GAINS IN FORTIFIED FOREST

Third Army Americans Driven Back From Metz Fort—Canadians Fight Way Into Calais, Take 2000 Prisoners.

LONDON, Sept. 28 (AP).—The British Second Army, thwarted in its effort to join hands with the "lost division" of airborne troops at Arnhem, fought savagely today to widen its wedge driven into Holland near the end of the Siegfried Line while to the southeast American First Army troops attacked through the German defense zone southeast of Aachen in a new smash toward Cologne.

The Second Army drove to the Meuse (Maas) River on a 14-mile front, filling in gaps left in its sweep to that barrier at points on a 40-mile front yesterday. The British wiped out a 10-mile-long German pocket west of the Maas from which the Germans had launched their first serious threat to cut the Allied lifeline to the north.

The British also struck out westward, in an effort to close the escape route of possibly 200,000 Germans in the coastal area of Holland.

The Nijmegen corridor was widened 12 miles, from its former six-mile width, by the two thrusts.

A British officer said the corridor "is no longer dangerous and the Germans who threatened it so fiercely a few days ago must realize they are now themselves imperiled."

North of Nijmegen, where the Second Army had been unable to establish a secure line to the Neder Ryn (Rhine) in time to save the British First Airborne Division at Arnhem, the troops of Lt. Gen. Sir Miles C. Dempsey today had a firm grip on a five-mile strip of this stream and were getting into position for a new attempt to drive around the Siegfried line, which is believed to end at the German town of Kleve, some 10 miles to the southeast.

On the left flank of the corridor the Germans were still fighting with fanatical violence, but at the northwest rim British patrols fanned out five or six miles beyond fallen Elst, between Nijmegen and Arnhem.

First Army Attack.

The attack by the American First Army in the pillbox-studded Hurtgen forest, 14 miles southeast of Aachen, was said to be a powerful effort to tear open the way to Cologne and enlarge the penetration of the Siegfried line.

The Allied communique said the Americans were meeting stiff opposition from pillboxes and concrete strongholds near Hurtgen, eight miles southeast of Stolberg. The village is in the eastern fringe of the forest itself, and the fact that the Yanks were in the vicinity meant they had battled through some of the stiffest defenses of the Siegfried line.

There was no news of developments in the Reichswald (forest) of Germany which American airborne troops and British forces had entered two days ago. They were last reported within seven miles of Kleve.

In Belgium, British troops crossed the Antwerp Canal in strength west of Turnhout and there were signs that the Germans were pulling out of that area.

Attack on Calais.

Canadian soldiers, wearing "Mae West" lifejackets, attacked through the canal lines around Calais on the English Channel coast. They worked across the western flats into the factory area, converted into a stronghold, toward the port district.

The Canadians seized six of the

Yanks Strike in Perfect Weather — 60 Allied Planes Lost in Day and Night—90 Enemy Craft Destroyed.

LONDON, Sept. 28 (AP).—More than 1000 American heavy bombers today attacked German war factories at Magdeburg, Kassel and Merseburg. The railroad yard at Magdeburg was also hit.

The American bombers swept over the Reich in perfect flying weather for the fourth straight day, close on the heels of Royal Air Force heavies which carried the non-stop air offensive against German transportation through the night.

One fighter group led by Col. Hubert Zemke of Missoula, Mont., reported shooting down 13 Nazis without loss on today's operations over Germany. Another group destroyed seven.

R. A. F. bombers attacked German positions at besieged Calais on the French coast during the morning in the sixth heavy blow in eight days.

Rail Yard Bombed.

The British bombers last night attacked the freight yards at Kaiserslautern, about 40 miles northeast of Saarbrucken.

The night raiders also made a side jab at Kassel, one of the four places attacked in daylight by American heavies which constituted about half the estimated 2500 Allied planes over Germany yesterday and last night.

Close to 2000 more fighters and bombers pounded enemy troops, railways and fortifications in the Low Countries and along the coast, making it one of the busiest air days of the month.

44 Bombers Lost.

The German Air Force, while greatly outnumbered, showed more life than usual and made several rough swipes at the attacking forces but at high cost to themselves. At least 90 German fighters were destroyed, including more than 60 in the air. Allied losses were 44 heavy bombers and 16 fighters.

Forty-two American heavies out of a force of more than 1100 were lost on the four-pronged mission to the Rhineland. It was the third heaviest Eighth Air Force loss this month. Much of the damage was suffered by one formation of Liberators pounced on by 100 Nazis over Kassel.

The Air Ministry said that in order to avoid clouds over the target the big Lancasters rained their bombs on the Kaiserslautern railway yards from only 3000 feet, starting fires that were still spreading when the last bomber passed over.

Heavy Air Fighting.

An almost continuous air battle was going on yesterday over the Arnhem-Nijmegen area, where British fighters destroyed 41 Nazis in the air and six more on the ground. The remainder of the fighter claims were by American pilots. In bright moonlight R. A. F. Mosquitoes did a regular daylight strafing job on eight trains and several road convoys in Holland and Germany.

French-based United States fighter bombers destroyed a large ammunition dump north of Strasbourg, attacked enemy fortresses at Metz and sealed a long freight train in a tunnel at Munstererfel. The explosion of the ammunition dump was so tremendous that one plane flying at 8000 feet was damaged.

"those accused of more general crimes against nations or civilization itself shall be punished by joint action of the Allies."

Text of Hull's Statement.

The text of Hull's statement follows:

"On Aug. 21, 1942, and again on July 30, 1943, President Roosevelt publicly denounced the crimes which the Axis powers, their leaders and criminal associates were committing against innocent people.

"In his statement of July 30, 1943, the President expressed incredulity that any neutral country would give asylum to or extend protection to such persons, and added that the Government of the United States 'would regard the action by a neutral government in affording asylum to Axis leaders or their tools as inconsistent with the principles for which the United Nations were fighting.'

"He expressed the hope that no neutral government would permit its territory to be used as a place for refuge or otherwise assist such persons in any effort to escape their just deserts.

"The governments of the neutral nations in Europe and of Argentina were formally apprised of this statement.

Neutrals Reminded.

"The rapid progress of the armed forces of the United Nations in recent weeks led the Department of State late in August to call this matter again urgently to the attention of a number of neutral governments. This Government's action had the support and approval of the British and Soviet governments.

"The neutral governments were reminded that it was the intention of this Government that the successful close of the war would include provision for the surrender to the United Nations of war criminals.

"They were advised that if they refused to admit Axis leaders and their henchmen and criminal subordinates to their territories problems between those governments and the United Nations could be avoided.

"It was pointed out that the neutral governments themselves would undoubtedly regard persons guilty of such crimes against civilization as thoroughly undesirable aliens whose admission to their territories would not be in the interest of the neutral governments even if such persons were not wanted for eventual trial by the United Nations.

"They were advised that the American people would not understand the extension of asylum or protection by neutral countries to any of the persons responsible for the war or for the many barbaric acts committed by the Axis leaders, and that relations between the United States and the neutral governments concerned would be adversely affected for years to come should the Axis leaders or their vassals find safety in those countries.

Sweden's Reply.

"Some of the neutral governments had already been giving serious thought to this problem. The Swedish government's policy was publicly announced on Sept. 5 in a declaration to the effect that Sweden's frontiers would not be open to those who by their actions had defied the conscience of the civilized world or betrayed their own countries, and that persons of this character who succeeded in slipping into Sweden would be promptly deported.

It is understood that the Swedish government has taken concrete steps to implement that policy.

"No representations were made to the Turkish Government in view of its recent rupture of relations with Germany. The Turkish Government, nevertheless, announced on Sept. 8 that Turkish frontiers authorities had been instructed not to permit Axis nationals, either civil or military, to enter Turkey by land or by sea.

Switzerland, Spain Reply.

"The Swiss Government has indicated that it is fully alive to the problems which would arise should Axis leaders find asylum in Switzerland.

"A public statement has been made by the Spanish Ambassador in Washington denying that there was any basis for supposition that Axis leaders might find refuge in Spanish territory.

"No indication has yet been received of the views of certain other governments.

"The department is continuing to impress upon those governments whose policy has not yet been clearly stated the importance which it attaches to the taking of adequate measures to insure that Axis war criminals do not find asylum in their countries."

The Soviet command announced that Russian detachments southwest of Mariampole before the border of East Prussia had dislodged the Germans from frontline trenches and seized two fortified heights. It said three enemy counterattacks were hurled back.

(The Germans asserted that far to the south several thousand prisoners were taken in Warsaw and that another segment of Lt. Gen. Tadeusz (Bor) Komorowski's underground army surrendered. A communique from Gen. Komorowski announced withdrawals from positions in the Mokotow section of the city. He said the patriots held their positions in other parts of Warsaw.)

In southern Poland, Soviet forces outflanking the key Uzok Pass through the Carpathian Mountains reached the border of eastern Slovakia. Troops of Col. Gen. Ivan Petrov's Fourth Ukrainian Army, which includes units of the First Czechoslovak Army, won dominating high ground along the frontier six miles west of Uzok Pass with an advance beyond the village of Wolosatojoe.

(A Moscow broadcast heard in London Monday said the Russians were reported to have penetrated 25 miles into Czechoslovakia through Lupkow Pass, northwest of Uzok Pass.)

14-inch cross-Channel guns the Germans had been keeping in action until the last minute in a vengeance battering of Dover. Fort Lapin and strongpoints in the redoubt area just west of Calais were cleared of the enemy and the fight swirled around the limits of the port city itself.

The Canadians also captured Calais citadel, which dominates the city. Enemy troops still held out in the ruins of the city, but they were not expected to last many hours. The Canadians have taken 2000 prisoners in the last 48 hours.

Almost everywhere, the Germans said, the Allied attack was increasing in force, from Western Holland to the Belfort gap.

They admitted the loss of positions in a "heavy fluctuating battle against far superior forces" east of Lure, 15 miles west of Belfort, said strong Allied attacks had started from the Nancy area in a northern direction, and reported new airborne forces had been flung against 's Hertogenbosch, 10 miles ahead of the British push west from the Nijmegen corridor.

Fighting at Metz.

A big gun duel around Metz, the Germans added, was deepening in a prelude to a full American attack on that great fortress.

Associated Press correspondent E. D. Ball said in a frontline dispatch that Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army doughboys had been forced back after fighting their way to a bridge leading to Fort Driant guarding the west bank of the Moselle opposite Metz.

The Germans made five counterattacks, one six miles west of Metz near Gravelotte and two at Coincourt and Beange, nine to eleven miles northeast of Luneville below Nancy, the supreme headquarters communique announced. They withered under intense American fire which cost the enemy heavily.

Northeast of Nancy, too, the Germans counterattacked twice and were repulsed, losing six out of 30 tanks in one attack near Dieuze, 32 miles southeast of Metz.

The American Eighty-second and 101st Airborne Divisions were part of the great Allied sky army which invaded Holland vertically, it was disclosed tonight.

The Eighty-second is commanded by Maj. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgeway and the 101st by Maj. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor. Both saw action D-day and fought bitterly at Carentan.

The troops landed in the Eindhoven and Nijmegen areas of Holland. The 101st captured Eindhoven, a city of 111,000, and the biggest yet captured in that land. It established contact with the British Second Army 24 hours after landing. It suffered average casualties but took 3500 prisoners and killed and wounded many others.

Allied air power was thrown into the fighting yesterday on a wholesale scale and the Luftwaffe came up in strength. Headquarters said 88 German fighters were destroyed and reported the loss of 16 Allied fighters and 42 heavy bombers.

Clean-Up In French Interior.

There no longer are any areas of organized German resistance in the interior of southwestern or central France. Scattered German troops there still are being brought in by French Forces of the Interior, but there are no known cores of active fighting.

There still are several pockets in strength along the Bay of Biscay coast in the general area of Bordeaux, but the exact locations cannot be disclosed.

Second Gunner Falls With Tail Of Plane, Lives

Flyer Plummets Almost 4 Miles in Severed Assembly.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP).—Trapped in the severed tail of a Flying Fortress, Staff Sgt. Eugene Moran of Gays Mills, Wis., fell four miles into a tree top in Germany and lived to become a German prisoner of war, an eyewitness relates.

Moran's escape with only minor injuries was described by Staff Sgt. George C. Fisher of Roslindale, Mass., one of 218 wounded and ill American soldiers repatriated by the exchange ship Gripsholm and interviewed at Halloran Hospital.

It happened last Nov. 29, Fisher said, after flak had cut off the plane's tail, with Moran, the tail gunner, inside. Moran couldn't jump because his parachute had been shot full of holes, so he folded the chute around him and waited.

As the tail dropped earthward, the damaged vertical fin and horizontal stabilizers fluttered and flapped, Fisher said, breaking the speed of the fall. Then, one of the stabilizers stabbed into the tree—and held.

Fisher said he saw the tail fall and lodge in the tree as he floated to earth after bailing out of a plane which had been hit on a bombing mission over Bremen. After he was captured, Fisher said, he heard the Germans talk about "a soldier found in the tail of the plane," and later heard Moran's story when the two men became friends in the prison camp.

Moran's one request, Fisher said, was for backing when he returned to the United States with the almost unbelievable story, similar to the experience last April of another tail gunner, Sgt. James A. Raley of Henderson, Ky., who fell more than three and one-half miles in a Fortress tail section and landed in a tree top in the Italian area.

Fisher said he promised to vouch for Moran's story.

ITALY IS SAID TO CONSIDER ITSELF AT WAR WITH JAPAN

ROME, Sept. 28 (AP).—Giovanni Visconti Venosta, Undersecretary for Foreign Affairs, yesterday described as an act of "supreme justice" the statement by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill promising less Allied restraint and more responsibility for the Italian people.

Venosta said at a press conference that Italy considers itself at war with Japan, although there has been no formal declaration, adding that the country will support the Allied cause "without any limitation of effort." He described Japanese treatment of Italian diplomats and civilians as "most severe."

The Hyde Park declaration, while it does not satisfy Italy's hope of becoming a full Ally, marks the end of a static period, he said, and in view of disasters and bitter sorrows of past months and difficult hours ahead, it becomes an act of "supreme justice."

GERMANS REPORT RED ARMY THRUST INTO YUGOSLAVIA

Moscow Says Tito Has Give Russians Permission to Enter for Drive on Hungary.

LONDON, Sept. 28 (AP).—The German communique said today that Russian troops had invaded Yugoslavia and the report was supported by a Moscow radio announcement which said Marshal Josip (Tito) Broz had granted the Red Army permission to enter the country and press an offensive against Hungary.

The Moscow broadcast gave no indication that the Russians already were operating on Yugoslav soil. The German high command, however, said Soviet forces had crossed the Danube River just west of the Iron Gate at the Romanian frontier town of Orsova.

The Russians said the Red army's use of Yugoslav territory would be temporary and that Tito would retain civil administration in the region of operations.

Marshal Tito reported some time ago that his Partisans had made contact with the Russians.

Marshal Josip (Tito) Broz, leader of the Yugoslav Partisan forces, reported some time ago that his men had made contact with the Russians.

Marshal Tito's broadcast communique said today that the Partisans had reached the bank of the strategic Drava River, which forms the boundary between Hungary and Yugoslavia.

The broadcast communique said these units were "developing a successful offensive" in northern Yugoslavia across possible escape lines of German forces trapped in the Balkans.

The Partisans, driving up through Slavonia, captured Slatina, eight miles from the Hungarian border, and enveloped two other towns.

The communique said they had also cut the main railways leading south from Belgrade. In Eastern Serbia Tito's forces stormed Kuceva, 12 miles from the Romanian border and the Danube, where the communique said, they made contact with the Soviet Army.

The communique said Partisans had captured the Adriatic islands of Solta and Drvenik "thus completing the liberation of all central Dalmatian islands." It reported Partisan artillery was shelling the Dalmatian coast "from the territory of the liberated islands."

Greek Guerrilla Forces Place Themselves Under Allies.

ROME, Sept. 28 (AP).—Greek Guerrilla forces have placed themselves under the jurisdiction of the Allied command and steps have been outlined for co-ordinated offensive measures to bring about the "speediest possible liberation of Greece."

Allied headquarters announced this today, adding that Lt. Gen. R. McK. Scobie of the British army has been named commander of all Allied operations in Greece.

Gen. Napoleon Zervas and Gen. Sarafis, commanding two Guerrilla armies, conferred recently in Italy with Allied military commanders and officials of the Greek government-in-exile. The announcement said they "declared their full acceptance" of proposals to bring the guerrillas under Allied command.

The Allied command remained silent on progress of the invasion of Albania and the islands off the Dalmatian coast, announced yesterday.

Chinchillas Burn; Loss $128,000

U. S. TO BEAR BRUNT OF WAR AGAINST JAPAN, BARD SAYS

'Haven't Yet Reached Big Land Masses Where Issue Will Be Decided'—Urges Workers to Stick to Jobs.

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 28 (AP).—American armed forces "will have to bear the brunt of the fighting" against Japan, with "the toughest phase" yet to come, Ralph A. Bard, Navy Under Secretary, said today.

"When the Germans capitulate," he asserted, "many of the Allied armies will demobilize, including our own to some extent. China has fought valiantly but she is bleeding fast and she will not be able to help us much. Many of our planes and pilots will be surplus as there are not enough bases in the Pacific to handle them.

"The war against Japan is primarily a naval war and the toughest phase in this war is yet to come, and our own armed forces will have to bear the brunt of the fighting."

In an address prepared for the convention of the CIO Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America, Bard asserted:

"It is imperative that at this time we call upon all workers, regardless of peace talk and developments in Europe to stick on their jobs—back up the Navy—and prepare to pour out to the Japs everything they have coming to them. . . .

"The hard fact is that in spite of all our advances in the Pacific we have not yet reached the large land masses where the final issue will be decided."

War on Japan to Be Pushed Even If European Fighting Lags.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP).—Military authorities here anticipate that the war against Japan can be pressed along on schedule even if the European war should be prolonged into the winter as front line reports say is now a possibility.

With no large land forces yet involved in the Pacific, it was explained, a continuation of the Nazi resistance for several months more would not seriously affect the time table of operations which in the present stage are primarily naval.

Large amounts of shipping would be freed by defeat of Germany, and would be helpful in the Pacific, but shipping is not now a serious bottleneck there.

In a report based on military plans and other data, the Office of War Information cautioned yesterday that surrender of Japan should not be expected for at least 18 months to two years after defeat of Germany.

As for the possibility that the Allies face a winter campaign in Europe, one military man said the public had taken too optimistic a view of events in Europe heretofore but that there was no reason now to grow overly pessimistic.

It has been recognized from the outset, he said, that Germany's Siegfried line defenses would be hard to crack, and he added that the situation since the swift drive through France had developed pretty much as had been expected.

About a month of good fighting weather remains before the onset of winter and the present lull undoubtedly reflects preparations preliminary to an attempt for a decisive offensive, it was pointed out. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's customary policy has been to develop as much pressure as possible, testing out enemy weak points, before undertaking an all-out drive.

RUSSIANS NOT EXPECTING EARLY VICTORY; PEOPLE URGED TO GREATER EFFORT

MOSCOW, Sept. 28 (AP).

WHILE not forecasting how long the war in Europe will last, the Soviet Union appeared today to be taking the view that a long, hard road still lies ahead.

A responsible quarter in Moscow said this viewpoint developed because the Russians knew Germany and the German army better than some others. One meets with no predictions here that the war will be over before the first of the year.

The Kremlin has said nothing that would indicate Stalin believed the war was about to end. All official announcements have urged the people on to a greater effort.

GERMAN DEMOLITIONS SLOW PURSUIT BY FINNISH TROOPS

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 28 (AP).—Finnish troops crossed the River Iijoki today in the direction of Olhava, 35 miles north of their Oulu base, in pursuit of the fleeing Germans, a Helsinki communique announced today.

The communique also reported an advance against the Germans in Lapland.

The announcement emphasized that the Finnish drive had been slowed by German destruction of bridges and the mining of roads. The retreating Germans also are leaving a trail of burned villages behind them.

YANKS RECAPTURE HEIGHTS LOST TO GERMANS IN ITALY

Important Town on Bologna Highway Also Taken—British Extend Rubicon Bridgehead.

ROME, Sept. 28 (AP).—American troops of the Fifth Army have captured Castel del Rio, about 15 miles below Imola, an important town on the Rimini-Bologna highway, Allied headquarters announced today. Capture of Imola would imperil German forces in the Adriatic area.

Regaining heights lost in a fierce Nazi counterattack two days ago, the Americans also seized Mount Carnevale, southeast of Castel de Rio.

The Yanks had been driven from hard-won positions on the western spur of Mount La Fine by a German counterattack Monday night, in which Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring used elements of three or more divisions, supported by a powerful artillery barrage.

British and Dominion troops in the Adriatic sector enlarged their bridgehead over the Rubicon to a two-mile depth over a 10-mile front and closed in on the town of Savignano.

Canadian troops of the Eighth Army captured Bellaria, a small seaside town eight miles beyond Rimini. Bellaria was found to be in possession of Italian patriot forces.

Other Fifth Army troops in the central sector occupied Castiglione dei Peipoli and Bruscoli, five miles due east. Both are approximately 29 miles below Bologna, with Castiglione on a main highway leading directly to the big Italian city.

Advancing northwest from Sant' Arcangelo, British troops moved to within 1000 yards of Savignano, which the Nazis were defending strongly. The British also drove within a mile of Mount Albano, on the crest of a ridge running north to Savignano.

Fifth Army troops on the west coast sector captured Querceta, six miles below the important town of Messa, and Vallecchia, east of Querceta, despite stubborn resistance.

UP Head Cut in Jeep Accident.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP).—Hugh Baillie, president of the United Press, escaped serious injury last night when a jeep in which he was riding in the front-line area of Germany skidded, the United Press said today. Baillie suffered lacerations of the neck.

STEEL FIRMS ASK TO SHELVE WAGE ISSUE TILL PEACE

Tell WLB Increase Would Cause Upswing in All Industry and Imperil Reconversion Jobs.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP).—The steel industry, opposing union demands for a 17-cent hourly pay increase, contended today it was defending the administration's wage stabilization policy by opposing a breach in the Little Steel formula, and asked that the issue be sidetracked until after the war.

John A. Stephens, vice-chairman of the United States Steel Corporation and chairman of the Steel Case Research Committee, suggested before the War Labor Board's steel wage hearing that "when industry gets over the hump of reconversion," the steel workers may resort to normal collective bargaining to achieve such changes in wages and working conditions as may be conceded "without hazard to the national welfare."

Stephens contended that an increase in steel pay would lead to a general wage upswing in all industry, endangering the ability of private enterprise to keep up full employment during the reconversion period.

He took to task the leadership of the CIO United Steel Workers of America, seeking the increase, for what he termed "the organized drumming into the consciousness of these workers that profiteering managements and inconsiderate government agencies have unreasonably opposed wage increases."

This practice, Stephens said, would undermine confidence essential to "either a healthy war or peacetime economy."

He contended that weekly earnings of steel workers had risen over twice as much as the cost of living, and told the board that the companies' opposition to the union demands, which also include a guaranteed annual wage, has "been consistent with government stabilization policy."

Yesterday, Philip Murray, CIO and Steel Workers' president, presented the union's position, based on contentions that living costs have jumped far ahead of authorized wage increases. He urged an annual guaranteed wage for mill hands to match "the security" of the corporations. He said with a sweeping gesture toward steel company lawyers, directors and other officials:

"They are fat and sassy, smug and satisfied. Why? They're getting a guaranteed annual wage for two years after the war. There is no fear of insecurity among them."

Murray referred, he said, to the "carry back" provision of the 1942 tax law which he said would make 28 billion dollars "available to corporations in the event they do not reach a certain level of profits for two years hereafter."

Roosevelt Calls War Labor Group's Standing Committee.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP).—The standing committee of the War Labor Advisory Committee has been summoned to the White House for a conference tomorrow, Daniel J. Tobin, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, said today.

The committee is composed of representatives of the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations, including their respective presidents, William Green and Philip Murray.

Tobin said he did not know the purpose of the conference or whether revision of the Little Steel formula would be discussed.

TASS GIVES PLAN FOR OCCUPATION OF BEATEN GERMANY

document on the procedure of the occupation of Germany. Tass said, "according to the draft of occupation elaborated by the European Advisory Committee, Germany shall be divided into three zones of occupation. The eastern part of Germany, including also East Prussia, shall constitute the zone of occupation by the Soviet armed forces."

The agency said "Berlin, although it falls into the zone of occupation of the Soviet armed forces in conformity with the agreement reached, shall also be divided into three zones and occupied by the troops of the three powers. The rest of Germany shall be divided in two—northwestern and southwestern—zones, one of which shall be occupied by the British and the other by the American troops."

(4) That the three Allies' commanders in chief will form an Allied Control Council exercising supreme power in Germany.

Tass said it had been suggested that an inter-allied commandant's office of Berlin be created since the capital, will be jointly occupied.

"Incidentally, rumors are afloat," Tass said, that within the United States State Department and the British Foreign Office "there are both ardent advocates and equally resolute opponents" of the projects. It added, "it might also be asserted" that the commission had not yet adopted decisions concerning Austria.

The British Socialist magazine Tribune asserted that the Quebec conference had decided on reducing Germany to the size of the British home islands by territorial adjustments. Germany's industries would be dismantled and the country turned over to smallhold farming, the magazine said. Sharply criticising the purported decision, the editors of the magazine declared it was "the answer to all Dr. Goebbels' prayers, the most ignorant and dangerous peace plan ever devised by democratic statesmen."

St. Louisan's 'Pin-Up' on Bomber 'Forces Down' Curious British Pilot

After Landing at Base for Closer Look at Cpl. Brinkman's Art, Flyer Climbs Back in Spitfire, Goes On.

A St. Louis artist, Cpl. Philip S. Brinkman, has won popularity at a Liberator bomber station in England by painting "pin-up girls" on the bombers of his squadron, an Army dispatch reported today. Examples of his work are to be found on nearly every bomber in his squadron.

As an instance of the interest taken in his work, the crew of one Liberator tell the story of how their plane "forced down" a Royal Air Force Spitfire fighter as they were returning from a bombing mission over Europe. The Liberator pilot noticed the Spitfire had joined the bomber formation and was moving closer and closer to his left wingtip. The Spitfire pilot peered intensely at the bomber's nose.

When the Liberator reached home base and started down to land, the Spitfire peeled off and followed it down. When the Liberator rolled to a stop, the Spitfire taxied up to the plane. Then the pilot jumped out, walked over to the side of the Liberator, and stared at the pin-up girl painted on the nose for several minutes. His artistic curiosity satisfied, the R. A. F. pilot climbed into his plane and took off for his home base.

Cpl. Brinkman's pin-up girls are unusual in that he has incorporated in each a sign of the Zodiac. The only Zodiac sign he has not used is that of Taurus, the Bull. He darkly hints that he is saving this one for the portrayal of an unidentified first sergeant.

But, Cpl. Brinkman admits, his friendly critics often fail to detect the Zodiac idea until the third or fourth examination of his handiwork. He thinks perhaps the pin-up girls steal the thunder from the Zodiac. His interpretation of Aries, the Ram, depicts a dream girl daintily shearing a ram, using the wool to knit additions to her somewhat inadequate garment. This is not strictly "Zodiac," but the airmen like it.

Cpl. Brinkman also paints serious works of art in oils and water colors, which has critics say are "darned good because he paints things just like they are." During his training in Tucson, Ariz., he worked seven months on a mural portraying the history of flight. He recently completed a mural for the noncommissioned officers' club of his squadron.

He attended St. Louis University and Washington University, and studied art at the American Academy at Chicago and the Grand Central Academy in New York. Before entering the Army in June, 1942, he was a layout artist with advertising agencies here and in Chicago and New York. His aunt, Mrs. Katherine Brinkman, lives at 8525 Colonial Park, Clayton.

MOVE TO END SPLIT IN CABINET LIKELY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP).—President Roosevelt is expected to call his cabinet committee on German peace policy together soon in what apparently will be an effort to compose the split developed over Treasury Secretary Morgenthau's plan for destroying Germany as an industrial nation.

Informed official quarters said the meeting probably will be the committee's final session. Roosevelt is reported to have decided against the Morgenthau plan, which was its chief problem. The split over the Morgenthau proposals also is understood to have etched such basic differences of opinion between Secretaries Hull and Stimson and Morgenthau that the group's effectiveness has been impaired.

Hull was asked at his press conference today about the expected meeting and replied only that he had no plans for such a session at the moment. However, it would be called not by Hull, who normally serves as chairman, but in this instance by the President himself.

Asked whether any progress had been made toward reconciling the divided factions in the committee, Hull remarked that he had nothing new on the subject.

The President, it is said may issue a specific policy order clarifying the line American planning should take on German peace policy, or he may pigeonhole the Morgenthau plan, saying nothing about it formally.

FUNERAL FOR WILLIAM GREEN

Funeral services for William Green, 3651 Bellerive boulevard, a general contractor in South St. Louis for more than 40 years, will be at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Ziegenhein undertaking establishment, 7027 Gravois avenue.

Mr. Green, 72 years old, died yesterday of pneumonia at Alexian Brothers' Hospital. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Annie Lucae Green, and two sons, Walter of Huron, S. D., and Paul, 3647A Dover place, who was associated with him in business at 3131 South Broadway.

NEIGHBORS JOURNEY 75 MILES TO GIVE BLOOD FOR WOMAN

Waggoner (Ill.) Townsfolk Say 'as Many as Necessary' Will Come to City.

From the little rural community of Waggoner, Ill., 75 miles north of St. Louis, has come a steady stream of men and women to give their blood to aid a neighbor, Mrs. Henry Wayne Waggoner, gravely ill at Barnes Hospital.

More than 12 townsfolk, sharing their automobiles, have visited the hospital during the last five weeks to volunteer their blood which may be needed to strengthen Mrs. Waggoner, who recently underwent an abdominal operation, to prepare for another operation.

They brought word from neighbors in the town of 300 that "as many as are necessary" are prepared to contribute to a blood bank for their ill friend, mother of four grown children. Mrs. Waggoner's husband, a farmer, is a grandson of one of the founders of the community.

HILLMAN TERMS REPUBLICAN FIGHT ON PAC CLASS WAR

Old Guard 'Fears Us Because We Represent the People,' He Tells Electrical Union.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP).—Sidney Hillman, chairman of the CIO Political Action Committee, said today that "the war being waged against the PAC is not so much a political war as a class war."

"That is where the Republican leaders, under the influence of the reactionary Old Guard, are making their big mistake," Hillman declared in a prepared address before a convention of the CIO United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America.

"There is no room for class war in America," he said. "Our country is so rich that there is enough for all if we learn to use its great resources. The American people know this. They are not interested in a campaign which seeks to divide us one from the other."

The "Bolshevik Bogey."

Charging that Republican presidential nominee Thomas E. Dewey had distorted President Roosevelt's words in regard to preparing the nation for war by not quoting him in full and that Republicans had resorted to the "Bolshevik bogey," Hillman continued:

"The truth is that the reactionary leadership is badly frightened.

"It concentrates its fire upon the Political Action Committee because it knows that our organization is a strong liberal influence in both of the major political parties. It fears us because we represent the people—because it dreads the day when the American ideal of a government 'of the people, by the people and for the people' will be fully realized.

"The reactionary leadership is fighting a crusade, not against Communism, but against labor, against liberalism, against the common man."

Hillman said the PAC opponents attempted to create confusion and distrust in the Nazi manner through carefully planned discrepancies and contradictions in their arguments.

$371,086 Spent by PAC.

Hillman asserted that PAC's total expenditures from the time it was organized in July, 1943, to Aug. 15, 1944, were $371,086.56, of which more than three-fourths was for salaries, travel, rent, equipment and publicity, with $67,320.48 contributed in primary campaigns and state elections.

Declaring the PAC hoped to raise $1,500,000, he said:

"To keep these figures in perspective, one should bear in mind that in 1940 the Republican party spent some 16 million dollars in the national election and that five families—the duPonts, the Pews, the Rockefellers, the Queeneys and the Sloans—contributed $432,680. In that same year the Democratic party spent six million dollars."

YOUTH FORCES WAY IN HOUSE, ATTACKS GIRL MINDING BABY

A 15-year-old girl living in South St. Louis was criminally assaulted last night by a youth who forced the kitchen window of a house on Thirty-Ninth street, in which she was minding a baby, her parents reported to police early today.

She was asleep in a bedroom, and was awakened shortly before midnight by the youth, who placed his hand over her mouth and threatened to kill her. After assaulting her he fled out the rear door she said. When the family for whom she was working returned a short time later they took her to a physician and notified her parents.

Dies of Poison

MRS. JACK R. SNOW

FUNERAL TOMORROW FOR POISON VICTIM

Former Louise Rumsey Apparently Took Powder by Mistake for Sedative.

Funeral services for Mrs. Jack R. Snow, the former Miss Louise Rumsey of St. Louis, who died Sunday at Riverside, Cal., of effects of poison apparently taken by mistake, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Wagoner undertaking establishment, 4161 Lindell boulevard. Burial will be in Bellefontaine Cemetery.

Mrs. Snow, who was 37 years old, the wife of a Major stationed at March Field, took a poisonous powder when she went to a medicine cabinet in the night for a sedative without turning on the light. She had been unable to sleep regularly because of pain resulting from a broken bone in her foot, suffered three weeks ago when she turned her ankle on a stone in getting out of her automobile.

Mrs. Snow was the daughter of Col. Horace S. Rumsey, formerly of St. Louis, now of Bradenton, Fla., and Mrs. Louise Garrison Chappell Rumsey of New York City. She left St. Louis shortly after her marriage in 1936. She was the niece of Mrs. Stanley Stoner, Mrs. Robert A. Holland and the late Lewis M. Rumsey Jr.

CHICAGO TO START BUILDING $1,750,000 AIR TERMINAL SOON

CHICAGO, Sept. 28 (AP).—Mayor Edward J. Kelly said yesterday that final plans for financing a $1,750,000 terminal at the Chicago airport had been agreed on by the city and eight major air lines and that construction would begin in the next few months. The new terminal, which will accommodate 120 planes an hour, is necessary "to insure Chicago's position as a hub of world air travel after the war," Kelly said. He said $1,250,000 lent without interest to the city by participating air lines would be used on the terminal building. Another $500,000 to be contributed by the city would be used for runways and accessory improvements.

NEW SHOE STAMP VALID NOV. 1

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP).—Continuing the two-pairs-a-year schedule, the Office of Price Administration announced today that a new shoe ration stamp will be validated Nov. 1.

It will be good indefinitely along with those now in use, airplane stamps 1 and 2 in ration book three. The number of the new stamp will be designated later.

Tablet Unveiled Commemorating St. Louisans Killed in Glider Crash

Jacob Lashly Describes 10 as Casualties of War Whose Death May Have Taught Lesson That Saved Other Lives.

A large public gathering, in City Hall rotunda this afternoon, viewed the unveiling of the marble tablet commemorating Mayor William Dee Becker, President Thomas N. Dysart of the Chamber of Commerce, and the eight other men who died with them in the glider crash at Lambert-St. Louis Field Aug. 1, 1943.

The tablet, the gift of the Chamber of Commerce, was unveiled by two high school girls, and was formally presented to the city by Jacob M. Lashly, for the Chamber, and accepted by Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann.

Lashly, former president of the American Bar Association, spoke of the 10 men as casualties of the war. He told of the circumstances of the airport disaster, and of the possibility that the lesson thus taught as to the building of gliders for Army use may have been the means of increased safety for troops now carried by this means.

Engaged in Demonstration.

"They were engaged in a demonstration flight of a glider plane," Lashly said. "A small piece of hollow metal tube had been bored too deep. It did not stand the strain. On such a slender thread did the lives of these 10 men depend. It gave way, and within a few short seconds the tragic end had come.

"In the resulting investigations some facts were brought to light, some new methods of inspection and techniques of mechanical construction were quickly added to the mounting knowledge of these novel machines of war. We shall never know how many lives were saved through the shock of that accident at Lambert Field. We like to think that not a few of the airborne troops which glided into the greatest invasion of all time within the past few weeks were borne up on this experience, and safely landed behind the enemy lines.

"To those who loved them, it seems a high price to pay for knowledge which might have been gained in other ways. Only an inscrutable God will know whether this is so. They were casualties of the war, as surely as any crew shot down by enemy flak, or any torpedoed ship which has settled beneath the waves."

Mayor Kaufmann, in his reply, expressed the city's thanks to the Chamber of Commerce for the memorial to "men who served our city and our nation, and died in that service."

"Their lives," he said, "are part of our city's contribution to the great war." He declared it to be proper that the names of all 10 men, including two not residents of the St. Louis area, should be held in remembrance together. Of the two, he said, "We have adopted them as our own."

Members of the families of the crash victims were special guests at the ceremony. Flowers were provided by the Parks and Recreation Division. Participants in the ceremony, besides the Mayor and Lashly, were Charles Belknap, president of Monsanto Chemical Co. and the 1943 board chairman of the Chamber of Commerce; the Rev. Dr. J. Francis Sant, president of the Metropolitan Church Federation, who gave the invocation; Patsy Jones of Blewett High School and Rosemary Schmuck of Rosati-Kain High School, who did the unveiling.

Inscription Is Given.

The inscription is: "This Tablet Is Erected by the People of St. Louis in Memory of the Distinguished Citizens of Greater St. Louis Who Perished in the Glider Crash at Lambert Field Aug. 1, 1943.

82.6 Pct. of Listeners Heard President's Talk—56.3 Pct. Is Record for Governor.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP).—The Democratic National Committee said today that a survey made by C. E. Hooper, Inc., radio research organization, showed President Roosevelt "is still the top radio speaker."

The committee statement said that President Roosevelt won "an overwhelming decision over the Republican contender, Thomas E. Dewey, on rating, audience appeal and holding listeners, according to eastern and midwest figures" obtained by the research group.

"Roosevelt's Saturday speech rated 35.2 pct. compared to Dewey's maximum rating of 25.3 pct." the statement said. "Roosevelt attracted 82.6 pct. of the listeners in his one talk while the best Dewey has been able to do in any talk is 56.3 pct.

"While Roosevelt gained listeners as he proceeded, Dewey generally lost listeners as his talks progressed. Sharpest drop in Dewey's listeners was noted Monday night when he delivered his so-called reply to the President's Saturday speech."

1013 AIRMEN, EX-PRISONERS OF ROMANIANS, REACH U. S.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP).—The War Department announced last night that 1013 United States Army Air Forces officers and enlisted men who until recently were war prisoners of the Romanian Government had arrived by ship at New York City and were being sent home for 30-day furloughs.

They were met at sea off New York by a harbor boat and their mail was delivered—the first mail which many of them had received in more than a year. Wounded men from Romania have been arriving by air and by boat for several weeks and have been sent to the Halloran General Hospital in New York.

TRAINING SCHOOL BARN SET AFIRE BY INMATE

Feeble-Minded Youth Causes $7200 Blaze—Five Persons in Shed Escape.

Fire destroyed a cattle shed and hay loft at the St. Louis Training School for the feeble-minded at Bellefontaine road and Hall avenue today, causing damage estimated at $7200. The fire was started by an inmate, who told officials he ignited some hay in the loft of the building.

Three alarms were sounded for the blaze, which started shortly before 10 a. m. Two inmates and three employes in the shed escaped without injury and 14 cows were driven from the shed. Fifteen pieces of fire apparatus from St. Louis fire engine houses were sent to the scene.

Dr. Arthur A. Hines, superintendent of the institution which cares for approximately 450 mentally deficient youths, said James Tate, 21 years old, an inmate, admitted starting the fire, first at one end of the hay loft and then at the other. When Tate saw what he had done, Dr. Hines reported, he attempted to extinguish the flames, but succeeded only in putting the fire out in one side of the loft. Tate, who was sent to Malcolm Bliss Psycopathic Hospital for observation, would not say where he got the matches.

The cattle shed and hay loft, 130 feet long and 36 feet wide, was built in 1940 by the Works Progress Administration and was valued at $8000 by the city. The lower half was of brick and the upper half was of frame construction.

Before firemen arrived, some of the 100 employes were called to operate emergency fire equipment. They prevented flames from spreading to three near-by cattle barns.

UNABLE TO FIX THE CAUSE OF AIMEE M'PHERSON DEATH

OAKLAND, Cal., Sept. 28 (AP).—Three autopsy surgeons, after a prolonged examination, said today they were unable to determine the cause of death of the Evangelist, Aimee Semple McPherson, and an inquest was ordered.

The State Board of Pharmacy demanded the right to analyze and check on the source of a bottle of sleeping tablets found at the bedside of Mrs. McPherson, who died yesterday in her hotel room here. The autopsy was performed by Dr. E. M. Lundegaard, chief autophy surgeon for Alameda County; Dr. Mary Ruth Oldt, pathologist, and Dr. Egon Fritz Schmerl.

At Los Angeles, friends expressed concern over the condition of Mrs. Minnie (Ma) Kennedy, 74-year-old mother of Mrs. McPherson. Mrs. Kennedy collapsed in her Redondo Beach home after learning of her daughter's death. Miss Helen Monroe, a companion, said Mrs. Kennedy's heart was causing concern.

Lt. H. A. Zunieta Shot Down Two Japanese Planes—Other Awards.

Second Lt. Nick A. Zuniga, 22 years old, fighter-pilot stationed in the Southwest Pacific, has been decorated with the Silver Star for gallantry in action. While escorting medium bombers on a mission against the enemy, his fighter group was attacked by Zeros. Lt. Zuniga and his flight leader fired at the leading enemy plane, which exploded in mid-air, its fuselage cutting five feet off the wing of Lt. Zuniga's plane. His P-40 fighter went into a spin, the citation continued, but he regained control and, sighting a Zero beneath him, continued his dive, opened fire and destroyed the enemy plane. Lt. Zuniga, who also holds the Air Medal, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Zuniga, 811 Penrose street.

Pfc. Donald P. Hargate, 19, member of a medical detachment with an infantry division in the Southwest Pacific, has received the Bronze Star Medal for "heroic achievement during operations against the enemy" last June, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Walden Hargate, 7345 LaVeta avenue, Richmond Heights, have learned.

Master Sgt. Charles R. Brandt, 26, attached to an aviation engineer unit in the Southwest Pacific, has received the Bronze Star Medal for "meritorious performance beyond the line of duty," his wife, Mrs. Ida Mae Brandt, 3022 Big Bend road, Maplewood, has been informed. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Brandt, 200 Lithia street, Rock Hill Village.

Staff Sgt. Lambert Roedersheimer, 23, waist gunner on a Flying Fortres based in England, has received the Distinguished Flying Cross. His wife, Mrs. Rosemary Roedersheimer, lives at 4522 Adelaide avenue. He is the son of Mrs. Katherine Roedersheimer, 2829 Iowa avenue, Granite City.

Capt. Robert A. Edmonson, 25, pilot of a Liberator bomber based in England until the completion of 31 combat missions last month, has received the Distinguished Flying Cross in addition to the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf clusters, and has been promoted to his present rank. Capt. Edmonson has been transferred to a P-51 Mustang fighter squadron, he has informed his mother, Mrs. Marie Edmonson, 5011 Sutherland avenue.

Lt. Joseph W. Norris, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Norris, 3215 Halliday avenue, has received the Distinguished Flying Cross. Lt. Norris, who is pilot of a Liberator bomber based in England, has completed 32 combat missions and also holds the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters.

ARMY INSIGNIA FOR POLICE

Officers of the East St. Louis Police Department above the rank of sergeant will wear Army type insignia as in the St. Louis Police Department, Acting Chief of Police Henry C. Bishop announced yesterday.

The newly created ranks of Captain and Inspector will be distinguished, respectively, by a Major's oak leaf and by a Captain's double bars. The Chief's insigne will be a Colonel's eagle, and the five bars of that rank.

CONSTABLE SUED, REFUSES TO EVICT FAMILY OF SEVEN

Says He's Trying to Find Home for Them—Mother of Five Appealed to Mayor.

Faced with a suit to compel eviction of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Svoboda and their five children from 2822 South Eighteenth street, Constable Herman Krah, of the First District, told a Post-Dispatch reporter today, "I'm not going to evict them—I'm a father."

Suit for a writ of mandamus was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Leo J. Kiemel, 2817 South Eighteenth street, owners of the property, to compel Constable Krah to execute an eviction order a few hours after Mrs. Svoboda, a defense worker whose husband is partially disabled, appealed to Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann for aid in finding a home. The Kiemels' bought the cottage rented by the Svobodas' last December and want to move there.

"For several days now I have driven all over town trying to find a place for the Svoboda family," Krah said, "but I haven't even been able to get a landlord to rent a store room to them once they found out about the children. I don't see why the Kiemels', who haven't any children, want to move, anyway.

"One thing sure—I'm not going to evict that family unless I'm absolutely compelled to."

ONE-HOUSE MOVE MAY DELAY END OF CONVENTION

If Unicameral Wins in November, Part of Document Would Be in Conflict With It.

By CURTIS A. BETTS
State Political Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 28.—The submission of a proposal for a unicameral legislature in Missouri at the November election under the initiative has created a muddled condition which may prevent a final adjournment of the Constitutional Convention until November or December.

The proposed new constitution contains a provision for the retention of the old bicameral legislative system, but the constitution will not be submitted to the voters until early next spring. In the meantime the unicameral provision will be voted on.

Legal Questions Arise.

In an effort to meet the possible contingency of the adoption of the unicameral, the Schedule Committee of the convention inserted a section in the schedule under which the unicameral system would prevail over the bicameral in case both the unicameral provision and the new constitution should be adopted.

Legal questions as to the validity of such a section arose and in addition a number of delegates objected to its inclusion on other grounds. After extended debate today, the section was stricken.

Under the present situation if the unicameral should be adopted in November the voters would again have the subject presented to them next February or March in the proposed whole new constitution. If it should be adopted the action on the unicameral would be set aside and the bicameral would be in effect.

After the adoption of the motion to strike out the section from the schedule, delegates began consideration of a suggestion that the convention recess until after the November election without pay, and then decide what to do in the light of the result of the election on the subject.

The proposed constitution was approved as a document which would result in extensive improvement of government in Missouri in brief talks before the convention yesterday by two of the leading students of government in the state.

Dr. Isidor Loeb, dean emeritus of the School of Business and Public Administration of Washington University, and former Gov. Henry S. Caulfield, each of whom had an active part in the campaign leading to the calling of the convention, spoke.

Dean Loeb told the delegates that they had done a "splendid job," one which he said was much better than he expected when their deliberations started.

Caulfield, describing the convention as one of the "greatest gatherings in Missouri history," said the constitution represented the studied thought of delegates who had worked long in its preparation.

"It might contain some things it does not contain," he said, "and it does contain some things not desired by some people, but it comes from the representatives of the people. It can be taken as truly representing the wishes of the people."

Both Confident of Passage.

Both speakers expressed the opinion that the constitution would meet the approval of the voters and that it would be adopted at the special election to be called.

Dean Loeb started the statewide movement for holding a convention more than two years ago, and as a result of his efforts a committee, headed by former State Senator Allen McReynolds of Carthage, later elected a delegate, was formed to promote the campaign preceding the election at which the question of whether a convention would be called was submitted to a vote. Loeb, because of the extended study he had given the principles of government, was invited to appear before committees of the convention early in the session to present his views, many of which were incorporated in the document as completed.

Caulfield was the author of an exhaustive article published in the Post-Dispatch, dealing principally with the executive branch of the government, and based on his experience as Governor.

There were indications that 10 of the 82 delegates may refuse to sign the proposed Constitution, that number by their votes yesterday having shown their disapproval. They represented all that were left of some 25 obstructionist delegates, who have opposed all of the progressive provisions proposed. Two of them, Delegates Frank W. Williams of Springfield and O. C. Tee of Hamilton, announced on the floor of the convention that it was their intention to oppose the document's approval by the voters.

The other eight were Clyde C. Cope of St. Louis County, Leo T. Daniels of Ellington, C. S. Duncan of New Franklin, Richard J. Fitzgibbon of St. Louis, George F. Heege of St. Louis County, Earl E. Fogle of Lancaster, William O. Hanks of Joplin and H. Greene Simpson of Kirkville.

The vote was on a motion to approve a resolution providing for the appointment of an Executive Committee and several other committees to conduct the campaign of information which will be conducted in advance of the election. The vote for adoption of the resolution was 64 to 10, eight delegates being absent.

War in Europe May Go Into 1945, Churchill Says

D-day he reported that 250,000 men had been landed in the first 24 hours of the invasion.

That the British fleet had been offered for the war against Japan and the offer "cordially accepted"—with much of Britain's naval strength already gathered in the Indian Ocean. He said that Britain planned eventually to have a Far East fleet "capable in itself of fighting a general action with the Japanese Navy."

Foe's Losses Put at Million.

Churchill said the Allied invasion of Europe had cost Germany nearly one million men killed, wounded and captured and said "there may well be 200,000 of them in coastal fortresses of Holland whose destruction or capture may now be deemed highly probable."

On the subject of the duration of the war, Churchill said just before he interrupted his speech for luncheon:

"There is also the possibility that after the organized resistance of the German state and army is completely broken fierce warfare may be maintained in the forests and mountains of Germany by numbers of desperate men conscious of their own guilt and impending doom.

"We don't consider that the declared date of the ending of the war against Germany must necessarily be postponed until the last desperado has been tracked down in his lair."

Churchill opened his report by remarking on the change in the war picture during the period Parliament was in recess.

"What a transformation meets our eyes," he said. "Not only Paris but practically the whole of France has been liberated, as if by enchantment. Belgium has been rescued. Part of Holland is already free. The foul enemy who for four years inflicted his cruelties and oppression upon those countries has fled."

Churchill praised the American advances in Europe as a "model of the military art" and an example of "the propriety of running risks." British advances likewise, he said, have not been surpassed anywhere.

Campaign in Far East.

Turning to the Far East, he declared the 10 Japanese divisions which were sent against India had been repulsed and largely shattered. In the campaign directed by Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, described as the largest and most important ground fighting so far against Japan, between 50,000 and 60,000 of the enemy have been killed, he said.

"I can assure the House," he asserted, "that the war against the Japanese and other diseases of the jungle will be pressed forward with the most urgency."

Nevertheless, he added, a renewal of the Japanese offensive can be expected as soon as the monsoon is over.

Decisions at Quebec.

Churchill reported that "complete agreement on every point" had been reached at the Quebec conference, adding that he and President Roosevelt had decided there would be no changes in the chiefs of staff charged with conducting the war.

The scale of the British effort against Japan, he said, will be limited only by available shipping which, with the ending of the U-boat war, would be magnificently magnified. He said he believed that the convoy system could be abandoned shortly in waters of the Western Hemisphere.

He said that Birtish warships gathered in the Far East added to those of the United States, "should give us naval command of the most complete and decisive character."

Jibe at Hitler's Escape.

Churchill declared, amid laughter in the House, that Hitler's escape during the reported bomb attempt against him July 20 was a stroke of luck for the Allies.

"It would be most unfortunate," he said, "if the Allies were to be deprived in the closing hours of the struggle of the form of warlike genius by which Corporal Schickelgruber has no nobly contributed to our victory."

The man he described as the "squalid, caucus boss and butcher," has squandered a large army in the Balkans, Churchill said, adding that many of the 27 German divisions now engaged in Italy would never get back across the Alps.

Churchill said a Jewish brigade now being formed would take part in the occupation of Germany. He revealed also that the number of Italians fighting alongside the Allies on the Italian front soon would be more than doubled.

Close Three-Power Alliance.

Resuming promptly after an hour's luncheon recess, Churchill asserted that never before had the alliance of the three great powers against Germany been "more close or more effective."

Both the United States and Russian ambassadors were in the diplomatic gallery which runs along one wall of the high chamber.

"One by one in rapid succession the satellite states have writhed or torn themselves free from Nazi tyranny," Churchill said.

He added that when Hungary was free he expected the Hungarians would turn their weapons against those who had led them "to their present ruin and defeat."

Churchill said some of the worst war criminals were Bulgarians, adding that "they may want to be treated as co-belligerents." So far as Britain is concerned however, he said, they will have to "work their passage" for a long time and in no uncertain fashion.

Polish-Russian Dispute.

He praised Poland, but said there would have to be territorial changes in the Polish frontier and that "Russia has a right to our support in this matter." He added that he had "full hopes that the Polish premier and his colleagues would shortly resume conversations in Moscow." He said he believed "a good arrangement will be achieved."

"I have every hope that wise and harmonious settlements will be made in confidence and amity between the great powers," he asserted.

"I cannot conceive that it is not possible to make a good solution whereby Russia gets the security she is entitled to have—which I am resolved we shall do our utmost to secure for her—on her west front and at the same time the Polish nation has restored to them the national sovereignty and independence for which, across centuries of oppression and struggle, they have never ceased to strive."

Hope for a Strong France.

He declared also that he had every hope for the early achievement of "a strong, independent and friendly France."

After calling for a new Big Three conference at which Stalin would be present, Churchill said great decisions could not be taken 'without far closer and more searching discussions than can be held amid the clash of arms."

"This is not the time for taking hard and fast momentous decisions on incomplete data at a breakneck speed,' he asserted.

Churchill ended his speech at 2:45 p. m., after speaking for about one hour and forty-five minutes.

Queried on Morgenthau Plan.

Just before the start of his report Churchill left unanswered a query from a Laborite, Richard Stokes, as to whether United States Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau's proposal for de-industrializing Germany had been discussed at Quebec, whether it had the approval of the British Government, and why Secretary of State Hull and Secretary of War Stimson "did not take part in the discussions."

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden rose in the Prime Minister's place and replied that it would be inadvisable to discuss peace terms "in a piecemeal fashion on questions prompted by rumor and hearsay."

Stokes persisted, asking whether it would be "totally inaccurate" to say the subject had been discussed at Quebec, but Eden replied, "I am afraid he won't draw me onto that ground."

Passenger Tire Quota 1,600,000.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP).—A total of 1,600,000 passenger tires has been made available for rationing in October by the Office of Price Administration. This is the same number provided this month. The quota of heavy truck and bus tires is up 3000 to a total of 105,000, while 280,000 lighter tires for these vehicles have been allocated. The latter quota is the same as in September.

Christmas Packages Accumulate in Rail Yards at Embarkation Point.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP).—Fifty-eight freight cars loaded with Christmas packages for fighting men in Europe have accumulated at Long Island City for lack of labor to clear the shipments through the Army embarkation post office, the War Manpower Commission announced yesterday.

With at least 30 carloads reported en route, the Commission appealed for 3000 workers to help break the bottleneck.

"Unless New Yorkers from 16 to 60 volunteer at once, the packages will not be delivered overseas on time," a WMC spokesman said.

Yanks Hunted Snipers for 3 Days, Says E.St.Louisan Injured at Anzio

Pvt. Tucker, Whose Foot Was Later Amputated, Describes Experiences After His Return to U. S. on Gripsholm.

By ALVIN H. GOLDSTEIN
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Pvt. Louis O. Tucker of 544 North Twenth-third street, East St. Louis, one of the Rangers who made the celebrated stand on the Anzio beachhead but who fell in the hands of the enemy after suffering a wound that later caused amputation of his right foot, today recounted some of the events that led to his capture and imprisonment in a German prison camp. Pvt. Tucker, nephew of Detective J. H. Behner of the East St. Louis police force, was one of 218 veterans who were returned to the United States Tuesday on the exchange liner Gripsholm.

Tucker

Pvt. Tucker, now at Halloran General Hospital on Staten Island, N. Y., pending transfer to a hospital nearer his home, reluctantly described his experiences in battle as a member of one of three battalions which were nearly wiped out in an effort to establish a spearhead in the German lines. He had joined the infantry in April 1943, transferred to the Rangers, received extensive training at Camp Croft, S. C., then more training in Africa and saw some relatively mild action at Venefro, Italy, near Naples.

This proved to be only a rehearsal for the big show. When the strategy of warfare called for the landing at Anzio, Tucker and his fellow Rangers went ashore with the first wave.

"Jerries Had Everything."

"It was pretty warm," Tucker said. "The Jerries had everything there when we hit the beach and they threw everything they had at us. There were a lot of us who didn't make it. When we came in all we could see was a town ahead of us—a very pretty town, or it was until the Navy shelled it.

"The Germans seemed determined not to let us get ashore, but when we did and hit the village there was still a lot of house-to-house fighting. I'd say that three days after we landed we were still digging out snipers. These snipers weren't like regular soldiers. It seemed like they had gone out of their heads and stayed behind, knowing they were going to die.

"We'd flank a building where they were hiding, then go in after them. Most of our men carried tommy guns, but there were some BARs (Browning automatic rifle), grenades, or you could use a bayonet or whatever you wanted when you found them.

"After cleaning out the village, we went on to establish this spearhead. The First, Third and Fourth Battalions went out. Jerry really was throwing it at us—I've seen 20-millimeter shells thrown level on personnel. We hit a panzer outfit and we were surrounded. There wasn't a chance of getting out of there. I went down, my leg was waving all over the place, my shoulder was broken, and I couldn't move to help myself except to drink water and take sulfa tablets.

Two With Him Killed.

"There were to men with me when I was hit. They were killed. I was alone. I was lying on a roadway, pretty weak by this time, figuring I might get back some strength and hide, because I didn't know how badly I was hit. Three Jerries came by on a truck, driving so close they almost ran over me, but stopped, picked me up on a blanket and drove me to a first-aid station. I knew it was all over for the duration, one way or the other."

Pvt. Tucker, after a long and painful ride across fields, finally was deposited at a German first-aid station. He was examined by two surgeons, one a woman. He was informed that his foot was gangrenous and would have to be removed above the ankle. He received an anesthetic, and when he awoke he was in a Rome hospital, where he was given postoperative treatment. Later he was removed to an Austrian prison camp, undergoing the usual monotonous routine. He remained until exchange of prisoners unfit for further military service had been arranged.

Red Cross Packages Helped.

He joined with other exchanged prisoners in expressing gratitude for Red Cross packages, without which survival would have been difficult. When he was weighed on arrival at his prison camp he tipped the scale at less than 100 pounds, but before he left had nearly regained his normal weight of 165 pounds. The diet supplied by the Nazis consisted principally of cabbage, sauerkraut, something they called rye bread and potatoes, frequently in such bad condition they were unedible.

He and others also were enthusiastic over the reception received on arrival in Sweden, where they were taken aboard the Gripsholm. They were met with bands and wildly cheering crowds, he said. All the men received presents of razor blades, soap and foods as formal offerings, and the Swedes took the men out individually as often as possible to stand treat for rounds of beer.

St. Louisan, Injured in Leap Over Nazi Territory, Back in U. S.

Technical Sgt. Otto H. Pfannebecker, 29 years old, also arrived on the Gripsholm and is at Halloran General Hospital. He suffered a dislocated hip and fractured left leg when he was forced to parachute over German territory from a Flying Fortress on which he was a radio operator.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Pfannebecker, 4517 North Second street, and in two telephone calls to his family has said he expects to remain in the hospital there for at least five days.

Sgt. Pfannebecker was reported missing in action on July 24, 1943, after participating in a raid on a Nazi submarine base a Trondheim, Norway, an 1800-mile flight for his English-based bomber. After being injured in landing in German territory, he was treated in a German hospital.

16 NAMED TO PASS ON BOND ISSUE SPENDING

Nonpartisan Citizens' Committee Announced for Postwar Program.

Expenditures under the city's $43,527,000 bond issue voted Aug. 1 for postwar improvements will be passed on by a citizens' committee of 16 members, whose formation was announced today by Walter W. Head, chairman of the larger Citizens' Committee for Postwar Improvements and Employment.

Head, in announcing the new committee, which is drawn from the membership of the original committee which sponsored the bond issue, pointed out that the total expenditures for postwar projects to be reviewed by the group would be approximately 64 million dollars.

Appointment of the committee, Head said, "is in conformity with Mayor Kaufmann's announcement that before any expenditure was authorized it would be submitted to and subject to the approval of a committee of citizens equipped to determine the question of need and to pass upon the propriety of each expenditure." Head described the committee as nonpartisan and "unique in the United States."

Formation of the committee, Head added, "shows that a local community may, on its own initiative, plan for the postwar future. The committee includes leaders in the field of both management and labor, and it has been inspiring to observe the happy extent of their cooperation throughout the entire program."

"We are convinced that St. Louis will be ready with plans and money when the war is over, and with thousands of jobs for returning servicemen and production line workers who will have been released from their duties in war industries," he said.

FREE CARE FOR SERVICEMEN'S BABIES FOR YEAR AFTER BIRTH

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP). — The Emergency program for maternity and infant care for servicemen's families was extended today to include health supervision for infants during their first year.

The Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor announced that state health departments administering Federal aid for the program now may use those funds to provide such supervision. This care may be given either in the doctor's office or in child health conferences, in accordance with the operation of the state plan.

Under the plan, wives and babies of servicemen in the lowest four pay grades of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard and Army and Navy Aviation cadets are eligible for state-Federal aid for medical, nursing and hospital care for the wife throughout pregnancy, childbirth and for six weeks after delivery, and care for the baby at any time in its first year of life.

DEWEY'S ADVISERS PONDER VALUE OF STINGING ATTACKS

receptive to the idea of a need for change and for streamlining of Government bureaus.

Without any show of affection, he embraced many of the measures fathered and mothered by the New Deal. He conceded the necessity for Government regulation of industry. He upheld unemployment and old-age benefits and proposed that social security be broadened. The Office of Price Administration, he said, is essential in wartime, and he even granted the wisdom of Government public works programs to absorb the jobless—an indorsement of the principle of the much-maligned WPA and PWA.

G. O. P. Conservatives Object.

The conservative wing of the party howled. Dewey they protested bitterly, was developing into a juvenile rendition of Wendell Willkie. Dewey was a New Dealer in disguise. They importuned his intimate advisers with him on the trip to make him sing another tune. Go after Sidney Hillman of the CIO, they urged; go after the Political Action Committee, after Communist Earl Browder; attack the Bureaucracy of the administration with fire and brimstone.

The pressure mounted, but Dewey's cool-headed assistants would not be diverted from their set, tightly-knit design. With perfect control, Gov. Dewey passed up successive opportunities to deliver claptrap speeches to large crowds. When 90,000 enthusiasts gathered at the vast Memorial Coliseum in Los Angeles to hear him last Friday amid an extravagant Hollywood setting, for example, he spoke dispassionately for social security. You could sense the letdown in the crowd.

Pot Shots at New Deal.

The recipe did not call for ice alone. In all these speeches Gov. Dewey took some pot shots at Franklin Roosevelt and the New Deal, and a few of his charges were virulent, such as his assertion that the administration was scheming to keep men in the service because it knew it was incompetent to provide jobs for them in our domestic economy.

The purpose of the campaign technique was threefold at this point: to keep talks on a high, dignified level befitting a competent, composed young man; to appeal to the votes of "progressive" independents, and, finally, to pester Roosevelt enough to make him pay some attention to Dewey, who knew that shadow-boxers seldmon inspire large followings.

All this was before the President's brilliant address to the AFL Teamsters' Union the evening of Sept. 23. In the lexicon of the Fourth Estate, it was "good copy." Its amusing portions were interwoven skillfully with effective leather thongs. Dewey had been nipping at Roosevelt, but the veteran titleholder carried the fight to the challenger.

That was the turning point. The President's speech drew blood. The next afternoon, on Sunday, when the Governor made another impromptu talk to a small station group, you could see that he was angry. He denounced the New Deal with vehemence for the first time. He took a sideswipe at Sidney Hillman. Then he hurried back into a huddle with his aids to write an entirely new speech for the following night in Oklahoma City.

Gone was the high resolve to keep the campaign on a "high level." Gone was his resolution to avoid personalities. He poured it on with a vengeance, and the response was overwhelming. Once more the Old Guard was delighted. In the words of Paul Lockwood, Dewey's executive secretary, "bundles" of congratulatory messages swamped the special campaign train. And Dewey himself seemed a new man. He was visibly pleased with his new success. For the rest of the trip his station stop talks were filled with scorching flame-throwers. And, like Roosevelt, he resorted to high ridicule—"a New Deal that wants to tell us what to eat for breakfast and what kind of pajamas to wear at night." At a press conference he made clear he intended to continue this new kind of slashing attack so popular with his partisans.

From Dewey's standpoint, there's only one fly in the ointment. Will this new approach win votes or alienate them? The votes of the regular Republicans were never jeopardized, under any kind of technique; will this kind of fight drive off the independents? Did the President deliberately bait Dewey into swinging in the belief it was to be to the benefit of the Democrats—on the theory that a hot campaign will increase the size of the vote, and a large turnout will benefit the present regime? These are the questions Dewey and his advisers are pondering today.

Generally, they feel that the trip just ended helped his chances. In this connection, the results of a poll taken among 48 of the correspondents who accompanied Dewey on the trip are of interest. Taken by a newscaster for a national radio broadcasting chain, the poll showed that 37 writers believed the trip increased Dewey's popularity, while five thought his chances faded, and six said it hadn't changed the score at all.

Of the 48, a total of 23 said they thought Dewey gained in the "exchange of punts" with the President while 15 said he lost, and 10 called it a draw.

And of 39 correspondents who responded to a question as to their personal preference, 21 were for Roosevelt and 18 for Dewey. Of those for the President, 20 thought he would win, while the other thought the chances were even. Of those for Dewey, only five thought he would emerge the victor; nine picked Roosevelt, and four said it was a toss-up.

PEVELY SUPER TEST MILK

Keep at it... till the Shootin' Stops!

The enemy is reeling and staggering from the magnificent action of our men on all the battle fronts. Here on the home front we must not let up—we must keep at it, till the shootin' stops.

Keep on buying War Bonds—giving blood to the Red Cross—taking active part in salvage campaigns—staying at our war job—in fact, doing our utmost at every activity that will aid our war effort, until final victory is achieved.

Greyhound, too, has a job to keep at, till the shootin' stops... the very important job of helping to keep vital transportation on the move quickly and efficiently. After Victory, Greyhound will work to set brand-new standards of highway travel... until then, let's all keep at it till the shootin' stops.

Only 2000 of 8000 Saved From the 'Lost Division'

gen, eight miles to the south, and those over the Meuse (Maas) at Grave and over the Wilhelmina Canal just north of Eindhoven, the Germans could be outflanked by the armor of Lt. Gen. Sir Miles Dempsey's Second British Army.

The plan went well, even to the seizing of the Arnhem bridge, until Dempsey's spearheads crossed the Waal Rhine at Nijmegen, where the bridge was saved at the last minute.

But it had not taken the enemy long to guess what was happening and they quickly struck at Arnhem.

Then came the bitterest break of all—foggy mists and rain from low-hanging clouds took a deciding hand in the furious battle.

The British and American fighter planes which had played such an important role in guarding the airborne troops to their dropping zones safely were grounded. So were the big cargo craft, the paratroopers' sole source of supply once they reached the ground.

Driven From Bridge.

Spared interference from the air, the Germans moved up to the rim of Arnhem with their heavy guns and tanks. A merciless barrage was poured into the compact area and, after three days, the British were forced to abandon the bridge and retreat into the woods west of town.

That was on Friday, and things looked dark enough then. Still no help had come from across the river, although they could hear Dempsey's artillery desperately blazing away, trying to find the Germans and steadily closing in.

The supply line behind Dempsey's forces snapped under terrific pressure from the Germans on its east and west flanks and the drive from Nijmegen to Arnhem was slowed while this threat was dealt with.

Exhausted, weary from lack of sleep, wet from incessant rain, the plucky Tommies fought on with whatever they could lay their hands on. Many used weapons captured from the Germans. Others were reduced to bayonets and hand grenades.

They cocked their ears toward the skies, hoping for the thrum of plane engines, but they heard only the tantalizing chant from German loudspeakers entreating them in poor English to surrender.

Attempt at Aid.

Then in spite of the weather, twin-engined C-47s were loaded with Polish paratroopers and dispatched to the rescue. The weather was abominable for such an operation with a misty rain and a low ceiling of clouds. The Poles jumped and the wind carried them to the wrong side of the Rhine.

German fighter planes lurking in the clouds shot down 30 of the transport planes.

But in spite of this crushing blow, the British refused to give up and kept tending their ever-increasing lines of wounded with an ever-decreasing supply of drugs.

Troops from the British Second Army crossed the Neder Ryn in rafts and boats at night, but it developed that they were sealed off and able to offer little assistance. The Germans continually were reinforced by picked S. S. troops and tenaciously held to the Arnhem bridge. The precariously slender supply line had been broken a second time and even a third time at Veghel—far below Nijmegen.

So the fight was given up. One last blistering barrage was turned loose on the Germans Monday night and those with the energy to swim or crawl into assault boats or rafts got across to the southern bank of the river.

Most of 800 Polish paratroops and British Dorsetshire infantrymen who crossed the Rhine to aid the airborne division also escaped to the south bank.

Unable to Bury Dead.

All through the long period of their travail, beset by German tanks, flame-throwers, mortar fire and artillery, the British were unable to bury either their own dead or the Germans'.

But they exacted a terrible price on greatly superior enemy forces and according to an unofficial estimate killed 12,000 to 15,000 enemy soldiers.

A British staff officer said Montgomery had decided that remnants of the division should be brought back when it became evident that no junction in strength could be made across the Neder Rhine.

The latest official Supreme Headquarters figure on British airborne soldiers withdrawn from the Arnhem bridgehead was slightly over 2000. Earlier estimates from Gen. Montgomery's headquarters were that 1700 to 2800 had escaped.

The two-day bar on news was imposed, it was explained, because "it obviously was important not to give any information to the enemy that such an action was taking place and that we no longer had any hope of making a link-up."

Queen Wilhelmina today sent King George VI a telegram saying:

"Having followed with Great admiration the magnificent stand of the airborne division in Arnhem, I should like to express to your the profound admiration of my people and myself for their tenacity and heroism.

"My people and I are deeply grieved at the loss of so many brave, young lives. We shall never forget the debt we owe them."

1

One day when I was manicuring my garbage pail, the doctor said, "If more women would disinfect as they clean there'd be less chance of epidemics in wartime." Did I beam!

2

"It's a good idea to clean all over the house the hospital way—with Lysol," he said. So I began to use it every day in my cleaning. Bath, nursery, kitchen, everywhere.

3

And then I discovered that Lysol not only disinfects and deodorizes, but actually helps clean, too. Lysol itself is "soapy"—leaves things disinfected and sparkling! Great stuff!

4

MASONS INSTALL ST. LOUISAN

They include the Rev. E. L. Robison, St. Joseph, Rabbi Samuel Thurman and the Rev. H. F. C. Haas, St. Louis, Grand Chaplains; Anthony F. Ittner, St. Louis, grand lecturer; James W. Bradford, St. Louis, grand senior deacon; Richard O. Rumer, St. Louis, grand marshal.

THREE ST. LOUIS FIRMS ACCUSED IN OPA SUITS

Two Clothing Retailers and Lumber Company Overcharged, It Is Alleged.

Two St. Louis retail stores, selling women's clothing, and a lumber company were charged with violating regulations of the Office of Price Administration in suits filed today in United States District Court by the OPA in St. Louis.

Thomas H. Garland, Inc., 410 North Sixth street, allegedly sold women's dresses at $65 each, the suit said, when the retail ceiling price under OPA regulations was $55. More than 15 women's coats, with ceiling prices of $55 each, the petition alleged, were sold for $59.95 each. United States District Judge Rubey M. Hulen issued a temporary restraining order returnable Oct. 6.

In another suit against William D. Boxer, operator of Boxer's Department Store, 2738 Cherokee street, the OPA alleged women's coats and dresses were sold at prices ranging from 19 cents to $2 more than the ceiling prices. Judge Hulen also issued a temporary restraining order, returnable Oct. 6.

W. C. Horn and F. H. Horn, partners in the Canthook Lumber Co., 722 Chestnut street, were charged in a suit with accepting overcharges up to $218 on sales of southern pine lumber. Under the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, the OPA asked for damages of $10,802, which is treble the amount of all alleged overcharges. A temporary restraining order was issued by United States District Judge George H. Moore, who set Oct. 6 as the date of a hearing.

Illegal Ration Point Transfer Charged in Clayton Suit.

Nolan Stinson of Creve Coeur, St. Louis County, and Nolan Stinson, Inc., operators of Arctic Food Lockers, 8029 Clayton road, St. Louis County, were charged today in a criminal information filed in United States District Court with violation of Office of Price Administration regulations by unlawful transfer of ration points.

United States Attorney Harry C. Blanton filed the information, alleging that Stinson had illegally acquired a ration check for 1500 meat, fish, butter and cheese points from J. E. Root, 8919 Litzsinger road, Brentwood, on July 30, 1943. The check was said to have been obtained by Root from a bakery and accepted by Arctic Lockers in payment of points for meats.

RESIDENTS OF TROY (MO.) AREA BUY 5.2-MILE RAILROAD

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 28 (AP).—Residents of Troy and vicinity have saved their 5.2-mile railroad from Troy to Moscow Junction in Lincoln County by buying the railroad.

The St. Louis and Troy Railroad Co. asked last January to abandon the line as a losing proposition, but the Public Service Commission today granted the railroad's request to withdraw that application.

"The citizens of Troy, Mo., and vicinity purchased the capital stock and securities of the St. Louis and Troy Railroad Co. for the purpose of continuing the operation of the line," the commission order explained.

Mother, Son in Double Wedding.

Navy Machinist's Mate George L. Drysdale and Miss Monettia Jean Nelson were married last night in a double wedding ceremony with the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Eleanor L. Drysdale, a widow, and Elmer H. Sutton, coal miner, at First Baptist Church in Belleville. The double ceremony had been planned for several months to take place as soon as Drysdale obtained a leave from his base at Providence, R. I.

EX-ST. LOUIS WOMAN FOUND DEAD IN MEXICO

Body of Former Mrs. Dorothy Rhodes Worman Was in Bathtub in Hotel.

The former Mrs. Dorothy Rhodes Worman, divorced wife of Harry L. Worman, chief operating officer of the Frisco System, was found dead in the bathtub of her hotel room in Mexico City Tuesday night, according to a dispatch. The cause of death has not been determined. She was 37 years old, and was divorced by Worman at Clayton in April, 1942.

A marriage certificate found among her effects, the Mexican police reported, indicated that the former Mrs. Worman was married to Enrique Hernandez Romero, a Mexican, in the resort town of Taxco, May 5, 1943. The police did not find Romero.

A preliminary autopsy report indicated death was due to "general visceral congestion," which might have had a natural cause, such as overeating or an overdose of sleeping tablets. Mexican money to the value of about $350 United States currency was found in the room.

The former Mrs. Worman was the adopted daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Brooks Rhodes of Springfield, Mo., and was educated in Elfindale Academy and Southwest State Teachers' College at Springfield. She was married to Worman in 1929, and they lived at the Park Plaza Hotel before their separation.

At the time of the divorce, she received from Worman a luxuriously furnished lodge at Hollister, Mo., and she made it her home. In the Mexico City hotel, where she had been since Aug. 29, she was registered as Mrs. Worman, with Hollister as her address.

United States consular officials deferred any disposition of the body while waiting to hear from relatives, or from the Mexican husband. At Springfield, where the former Mrs. Worman had many acquaintances, no relatives were known.

ICKES READY TO QUIT 'IF AND WHEN' DEWEY BECOMES PRESIDENT

Asserts Nominee Ignores Truth, Tries 'to Frighten Mothers of Soldiers.'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP).—Secretary of the Interior Ickes today made public a letter addressed to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in which he promised the Republican presidential nominee he would step down from the cabinet "if and when the incredible comes to pass and you become the President of the United States."

Ickes gave out the letter at his press conference and said it had been mailed today. Dewey recently gave Ickes a high priority rating in projected cabinet changes. Ickes told reporters it was customary to give a brief statement of the reasons for a "resignation," and that he had given these to Dewey:

"First, your disregard for the truth; second, your unrelieved record of contempt for civil liberties; and, third, my unwillingness to serve under a man whose chief qualification for public office, aside from his hunger for it, is his proved willingness to attain his goal by attempting to frighten the mothers of soldiers and by recklessly seeming to cause prejudice and hatred."

A Public Statement on Brand Advertising

ONE of the great fallacies of our time is the saying: "Let a man make a better mousetrap, and the world flocks to his door."

That man may be buried in the Maine woods, or situated in the heart of New York, but the world will not flock to his door until it knows that his mousetrap is better than the other fellow's.

Yet, how is the world to know? Must this mousetrap inventor tramp the streets telling everyone he meets about his product?

Or is it better for him to find a way to tell millions of people simultaneously?

The answer is obvious. And this is the one great service which brand advertising performs for the American public. It tells the facts about that new and better mousetrap, or lipstick, or face cream, or syrup, or soap. Then, and not until then, the public starts to buy.

This process of constant competitive improvement, fostered by brand advertising, is responsible more than anything else for the amazing advances in living standards which have been taking place in America ever since advertising first came into being.

Brand Advertising Assures Highest Quality

Were it not for brand advertising, the public would still be unable, even today, to judge quality from quality. The public would have no protection from the substitutor, the black-market operator, the purveyor of shoddy merchandise. The consumer would have no price standards to guide her. And price maintenance itself, so necessary to perpetuation of business enterprise, would be non-existent. All the checks and balances, so vital to American business and industry, would be in a state of chaos.

Take an example: Cornflakes. There are dozens of brands of this cereal. Could you tell them apart — good quality from poor — without the guidance of the brand names by which you know them today?

Again the answer is obvious. Without a brand name on every box — without the millions of consumer sales-messages published daily in brand advertising, through which these names have been made known — Mrs. Consumer would find herself unable to shop at all.

Brand Advertising Means You Pay Less

But, you ask, does not this brand advertising add to the retail price of these cornflakes?

To make a single box of cornflakes would cost hundreds, perhaps thousands of dollars in tedious hand labor. If you or your wife wanted to purchase that single box of hand-made cornflakes, the manufacturer would have to pass this terrific cost on to you.

But, thanks to brand advertising, this manufacturer is able simultaneously to tell millions of people about his cornflakes; is able to make and sell thousands of boxes of cornflakes per day instead of one box at a time; is able to sell you your box of cornflakes for only a few cents.

We repeat: For that low price you pay, you can thank mass production, which brand advertising has made possible.

Many an advertiser, from time to time, has thought to "reduce expenses" by cutting down or abolishing the advertising which made his product a success. But these advertisers have often found, too late, that products deprived of brand advertising quickly flee from public consciousness.

What has become of the Pierce-Arrow automobile, Pear's Soap, Pearline, Force Cornflakes, Home Run Cigarettes, Tanlac? The public at large has forgotten them. Others have marched ahead to take their place.

Some of these forgotten brands, realizing their error, have gone to great extremes trying to win back their lost markets.

They have not succeeded. Ford, Camay, Lux Flakes, Wheaties, Camels, Vitamins Plus, were by then too well entrenched to be headed off—thanks largely to brand advertising.

The economic effect of brand advertising, from the standpoint of overall public benefit, is astonishing.

In the case of a drug sundry, sales increased 600% over a 12-year period, while advertising costs dropped from 22% to 8.5%; marketing costs dropped from 28.5% to 11.5%; selling prices to the public were reduced over 50%.

In the case of a nationally advertised electric refrigerator, the 1927 unit price to consumer was $310. By 1940, the consumer price had dropped to $133; yet storage capacity had increased 56%, and electric kilowatt hour consumption had been cut 60%.

In the case of a washing machine, first manufactured in 1909, the original makers did not believe in advertising; instead, they sold through salesmen door-to-door. But these salesmen had to be trained; their traveling expenses had to be paid and were heavy; there were other expenses which, though unavoidable, had to be passed on to the consumer in the listed retail price. So in 1915 consumer advertising was started, and here is what happened: First, their salesmen found selling far easier because their prospects already knew the machine's capabilities. Second, volume increased so that it became necessary to move into a new factory.

Most important from the public standpoint, prices were immediately reduced 25%, and have since been constantly reduced as the selling costs per unit came down. Today, this manufacturer is able to sell the public a far better washing machine, at less than 1/3 the price of the original 1909 model.

Brand Advertising Brings Peak Production

In the three cases above, taken at random, brand advertising accomplished three definite results: (a) helped to inform the public on performance and on quality; (b) raised sales volume; (c) lowered cost to consumer. And this does not take into account the thousands of people employed in making and selling these products, whose jobs would be non-existent if brand advertising had not forced the pace.

In our own business as world's largest publishers of monthly magazines, the same economic process is at work.

Year after year, our magazines have been better written, better designed, better printed. Circulation has grown by leaps and bounds. A few years ago, our payrolls supported only a few, today we employ thousands. Despite increased manufacturing costs we have been able to maintain low newsstand prices—in some cases even reduce them—because through advertising, our magazines are being merchandised to the public.

But on top of that, the brand advertising we carry in our publications on behalf of American manufacturers also keeps down the cost of our publications to the public. This is true of any publisher.

A leading national weekly magazine costs about 35¢ per copy to print; yet on the newsstands, it sells to the public for only 10¢, and the annual subscription price reduces this cost to less than 6¢ per copy per year. The Sunday edition of a great metropolitan newspaper costs about 15¢ per copy to print, but sells for only 10¢ to the public. Brand advertising makes the difference.

Brand Advertising Means More Postwar Jobs

The tremendous volume of advertising in America's magazines, newspapers, car cards, billboards and over the radio, is proof of the economic soundness of brand advertising, and its lasting benefits to the public.

More than any other one thing, American business and industry can be proud of the fact that brand advertising has contributed so much to making America's living standard the highest the world has ever known.

Brand advertising, of all products, is the most potent force in America. It will not only lead to mass production and lower prices, but will support the 55 million jobs and the 140 billion dollars of yearly national income, which economic experts declare vital for postwar prosperity.

YANKS MAKING RAPID PROGRESS ON PELELIU

MacArthur's Planes Taking Heavy Toll of Enemy Barges.

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, Sept. 28 (AP).—More rapid progress in the conquest of Pelelin in the Palau Islands, on the eastern approaches to the Philippines, was reported today, while the Allied air arm, which has lashed the Philippines from Mindanao to Manila, made southern archipelago waters unsafe even for Japanese barges.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, whose recent communiques have told of slow going over and around Japanese-held ridges on Peleliu, said last night that the Marines and soldiers are moving faster toward complete conquest of that air base island 515 miles east of Mindanao.

"Further gains made during Sept. 26 by the First Marine Division and elements of the Eighty-first Infantry division brought the entire island under our control with the exception of Umurbrogol Mountain and a small pocket at the northeastern tip," Nimitz's communique said. "Rapid progress was made by the First Marine Division attacking in the northern sector and by Army troops in the center of the western arm during the day.

Nimitz's communique placed the total of Japanese killed in the Palaus at 8537—7517 on Peleliu and 1020 on Angaur. This was a ratio of better than 12 for every American life lost. American killed have been announced as 686.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, whose recent communiques have reported successful air attacks on enemy freighters off the southern Philippines, announced today that his bombers are pouncing on barge traffic along Mindanao's south shores from Davao to Zamboanga. Five barges were sunk Sunday night and Monday morning in Davao gulf.

MacArthur's communique disclosed a roundtrip flight of 3200 miles by long-range planes which carried the war to the Japanese at Batavia, capital of the Japanese army-controlled administration for Java and Sumatra. The raiders swept low to strafe Japanese-occupied buildings.

Other planes sank two small freighter-transports and a 3000-ton vessel loaded with gasoline in the vicinity of Dutch Celebes.

LACK OF SHIPS MAY DELAY TROOPS' RETURN FROM EUROPE

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP).—The Army is preparing a "large-scale educational program" for soldiers forced to remain in Europe after Germany is defeated until shipping is available to transport them home, Col. Lawrence Westbrook of the War Department planning division says.

Speaking before the industrial relations conference of the American Management Association yesterday, Col. Westbrook said: "It will be necessary to use most of our shipping for a considerable time to get troops and supplies to the Pacific-Asiatic theater. It should not be expected that even those who can be spared after the defeat of Germany will be able to get home immediately in any great numbers."

The European schools, he said, will offer a wide variety of general, technical and vocational courses.

The Belchers were charged with the theft of $1700 from Earl J. Baker, a Nashville attorney, early this month, according to East St. Louis police.

MVA PLAN OPPOSED BY U. S. CHAMBER

Directors Against Federal Regional Authorities for Any River Basins.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP).—Directors of the United States Chamber of Commerce have declared afresh their opposition to Federal regional authorities for development of river basins.

An announcement from the chamber yesterday said the directors adopted a resolution opposing such authorities after President Roosevelt sent a message to Congress last week indorsing proposals for a Missouri Valley Authority and for other regional authorities.

The resolution said creation of Federal regional authorities would jeopardize water rights and would "tend to socialize the waters of the nation."

Kansas Democratic Candidate for Senate Against MVA.

EMPORIA, Kan., Sept. 28 (AP).—Thurman Hill, Democratic candidate for the United States Senate, told the Lyon County Women's Democratic Club yesterday that he opposed a Missouri valley authority such as has been proposed by President Roosevelt, at least pending a further study.

Hill took a strong stand for Missouri valley flood control and promised to work for an early congressional appropriation for control measures which do not involve power projects.

CHURCHILL TEXT: WAR'S FACE IN EUROPE HAS COMPLETELY CHANGED IN SEVEN WEEKS

LONDON, Sept. 28 (AP).

Little more than seven weeks have passed since we rose for the summer recess, but this short period has completely changed the face of the war in Europe.

What a transformation meets our eyes! Not only Paris but practically the whole of France has been liberated, as if by enchantment. Belgium has been rescued. Part of Holland is already free. The foul enemy who for four years inflicted his cruelties and oppression upon those countries has fled, leaving perhaps 400,000 in killed and wounded and leaving in our hands nearly half a million prisoners.

Besides these, there may well be 200,000 of them in the coastal fortresses of Holland whose destruction or capture may now be deemed highly probable. . . .

Battle in Normandy.

Conducted under the supreme command of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, all these operations have taken place and all were the fruit of the world-famous battle of Normandy, the greatest and most decisive battle of the entire war. Never has the exploitation of victory been carried to higher perfection.

The chaos and destruction wrought by the Allied air forces behind the battlefront has been indescribable in narrative and a factor of the utmost potency in the actual struggle. It . . . reduces to petty dimensions all that our own army had to suffer from the German air force in 1940.

Nevertheless, when we reflect upon the tremendous fire power of modern weapons and the opportunities which they give for defensive and delaying action we must feel astounded at the extraordinary speed with which the Allied armies have advanced. The vast and brilliant encircling movements of the American armies will ever be a model of the military art and an example of the propriety of running risks, not only in the fighting, because most of the armies are ready to do it, but even more on the "Q" side or, as the Americans put it, the logistic side. . . .

Tribute to Air Troops.

By the largest airborne operation ever yet conceived or executed a further all-important forward bound in the north has been achieved. Here I must pay tribute which the House will consider due, to the superb feat of arms performed by our First Airborne Division. . . . This glorious and fruitful operation will take a lasting place in our military annals and will in succeeding generations inspire our youth with the highest ideals of duty and daring. The cost has been heavy . . . but for those who mourn there is at least the consolation that the sacrifice was not needlessly demanded nor was it given without result.

The delay caused to the enemy's advance on Nijmegen . . . enabled the British Second Army to secure intact the vitally important bridges and to form a strong bridgehead over the main stream of the Rhine at Nijmegen. "Not in vain" may be the pride of those who survived and the eitaph of those who fell. . . .

(The Riviera landings) led with inconceivable rapidity to the capture of Toulon and Marseille . . . when I had the opportunity on Aug. 15 of watching—alas, from very far — the landing at St. Tropez it would have seemed audacious to have hoped for such swift and important results.

We have, however, under the spell of victories in the north, gained a superabundance in less than half the time prescribed and expected in the plans which were made before hand. . . .

The largest mass of all the troops on the Italian front comes, of course, from the United Kingdom. . . . Half the divisions of the whole front were from that island. . . . It seems to me indeed appropriate that a special Jewish unit of that race which has suffered indescribable torment from the Nazis should be represented as a distinct formation among the forces gathered for their final overthrow. I have no doubt that they will not only take part in the struggle but also in the occupation that will follow.

Speed in Operations.

I am now going to give a few facts and figures about the operations in Europe. . . . The speed with which the mighty British and American armies in France were built up is almost incredible. In the first 24 hours a quarter of a million men were landed in the teeth of fortified and violent opposition.

By the twentieth day a million men were ashore. There are now between two and three million men in France.

I must pay my tribute to the United States armies not only in their valiant and ruthless battleworthy qualities, but also in the skill of their commanders and the excellence of their supply arrangements. When one remembers that the United States four or five years ago was a peace-loving power without any great body of troops or munitions maintained, and with only a very small regular army to draw their commanders from, the American achievement is truly amazing.

These soldiers' like our own from Great Britain—who have been even longer under arms—are capable of being placed immediately on landing in the battle line and have proved themselves more than a match for the so-called veteran troops of Germany who, though fighting desperately, are showing themselves decidedly the worse for wear.

U. S. at Highest Pinnacle.

When I think of the measureless output of ships and munitions and supplies of all kinds with which the United States has equipped herself and has sustained all fighting allies in generous measure and of the mighty war she is conducting with the troops of our Australian and New Zealand dominions over the spaces of the Pacific Ocean, this House may, indeed, salute our sister nation as being at the highest pinnacle of her power and fame.

I am very glad to say that we also have been able to make a worthy contribution. After 120 days of fighting we still bear in cross-channel troops a proportion of two to three in personnel and of four to five and a half in fighting divisions in France. . . .

Allied Casualties.

The casualties have followed very closely the proportion of numbers. In fact, these troops fight so level that the casualties almost exactly follow the numbers engaged. We have, I regret to say, lost upwards of 90,000 men killed, wounded and missing and the United States, including Gen. (Alexander M.) Patch's (Seventh) Army, over 145,000. Such is the price in blood paid by the English-speaking democracies for the actual liberation of the soil of France.

The terms in which Marshal Stalin recently, in conversation, has referred to our campaigns in the West have been of such a generous and admiring character that I felt, in my turn, bound to point out that Russia is holding and beating far larger hostile forces than those which face the Allies in the West, and has through long years, at enormous losses, borne the brunt of the struggle on land. . . .

Operations in Burma.

I was somewhat concerned to observe from my reading of the American press in which I indulged during my stay on the other side that widespread misconceptions exist in the public mind, so far as it is reflected by the newspapers, about the skill of our efforts in Burma. I must therefore set matters in their true light.

It is well known that the United States have been increasingly engaged in establishing an air route to China capable of carrying immense supplies. Certainly no more prodigious example of strength, science and organization in this class of work has ever been seen or dreamt of.

Along the eastern frontiers of India stands the Fourteenth British Imperial Army. . . . This army under Admiral Mountbatten, amounting to between a quarter of a million and 300,000 men . . . has, by its aggressive operations, guarded the base of the American air line to China and has protected India against the horrors of a Japanese invasion.

The 10 Japanese divisions which were launched against us with the object of invading India and cutting the airline have been repulsed and largely shattered as the result of the bloody and costly campaign which is still being continued in spite of the monsoon season.

Many of Troops Ill.

In the first six months only of this year the Fourteenth British Imperial Army sustained no fewer than 237,000 cases of sickness which had to be evacuated to the rear over the long and difficult communications and tended in hospital. . . . In addition to this, we have suffered over 40,000 battle casualties in the first six months . . .

The campaign of Adm. Mountbatten on the Burma frontier constitutes—and this is a startling fact—the largest and most important ground fighting that has yet taken place against the armies of Japan . . . and has resulted in the slaughter of between 50,000 and 60,000 Japanese—and the capture of several hundred prisoners . . . .

We have discovered many preventives against tropical diseases. . . . the excellent DDT powder which has been fully experimented with and found to yield astonishing results, will henceforward be used on a great scale . . . together with other remedies constantly improving . . . .

I can assure the House that the war against the Japanese—and other diseases of the jungle—will be pressed forward with the utmost energy . . . .

I always hate comparing Napoleon with Hitler as it seems an insult to the great Emperor and warrior to connect him in any way with a squalid caucus boss and butcher, but there is one respect in which I must draw a parallel. Both these men were temperamentally unable to give up the tiniest scrap of any territory to which the high water mark of their hectic fortunes had carried them.

Such a vast frittering away and dispersal of forces has never been seen and is of course the prime cause of the impending ruin of Germany. When Herr Hitler escaped his bomb on July 20 he described his survival as providential. I think from a purely military point of view we can agree with him.

Certainly it would be most unfortunate if the Allies were to be deprived in the closing phases of the struggle of that form of warlike genius by which Corporal Schickelgruber has so notably contributed to our victory.

Great Deal to Do Yet.

I deprecate very much people being carried away into premature expectations of an immediate cessation of the fighting. It is very hard not to be when each day the papers are rightly filled with news of captures of important places and of advances of the Army. But there is still a great deal to do in a military sense.

Unless organized German resistance collapses in the near future enormous additional U. S. Forces will be brought to bear in the final struggle.

I shall certainly not hazard a guess—it could be no more than a guess—as to when the end will come. Many persons of the highest technical attainments, knowledge and responsibility have good hopes that it will all be over by the end of 1944.

On the other hand, no one—certainly not I—can guarantee that several months of 1945 may not be required. There is also the possibility that, after organized resistance of the German state and Army is completely broken, fierce warfare may be maintained in the forests and mountains of Germany by numbers of desperate men conscious of their own guilt and impending doom.

It may be necessary for the Allies to declare at a certain date that the actual war against the German state has come to an end and that a period of mopping up of bandits and war criminals has begun.

No one can foresee what form exactly the death agony of Nazidom will take.

For us the important decision will be to choose the moment when substantial forces can be withdrawn from Europe to intensify the war against Japan. We do not certainly consider that the declared date of the ending of the war against Germany must necessarily be postponed until the last desperado has been tracked down in his last lair.

Meeting at Quebec.

Complete agreement on every point was reached at Quebec by the combined chiefs of staff. The men who met together at Quebec knew each other well. When you have lived through all these things you do not have to turn up musty files to see what happened on particular occasions.

Obviously our discussions were concerned with the successful winding up of the war in Europe by bringing about the unconditional surrender of Germany at the earliest moment and also with the new phase of the war against Japan which will dominate all minds and command all our resources from the moment that the German war is ended.

On behalf of the British government, nearly two years ago I assured the President that Great Britain would pursue the war against Japan with all her strength and resources to the very end. And as I explained to Congress when I last addressed them, we have losses to repair and injuries to repay on the Japanese account at least equal to if not greater than those suffered by the United States.

Our perseverance in this quarrel is not to be doubted. I offered some time ago to embody this undertaking in a definite treaty, but the President made the courteous reply that the British word was good enough. That word we shall certainly make good.

Accordingly we offered to the United States the fine, modern British fleet and we asked that it should be employed in the major operations against Japan. This offer was at once cordially accepted.

A large portion of this fleet is already gathered in the India Ocean. For a year past our modern battleships have been undergoing a further measure of modernization and tropicalization to meet the rapid wartime changes in technical apparatus.

We have already, nine months ago, begun the creation of an immense fleet train comprising many vessels large and medium especially fitted as repair ships, recreational ships for personnel, munition and provision ships and many modern variants in order that our fleet may have a degree of mobility which, for several months together, will make them largely independent of the main shore bases.

A substantial portion of these vessels which we shall use for this purpose we have been building in Canada.

Thus we hope to place in the Pacific a fleet capable in itself of fighting a general action with the Japanese Navy and which, added to the far greater United States naval power, should give

Separate State Plan Again Bars Unity in India

BOMBAY, Sept. 28 (AP).

MAHOMED ALI JINNAH'S insistence on separate Moslem and Hindu states and Mohandas K. Gandhi's opposition to such a plan caused the breakdown in their recent talks aimed at furthering India's fight for independence, it was disclosed today.

Publication of correspondence between the two leaders disclosed that Gandhi proposed the issue be decided by plebescite after India's independence has been won.

Jinnah, Moslem party leader, insisted a settlement should be made on the division of India into two separate states before trying to obtain independence.

Gandhi Defends Stand.

In support of his stand Gandhi declared:

"I find no parallel in the history of the converts (Moslems) and their descendants claiming to be a nation apart from the parent stock."

Characterizing the breakdown in the talks as a major calamity, the Times of India said the failure resulted because the two participants approached the problem from completely different angles.

"So long as Gandhi and Jinnah control the destinies of the all India Congress party and the Moslem League," the Times added, "we doubt if there can be a settlement."

Although Jinnah, in his own words, "failed in the task of converting Mr. Gandhi," he said, "nevertheless we trust this is not the final end of our effort."

Addressing a prayer meeting last night, Gandhi said failure of the negotiations between himself and Jinnah was not a cause for despair. The Hindu leader said he and Jinnah had parted friends and would meet again. Gandhi appealed to the public to exert pressure to bring about a settlement of their conflicting views.

Gandhi and Jinnah began their talks Sept. 9 in an attempt to reach a basis for unity between India's groups of nearly 300,000,000 Hindus and 80,000,000 Moslems.

Security Talks With Russia End, Use of Force, Procedure If Major Power Goes to War Still Unsettled

By HAL O'FLAHERTY
A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.

A PLENARY session of the Dumbarton Oaks conference on world security was held today and, after six weeks of discussion, the British and Americans completed their talks with Russia's delegates. Only partial agreement was reached — what Under Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius termed "a 90 per cent deal"—but enough to warrant the calling of a full United Nations meeting some time this fall.

From the very beginning of the talks at Dumbarton Oaks, two problems have come up repeatedly for solution. First, the method by which the United States will use force to prevent war; and second, the procedure in the United Nations Council should one of the major powers decide to go to war. On this last question Soviet Russia deliberated for some time, obviously debating the wisdom of completing an organization that, in certain circumstances, might be used against Russia.

These problems will continue to be the subject of the debate even after the first full meeting of the United Nations. In the main, the three powers have found with relative ease a basis of agreement on the form of the new security organization which is to have an assembly composed of all but enemy nations, a council composed of the five major powers, including France, and with seven or eight smaller nations represented. It is to have an international court and the use of armies, fleets and navies to back up its decisions. There is to be a permanent secretariat and a defense committee which will devote its major efforts to studying problems that might involve nations in war.

Harmony at Sessions.

With these basic plans matured, the Russians, British and Americans gathered about the great U-shaped table at Dumbarton Oaks today, obviously in happy humor over the success which has been the reward of their labors. All who have attended the conferences, including the military and naval experts, have only good words for their colleagues. In this respect, the initiation of peace machinery has at least a peaceful origin.

Despite the delays enforced by the necessity of referring many proposals back to the foreign offices on Downing Street or in the Kremlin, the delegates have gone through six weeks of argument without acrimony. At one time, it looked as if the Russians had imposed so many conditions and had insisted on such long waits for advice from Moscow that the meetings might adjourn indefinitely. Also, there was a period of waiting while Sir Alexander Cadogan, chief of Britain's delegation, went to Quebec to see Churchill. But the meetings resumed, still in a spirit of optimism.

A press conference will be held by the chiefs of the three delegations tomorrow morning, at which time a joint communique will be issued. How far the communique will go in revealing the exact terms of the agreement has not been announced. It is presumed that it will carry the story a step further than the original report of progress which said briefly that the conferees had accepted the fundamentals of the new structure.

Chinese Kept Informed.

The Russian delegation then will depart or withdraw from Dumbarton Oaks while the repre-

What Does "Reconversion" Mean to the Investor and to His Estate?

THE reconversion of our economy from war to peace will have a profound influence upon the well-being of every individual. It also will be one of the most important factors bearing upon the future value of your investments and of your estate. Delay in reconversion can throw millions out of work and may create a depression of vast proportions, possibly preceded by a brief inflation due to shortage of consumer goods. Speedy reconversion with the prompt transfer of millions of war workers and returning soldiers and sailors to peace production may result in a sustained high level of prosperity. The Federal Government necessarily will play a dominant role in reconversion. It can clear the road for private industry, remove obstacles, make prompt settlement of war contracts, take over accumulated inventories of war industry, dispose of surplus war goods in an orderly manner without demoralizing markets, and take many other steps to permit private industry to reconvert with the utmost rapidity. It can, on the other hand, impose interminable delays and red tape, flood domestic markets with surplus war goods, withhold payment on war contracts and thereby "tie-up" the working capital of industry, thus preventing the prompt reemployment of those thrown out of work in war plants.

Whether the problem of reconversion is handled skillfully or ineptly, whether it is in the hands of people who think and act in terms of production and employment, or people who think and act in terms of bureaucracy and "red tape", will have an important bearing upon the prosperity of our country, upon the safety of your estate, and upon the financial future of your family.

Frankly, we do not know how the Government will handle the reconversion problem. We cannot foresee the future, but we do know vast changes are impending, of enormous complexity, and perhaps of fateful consequence to your estate. We do know that in the postwar world the need for continuous, trained supervision of investments will be no less great than it is today.

Give your estate the protection of experienced management by arranging for its continuous investment supervision by the St. Louis Union Trust Company.

THE TEST OF TRUST SERVICE

Long-term performance, generation after generation, is the best test of trust service. For fifty-five years St. Louis families have entrusted more wealth to the management of the St. Louis Union Trust Company than to any other financial institution. Name it your executor and trustee "for the safety of your estate".

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Education by Ridicule

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The debate on the future of Germany, printed on your editorial page, probably left most persons who read it about where they were before.

Mr. Laski was anything but convincing in his rebuttal. Of course, no one man can be expected to know all the answers. Both remedies proposed for Germany—punishment and education—left one skeptical. The former will intensify the feeling of martyrdom in the Reich; the latter—well, wasn't it Theodore Roosevelt who spoke of the infinite capacity of the human mind to resist the introduction of knowledge?

There is no royal road to the regeneration of Germany. But among the number of factors which could contribute, why has no one apparently thought of the corrosive effect of ridicule?

The idea is not advanced in jest. If there is one thing universal in human nature, it is the fear and dread of ridicule. Even the Germans, despite the sub-human character of their war-waging, are not immune to this dread. Dorothy Thompson has pointed out that the conduct of the Parisians left the Germans bewildered.

Here they were, the conquerers, and by all the logic of their teaching and ideology, something to be kowtowed to, and here were the Parisians not a bit impressed by it at all, but just ignoring them. It was not understandable. Not in the Nazi books. Something beyond their ken. The Germans felt rebuffed, possessed by inferiority feelings.

Why couldn't an attitude be adopted and persisted in which would subtly, but none the less effectively, instil into the German mind the uneasy notion that their bombastic ideology, their Nordic nonsense, their superman bunk, their Der Tag toasts and so on ad nauseum, are proper matters for ridicule?

Could such an attitude be successful? Schopenhauer tried it and failed. The keenest of German philosophers, in his "Wisdom of Life," turned barbed shafts of ridicule against the stupid Junker code of honor and, seemingly, never made a dent in it. However, ridicule was used very successfully by Voltaire in his crusade against religious persecution.

Charity Begins—

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

As one who has been trying to help the blind in St. Louis and Missouri for many years, I call the attention of others who are interested in similar work to the fact that St. Louis is being flooded with literature from Chicago urging local people to contribute $1 or more to the Chicago group for 10 seals or stamps.

May I suggest that St. Louis has hundreds of needy and worthy blind and that "charity begins at home?"

Disruptive Slogan

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Our Constitution proclaims equality for all men in this land of ours, including those who arrived and became citizens after the adoption of the Constitution.

Now comes the Republican party of Pittsburgh and says, "It's your country; why let Sidney Hillman rule it? Vote for Dewey."

How about it, Mr. Dewey? Do you approve such a campaign? Does such a campaign contribute to unity of our people?

Unless Mr. Dewey and his managers denounce such slogans, as he properly denounced Gerald L. K. Smith and Ham Fish, he stands to lose quite a number of votes.

While every method is fair in war, politics and love, no slogan that causes disruption of the unity of the country should be tolerated in presidential elections.

JACOB MELLMAN.

Changes His Mind on Dewey

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Thank you for your fine editorial, "Wild Swings by Dewey." I had intended to vote for him—but not now. Nor will the thousands who read that editorial.

We cannot have a police-court pettifogger in the White House. Mr. Dewey stands revealed as a cruel prosecutor who will say anything to win—and without regard for fact or truth.

VOTER.

The Indispensable Question

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The "indispensable man" idea has come to be a horrible bugaboo for the Republican candidate. I believe that he is really serious about it, and is fearful that several millions of people will subscribe to it. His alarming shouts concerning the idea are next to "bloody murder."

T. E. D. need not tear his hair for fear that this idea of indispensability will elect F. D. R. If Roosevelt wins, it will be because the people want a man who is not yelling "Wolf, wolf!"

With Willkie it was "Prodockshun! Prodockshun is what we want!" And with the Governor of New York it is "Mama, here's that (indispensable) man again!"

Setbacks in the War

Stiffened German resistance and bad weather—principally the latter—have slowed down the Allied drives in Europe or brought them to a standstill. So the recent optimistic predictions that the end of the war against the Nazis was just around the corner are being hastily revised.

When the remnants of the British airborne division were forced back across the Rhine after nine days of savage fighting to gain a foothold at Arnhem, one of the greatest Allied setbacks since D-day was recorded. Despite the forces arrayed against them, these gallant men might have held their advanced position in Holland, and opened the way for flanking the Siegfried line, had not miserable weather prevented the landing of reinforcements, arms and supplies by air.

The story is much the same at Metz. That fortress in Northern France has been besieged for four weeks. Hopes were high only a few days ago that it would soon be taken, but now rain and mud have bogged down the American operations.

Around Aachen, Gen. Hodges' First Army has been unable to develop its penetration of the Siegfried Line. Gen. Patton's Third Army is fighting stubbornly on soggy fields east of Nancy. Gen. Patch's Seventh Army, held up at Belfort, sees the first snows whitening the Jura Mountains.

The result everywhere is as Correspondent Joseph Driscoll reports from Metz: "Crouching miserably in his pillbox, the surviving German can offer thanks for the rain that makes the mud that lets him live another day."

Each day of bad weather, which holds up land operations and air operations alike, gives the doomed Nazi cause another day of life. Ended are the Allied sweeps across France and the Low Countries, with their tremendous bag of prisoners and war material. The Germans are straining every effort to hold on a while longer, in the hope that the Allies will be seriously handicapped or stopped by winter. It is closing down now, and heavier clothing is being issued to the shivering American troops on that front.

The retreat of the airborne division and the deadlock elsewhere along the fighting lines will provide a lift for sagging German morale. Nazi propagandists can be counted upon to exploit the turn of events to the utmost, to grind the last ounce of energy from the soldiers and the people. It is clear, from the latest speeches by Foreign Minister Von Ribbentrop and Lt. Gen. Dittmar, that the Nazis are more hopeful than in weeks past.

The effect of all this on the Allied side is shown in the London dispatch by James M. Long of the Associated Press, who points out that the last week's events have "done much toward putting into a more realistic perspective a great deal of the talk about certain victory before the end of 1944."

Only two weeks ago, it was reported that American war planning chiefs had set Oct. 31 as the tentative "outside" date for the defeat of Germany. Now, however, Gen. De Gaulle tells his troops that the end of the war cannot be expected before next spring, and Washington authorities are reported to have amended their predictions of an early finish. At the same time, the OWI issues a report warning that the defeat of Japan will require hard fighting for an "absolute minimum" of 18 months to two years after the war ends in Europe.

All this adds up to a warning for the home front. The warning was tellingly expressed a few weeks ago, in a statement by the Joint Chiefs of Staff at a time when every day was bringing new gains. These were the words of Gen. Marshall, Adm. King and Gen. Arnold:

> The recent favorable course of the fighting seems to have persuaded some people that the war is as good as won, and that, accordingly, they can throw up their jobs and go back to civilian life.
>
> There is still a tough fight ahead. Anyone can see that desertions on the fighting fronts would protract the war and reduce our prospects of victory. Desertions on the home front would tend to the same result.

Our forces are now on German soil, but the war is not yet won. The weather has turned against us, and our fanatical enemies will take every possible advantage of the stay of execution they have gained. On the home front, as at the war front, there can be no relaxing of effort by anyone.

"Estimable Lady's" Successor

In two or three major appearances and a number of back-platform chats, Mr. Dewey has vowed that a vote for him is a vote against the continued tenure of Frances Perkins. Somehow, the announcement falls a bit short of the sensational. It is, as some will recall, a fairly firmly established custom for a new President succeeding a man of opposite political faith to appoint a new cabinet, including a Secretary of Labor.

Since Mr. Dewey sets such great store by the assertion, however, he arouses curiosity about who he has in mind for Miss Perkins' place. That new Secretary, as Mr. Dewey said in his labor speech, will be someone with long and deep experience in organized labor. Furthermore, while Mr. Dewey has not said so, it goes without saying that this appointee-perhaps-to-be will be someone who favored Mr. Dewey before Nov. 7, 1944—still better, someone who campaigned actively for him, lending all his prestige and talents to bringing in a great block of labor votes.

Now that the specification is drawn thus clearly, who could fill Mr. Dewey's bill quite so well as John L. Lewis?

The Passing of Twenty Years Back

Many must have read with a start, as we did, that Aimee Semple McPherson has been gathered to her fathers. Evangelist she was, a tempestuous troubadour in her Los Angeles Temple, and she claimed to have preached to more people than any sky-pilot of her times.

Be this as it may, Aimee had passed on, in the true sense of the word, with the lush 'Twenties. She belonged to those distant days of "Let's Be Done With Wiggle and Wobble," and "The Greatest Secretary of the Treasury Since Hamilton," and Mr. Handy and his Memphis Blues.

Her passing awakens wisps of memories of a past much more remote than the Argonne and the Armistice—of a time when America lived in the Never-Never Land of New Economic Plateau, with its car in every pot and two chickens in every garage. Those were the days of youth's mucker pose, and Doheny's Little Black Bag, and the corrosive cynicism of an age without faith.

Peace to Aimee's ashes, but a pox upon the 'Twenties evermore.

How to Kill MVA

Maybe Gov. Sharpe of South Dakota, whose preference is for the Pick Plan of Missouri River development, is perfectly innocent in his latest MVA suggestion. The fact remains that one of the classic techniques for killing a popular proposition is by seeming up to a point to agree with it. And if Gov. Sharpe's latest proposal is adopted, MVA will almost surely die a-borning.

Let's pass the Reclamation Bureau's Sloan Plan, the Governor now urges Congress—also the Army Engineers' Pick Plan, not to mention the omnibus rivers and harbors bill, all of which affect Missouri River development. Then, after that much is done, Congress can turn its attention to the four MVA bills, which he says might "provide the co-ordinating agency which seems to be desired."

In this latest addition to his manifold schemes, Gov. Sharpe argues that prior passage of the other bills would in no wise hamper the formation of MVA, since all work would still be subject to congressional control over annual appropriations. Taking this for just a moment at face value, Congress is being asked to legislate a babel of conflict and mutual inconsistency, to settle nothing. Then indeed there would be bureaucratic politics with a vengeance, with each faction clamoring for green lights and green money to go ahead on its particular "authorization."

Whatever spirit motivates them, however, the words are not worth face value. Can anyone believe that the Reclamation Bureau and its cohorts, the Army Engineers and their cohorts, opponents of public power and every other selfish interest with a stake in obstruction would not use every means in their power to defeat MVA, the final vitalizing measure? If so, political innocence goeth before disillusionment.

Maybe, though, Congress will refuse to pass the MVA, the Governor suggests—in which event, we most certainly do not want to be left with no alternative. In other words, he believes, appealing to fear, we should grasp for the half-loaf lest the whole one be out of reach. By exact analogy, one might then argue that we should throw together a shaky peace after this war, lest we fail in making a durable one.

Such fears have their own answer. We shall never reach the best unless we try for it first. We cannot reach it by multiplication of half-measures; we cannot reach it by renouncing it.

Congress would be shirking its duty if it approved any plan for the Missouri Valley until it had looked into the plan which unifies all interests and transcends all other plans. Congress now owes that duty of consideration to the executive branch, by virtue of the President's recent message. Congress owes that duty, too, to the people of the Missouri Valley, who grow sick of bureaucratic bickerings, double-talk, fast footwork and the delaying tactics of selfish interests.

If MVA receives a decent investigation on its own intrinsic merits—if the prototype in the Tennessee Valley is not utterly disregarded—it will be approved by Congress in short order.

◆◆◆

Mr. Dewey seems to feel it's all right to adopt any tactic so long as you make absolutely clear in advance that you're not going to adopt it.

Salute to Gen. Hershey

Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, the Director of Selective Service, gives some remarkable reasons for not commenting on Gov. Dewey's charge that he said "we can keep people in the Army about as cheaply as we could create an agency for them when they were out." Gen. Hershey said he hadn't seen the article quoting him when it was published in Stars and Stripes, that he hadn't heard Dewey on the radio, and that he hadn't had a chance to read Dewey's address.

Gen. Hershey is a lulu. He's even better than the fellow who hadn't registered because he hadn't heard about the draft. We nominate him as the man most likely to be tapped for jury service in 1944, least likely to be a guest on "Information, Please."

Scheufler, Insurance Fronter

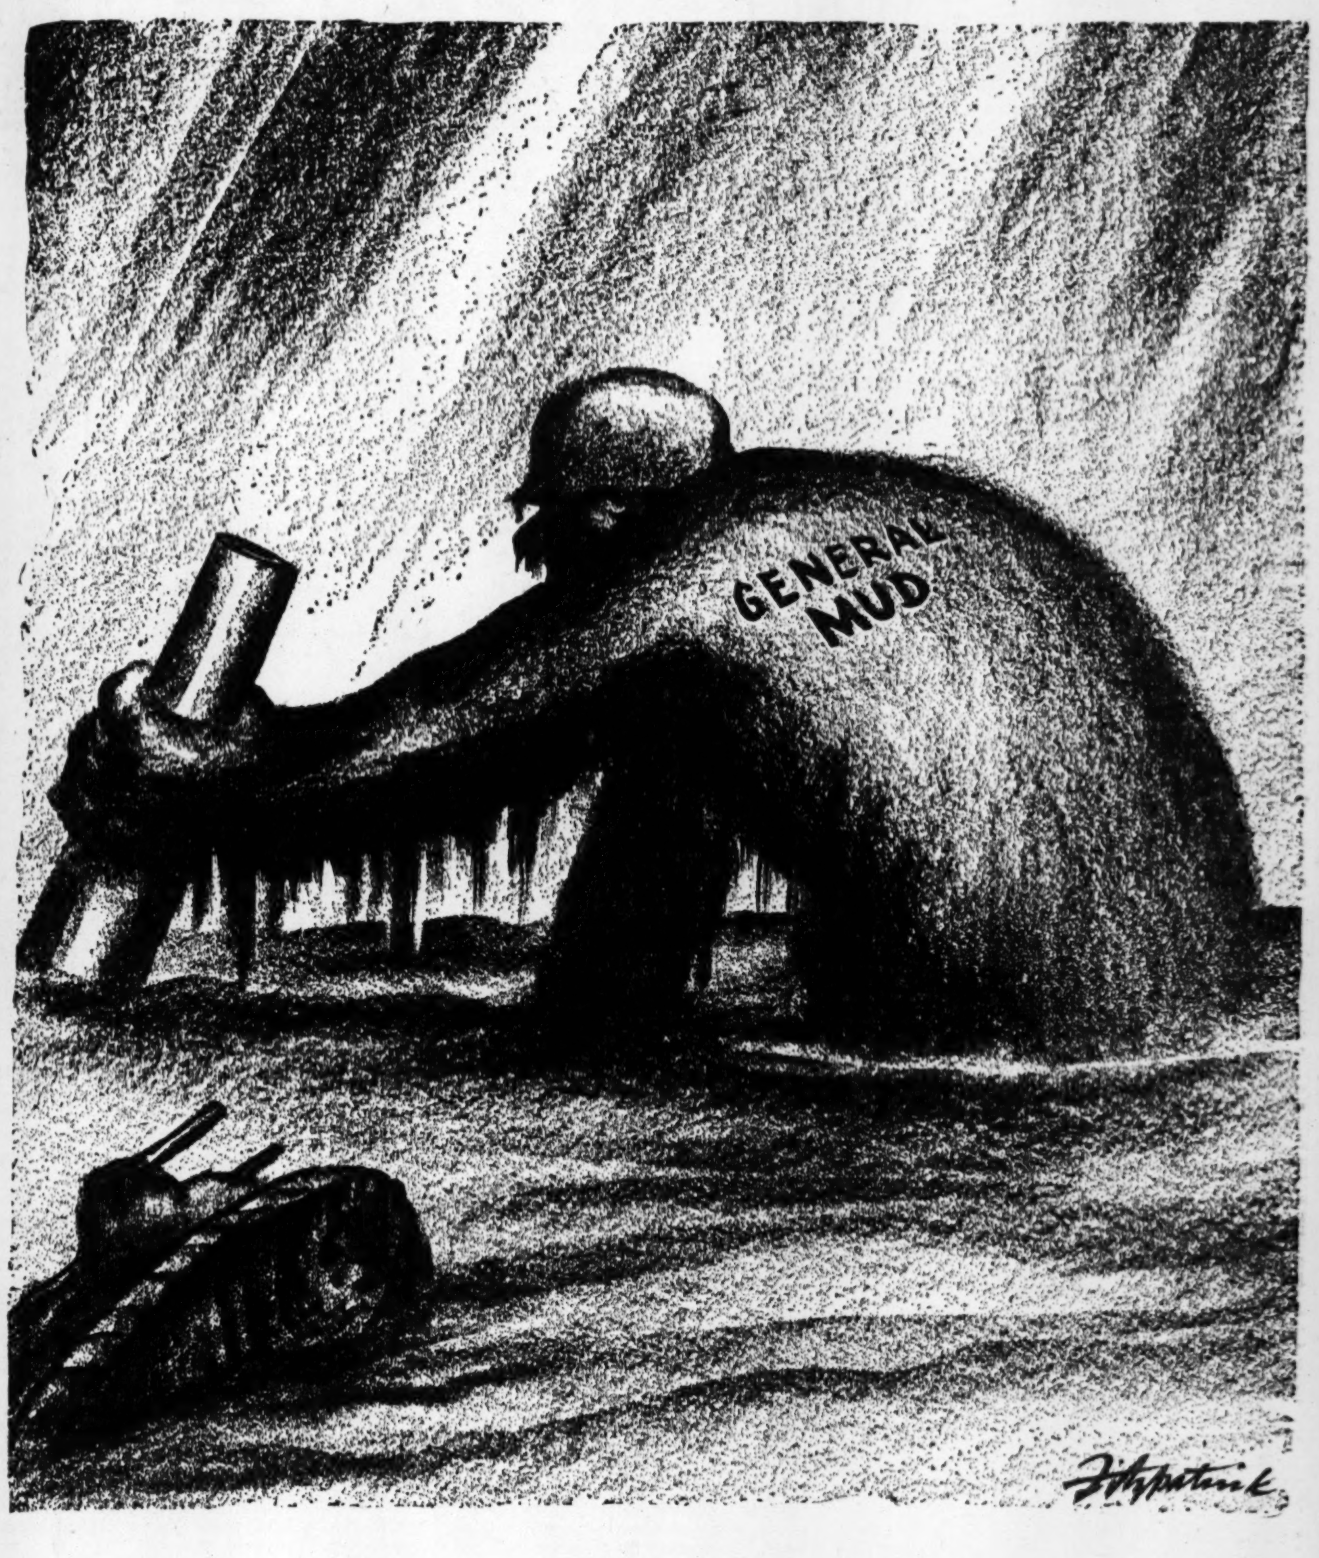
If any Superintendent of Insurance in the country could be expected to know the disastrous results of attempted state regulation of insurance companies without Federal authority as a backstop in time of emergency, it is Missouri's Superintendent of Insurance. The State and the nation have not forgotten the shocking insurance scandal, the "Missouri Compromise," of a few years ago. Nor has it been forgotten how Attorney General McKittrick found himself powerless to prosecute 142 stock fire insurance companies under State law.

Yet Edward L. Scheufler, Missouri's present Superintendent of Insurance, has forgotten these things, or prefers to disregard them. He is continuing his campaign of fronting for the powerful insurance interests that want Congress to grant them immunity from the anti-trust laws. Scheufler has just made an address assailing the United States Supreme Court for its recent insurance decision, and praising state regulation as a "direct antithesis to Federal bureaucracy with monarchial leanings."

Scheufler's performance embarrasses the Attorney General, who has fought long and hard for real regulation. It embarrasses Gov. Donnell, who refused to join 30 other state executives in lobbying for the special-privilege bills now in Congress. More than that, his performance disgraces Missouri, which has good reason to fear the machinations of insurance interests.

◆◆◆

If Mr. Dewey really wants to go to bat in his criticism of the way the war is being run, he might take note of the fact that the Fifth Army in Italy is still 15 miles from Bologna. Mr. Dewey could point out that he came a lot closer to it than that in his speech of Monday evening.



ON HITLER'S SIDE

Danger of a Big-Power Peace

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Signs are for Dumbarton Oaks agreement on setup that cannot stop aggression by leading members, who will rule it, writer says; spheres of influence to prevail, he adds, with no redress for small nations; still time after war for peoples to demand real security.

Louis Fischer, Author of "Men and Politics," in The Nation

For eight or 10 or 12 years after the end of this war, there will be no major war because no country will have the physical and moral strength to launch another world conflict. This is a safe assumption; it is a basic consideration in any discussion of the peace.

To prevent German and Japanese aggression in the future is the first task of the peace settlement. Because of the undermining of German and Japanese might and the overwhelming power of the victorious nations, it is certain to be the easiest task. Far more complicated, and of course no less important, is the business of removing the fundamental causes of war and organizing the world for prolonged peace and prosperity. The Dumbarton Oaks conference and various United Nations commissions have been nibbling at this great problem.

The American Plan

Dumbarton Oaks has served the extremely valuable purpose of revealing the basic ideas of the participating governments on future peace arrangements. Now, at last, we know what we previously suspected.

One fact that emerges from Dumbarton Oaks is more significant than anything that has emerged from any other conference or official statement about the peace settlement. In the New York Times of Aug. 23, James B. Reston wired from Washington that he had "obtained from an unimpeachable source the following digest of the three plans" which the American, British and Soviet governments submitted to the Dumbarton Oaks meeting.

Reston's dispatch quoted from the texts of the official plans. "The American plan," Reston wrote, "stipulates that in order to use force to prevent aggression, the four permanent members (the United, States, Russia, China and Britain) must vote for it unanimously." Further, "Like the British and American plans, the Russian vests the power to prevent and repel aggression in a World Council dominated by the great powers, each with a veto power." These statements have been confirmed by others.

The Veto Danger

What does this mean? It means, unmistakably, that the new world organization could not stop the aggression of its own leading big members. For if the United States, say, committed an act of aggression, it would veto measures against itself; similarly, Great Britain, or Russia or China—or France if admitted later as a great power—could prevent the use of force against itself if it attacked another country.

In other words, the new world organization would probably be in a position to prevent aggression by the defeated Axis powers—unless one great power vetoed measures even against such aggression—but could in no event interfere with American, British, Russian or Chinese aggression.

The postwar plans of the Big Three show clearly that the peace settlement on which the governments are laboring is designed not as a system ot end aggression and war for all time, and not as a structure to solve world problems, but rather as a scheme for dealing with the vanquished. This is necessary, but it is woefully inadequate.

What we are coming to is peace through dictatorship. According to the present streamlined "design," Russia will be the dictator in one large region of the earth, Britain the mistress of another, America the colossus astride a third. (Simultaneously, of course, lip service will be paid to internationalism, and there will even be an international organization with a world court and an assembly of 60 or 70 big and small nations.)

Benevolence Not Enough

The independence of small nations after this war will depend on the benevolence of the big nations. Some countries will be independent in name and colonies in fact.

With de facto recognition of spheres of influence, which translates into political terms the three-power cartel of war-making power, small aggrieved nations will have no means of redress. The monopolistic concentration of strength achieves the same results in the political as in the business field—it crushes the little fellow.

This is why I do not believe that any mechanism or international organization that will now be set up can advance the cause of maintaining peace. Good folks everywhere would put their trust in it and think, wrongly, that humanity was making progress toward the organization of peace and economic well-being.

Some will argue that we should take what little there is in the new league and try to add to it. I see it differently: even if there is no league, maybe even if there were no treaties to keep down the Axis enemy states, there would be no war for 10 years after the end of this one. This interval of peace through exhaustion will be the most decisive in world history; in this period the peace will be won or lost.

Peace Can Still Be Won

During this period, true democrats and internationalists in all countries must carry on a tremendous fight to create the kind of changed world in which alone there can be peace. It will be a great crusade, a crusade to save the peace. The function of free men everywhere will be to guide, organize, and otherwise aid the inevitable world revulsion against the lost peace. A peace though lost can still be won.

The new league will probaby be established, and the United States will probably join it. But it will simply be camouflage for a spheres-of-influence peace. The real battle for the peace begins when the diplomats finish.

ANECDOTE FROM NAZILAND

From the New York Times Magazine.

Behind the backs of the swaggering Nazis, the captive peoples have their little laughs. One of their yarns now running around occupied Europe says that the inhabitants of Paradise, trying to keep tab on the earth, wondered what was really going on inside Germany. Herr Goebbels was such a liar, his broadcasts could not be trusted.

So Methuselah, who had lived 969 years and wasn't likely to be taken in by cock-and-bull tales, was sent down to Berlin to do some first-hand investigating.

He hadn't been gone long before back he came in a hurry.

"I didn't see a thing," he reported. "The day I got there, they were calling up my class for the Army, so I scrammed."

Control of Germany and Japan Through Key Industries Urged

"The Control of Germany and Japan," by Harold G. Moulton and Louis Marlio. (Brookings Institution, Washington.)

There has been a great deal of jabberwocky about destroying the war potential of Germany and Japan so that "never again in our time will the tide of aggression engulf peace-loving nations." Such generalities are indulged in by politicians and pseudo-experts who have a penchant for high-sounding phrases and an aversion to the effort required to reduce their ideas to practical policies.

It is a relief to find a level-headed analysis of exactly what restrictions can reasonably be imposed on the Axis economies. It is written by the president of Brookings Institution, Harold G. Moulton, and a French economist newly added to the Brookings staff.

The problem is to restrict Germany's and Japan's powers of aggression without so interfering with their peacetime industrial life as to force them into depression and unemployment. Consideration for their welfare does not arise out of soft-heartedness, but out of hard-headed practicality. Not only does economic depression give rise to desire for revenge and war, but it has a tendency to spread to neighboring nations and eventually throughout the world.

The idea that Germany may be broken up into several nations is debunked. If the divisions are only politically independent, while economically unified, nothing has been accomplished. If they are forced into economic dependence, the industrial areas will be unable to support their populations and the agricultural areas will be reduced to chronic depression for lack of markets. Similar criticisms apply to attempts to obliterate German industry and reduce the nation to an agricultural economy.

The only practical method of limiting Germany's economic war potential, the writers say, is by control of certain "key industries." Restrictions on various industries are considered and discarded because their imposition would cause unemployment or would be unenforceable. But certain controls are believed within reason. Suppression of aluminum ingot production, prohibition of synthetic oil plants, control of the electric power industry, prohibition of commercial, military and even private aviation are held necessary and possible.

But control of the "key industries" of the aggressor nations is not enough in itself, and is useful only as a supplement to military controls. Here the authors leave the field of economics and wander into the morass of politics. Their suggestion is the familiar one of an international police force (or army) to impose coercion against governments and nations. This issue has been more ably discussed in other works by men better qualified on the subject.

RICHARD M. WEISS.

Timely Novel of a Greman Worker

In "The Cross and the Arrow" (Little, Brown), Albert Maltz tells a dramatic, thought-provoking story. He portrays the efforts of a bewildered and frustrated German war worker to determine the responsibility of the German people, as individuals, in their support and sanction of Hitler's criminal war acts.

After the worker realizes that he and all Germans are at least guilty of countenancing bestial atrocities, and that Germany must be defeated in order to restore the moral dignity and conscience of its citizens, he commits an act of sabotage intended to hasten his country's defeat.

Ruin and Reconstruction in Germany

IN discussing what should be the Allied policy toward German industry after disarmament, many of us assume that there will be left a powerful and workable German economic system.

Reasoning from this premise, some say we must weaken the German war potential by dismantling many of the heavy industries, and others say that they should be conserved in order that the German people may earn a living and also in order that they may pay reparations.

Before we argue about theories, let us realize the conditions that will exist. Almost certainly, it seems to me, we shall find that the German economy is a ruin. We shall, therefore, find that the main question of Allied policy is going to be, not whether we should ruin it still more or should not ruin it, but how we should permit, and even assist, a radical reorganization and reconstruction of the elements and character of the German economy.

The basic fact is that after this war there will not be any such thing as a healthy, normal, German civilian economy. For there was none before the war. There has been none since the last war. If ever there is to be one, it will have to be planned anew and then created and developed.

Economy Chronically Ill.

How do we know this? We know it from what happened between 1919 and 1939—namely, that after the First World War, Germany never achieved a workable civilian economy.

During the 20 years of peace, Germany was kept from an economic collapse first by foreign loans, which turned out to be grants-in-aid, and when these dried up, by Hitler's armament program.

The German economy is such that it has been able to provide adequate employment only when it received enormous subsidies from the Allied peoples, or when it was used by Hitler as a war-making machine. Forbidden to rearm and without subsidies from us, the present German economic structure will be incapable of employing the civilian population.

In the winter of 1932-33, when Hitler came to power, there were six million registered unemployed—nearly one-third of the whole working population. Hitler cured this unemployment. Whereas the Weimar Republic had solved unemployment by receiving foreign loans, which were not repayable and were therefore gifts, Hitler cured unemployment by his armament program.

By 1938, as the arming of Germany was approaching its peak, and Hitler was ready for war, there were only 164,000 registered unemployed in Germany.

In Still Worse Condition.

As a matter of fact, the German economic system which will come out of this war will be still more desperately unsuited to civilian uses. It was unsuitable enough before Hitler, but now it has been still more radically altered.

Capital investment under Hitler has been according to the principle of "guns rather than butter," which means that millions of Germans are employed in industries that are wholly uneconomic in civilian life and designed only for war.

This means not only the whole German industrial plant devoted to the air force, the submarine force, to ordnance and the like. It means also the industrial plant devoted at great cost to making Germany immune to blockade—the plant devoted to such things as synthetic rubber and synthetic fuel, as well as the metallurgical plant which in many branches will be altogether excessive for any civilian use. What we call in this country "reconversion" will in Germany have to be a radical reconstruction.

Under any conditions of peace, the Germans face the gigantic problem of transforming their economy so that it is capable of civilian use. If nothing were demanded of them but they may not rearm, they would still find themselves with an industrial system which cannot provide enough employment to maintain an acceptable though low standard of life.

Huge Damage in War.

Even this system, unworkable though it is, will be enormously damaged by the bombing, and now by the ground fighting which will reduce to rubble much of the transport, the electrical power and many of the chief cities.

If this is a correct preview, and I do not think it can be questioned seriously, then we do not need to debate how much more it is desirable to ruin a ruin.

The economic house which the Germans inhabit is ruined and is unfit for civilian occupancy, and will have to be redesigned and rebuilt. By debating whether we should ruin it further or let it alone, we shall mislead the Germans and ourselves.

The very fact that we debate it, that Cabinet officers are said to be taking sides about it, will place upon us the onus of a catastrophe which will happen anyway because it is the direct consequence of Germany's having prepared for and lost two wars of aggression.

What we have to discuss is how we shall permit, and how we shall assist, the Germans to redesign and rebuild their economy. This is the real problem of Allied policy.

A New Start Necessary.

Without permission and, almost certainly, without economic assistance, the German economy cannot be converted to civilian use. If it is not successfully converted, the German population will sink to a level of misery and disease where it will be a fearful menace to the peace and social health of mankind.

We shall have, therefore, to decide among the Allies how Germans are to be permitted to refashion their economy, and how we will assist the Germans who offer plans we can approve. This will be the main method by which the Allies can control German economic development over the longer term, and can most surely guide its development constructively.

We shall be without a policy if we waste our energy now disputing over the false premise that Germany will be a going concern which, if we want a "hard" peace, we shall wreck, if we want a "soft" peace, we shall tolerate. For our real problem will be what to do about the economic wreck which post-Hitler Germany will certainly be.

The Campaign Cross-Fire Is On

THE political campaign this year is paralleling in a striking way the campaign of four years ago. The chief difference is that this time the slugging has begun much earlier.

Wendell Willkie made the same charge that Gov. Dewey is making—that Roosevelt had failed to prepare the country for the peril of war, which then seemed imminent. And the President replied with the same cry of "falsification."

In 1940, it was not until almost the end of the campaign that F. D. R. opened up. He seemed to feel then a greater confidence than he feels today. Willkie, a newcomer in politics, had rushed into his campaign like the well-known bull in the china shop, with resultant crashes and crises on every hand.

Sitting in the White House alone with a friend one night, Roosevelt analyzed Willkie's mistakes. It was the old maestro discussing, with an air of tolerant condescension, the mistakes of the amateur.

His Analysis of Willkie.

"Willkie is talking too much," the President said. "What you want to do is to strike a chord. Then you wait. Then you strike the same chord again. You use a limited number of notes, but you make those known and understood."

Dewey this time may be making other mistakes, but he has not thus far repeated the Willkie error of talking too much. In fact, he seems to have taken a leaf out of Roosevelt's book with his continuing emphasis on a few themes.

The most effective repetition is Dewey's "It's time for a change." Slogans like that stick in the public mind where more complicated discussion seldom lodges.

Men around the President are urging him to repeat whole passages of the speech he made at Madison Square Garden on Oct. 29, 1940. In that address, he replied to the Republican charge that he had not prepared the country's defense. He went further, however, and carried the attack into the Republican camp.

"The printed pages of the Congressional Record cannot be changed or suppressed at election time," the President said. "And based on that permanent record of their speeches and their votes, I make this assertion—that if the Republican leaders had been in control of the Congress of the United States during the past seven years, the important measures for our defense would not now be law, and that the Army and Navy of the United States would still be in almost the same condition in which I found them in 1933."

The President will undoubtedly say something like that before he signs off. And the record on Republican votes supports him.

The fact is, of course, that many in both parties showed a mulish reluctance to face realities. Continuation of the draft passed the House in the fall of 1941 by a margin of only one vote. On balance, however, more Democrats than Republicans went along with the measures proposed by the President.

Truth Is Elusive.

Truth in any presidential year is a harried, hunted creature, given shelter only by those privileged to stand outside the battle lines. That's a good thing to remember in this particular year, when so much would seem to depend on at least a kind of unity.

It is Willkie's privilege in 1944 to speak his mind without political reservations. In an article in Collier's, he denounced both parties for their cowardice on foreign policy in their respective Chicago platforms. Now, in a second one soon to be released, he takes up the stand of the two parties on the Negro question.

Willkie is still in a New York hospital recovering from complete physical and nervous exhaustion. The prospect is that he will be there throughout the campaign, although he is in periodic rebellion against the orders of his doctor.

Wherever the credit should go, and only history can decide that, we are winning this war. This is something to remember, too, as the campaign cross-fire rages on.

Casualties From St. Louis Area

FATHER STEPHEN KENDRICK, RETIRED CHAPLAIN, DIES

The Rev. Stephen Kendrick, C. P., until retirement several year ago chaplain at Immaculate Heart Convent, 7600 Natural Bridge road and former superior at the Louisville, Ky., monastery of the Passionist Fathers, died last night of infirmities of age at St. John's Hospital. He was 70 years old and had been in the hospital for a month.

Father Kendrick, who was born in Monroe City, Mo., was ordained in Rome in 1905. He served as pastor of St. Ann's Church, Normandy, about 25 years ago and later was a superior of monasteries in various cities. He was at Louisville from 1932 through 1938 going there from the monastery at Cincinnati where he was stationed for six years. Surviving are three brothers, all of Monroe City.

Funeral services will be Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at the Passionist Preparatory Seminary Chapel, 7107 Natural Bridge road, with burial in the seminary cemetery.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

MISS MARY LAWTON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stewart Lawton, 9550 Bonhomme road, Clayton, and Lt. John D. Rigby, a naval aviator, will be married late next week, the date depending on the prospective bridegroom's orders. The son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Rigby of Quincy, Mass., he is based at St. Simon Island, Ga. The ceremony at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon at the Lawton home will be followed by a reception.

A series of pre-wedding parties began yesterday when Miss Arleen Niedt and Miss Lulie Englesmann were hostesses at a luncheon at the home of Miss Niedt's mother, Mrs. Edwin R. Meyer, of the Congress Hotel. This afternoon Mrs. James P. Kennedy (Carolyn Abrams) gave a luncheon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Abrams of Spoede road. A dinner and bridge party will be given Friday night by Miss Ruth Morse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Morse, at their home, 1 Glen Forest. Miss Inez Schlueter will be hostess at a luncheon Tuesday afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford A. Schlueter, 6 Fox Run lane. Wednesday afternoon a luncheon will be given at Fairfax House at which Mrs. Andrew H. Baur (Florence Noland) of Longview Farm, Clayton road, will be hostess. The rehearsal dinner will be given by Mrs. Arnold R. Wadum, the former Miss Mary Manassa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Manassa, 427 Yorkshire avenue, Webster Groves. Mrs. Wadum just arrived in St. Louis from Duluth, Minn., where she has been with her husband, Lt. (jg.) Wadum, who is stationed there with the Coast Guard.

A graduate of Mary Institute, Miss Lawton attended Bennett Junior College, Millbrook, N. Y., and St. Louis School of Fine Arts at Washington University.

The bridegroom's parents and his sister, Miss Joan Rigby, will come to St. Louis for the marriage. Lt. Rigby was graduated from Harvard College.

* * *

Lt. and Mrs. Peter Otway Smithers will arrive in St. Louis Saturday night from Mexico City. Sunday Lt. Smithers, Assistant Naval Attache at the British legations in Mexico and Central America, will depart for Washington, D. C. Mrs. Smithers will visit her mother, Mrs. Thomas M. Sayman, 5399 Lindell boulevard.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. William McGuire of Bogalusa, La., will arrive tomorrow night to visit Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Moon, 7 Beverly place, for several days. Mr. and Mrs. McGuire, formerly of Chicago, will be informally entertained during their short stay.

THE wedding of Miss Nancy Bakewell and First Lt. William John Lawton will take place at 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, Oct. 5, at St. Louis Cathedral rectory. The Rev. Thomas M. Knapp, S. J., will perform the ceremony. Plans are being made hurriedly because the bridegroom, now stationed in the office of the Field Director of Ammunition Plants, 3629 Lindell boulevard, has been transferred to the Ordnance Depot, Marshall, Tex., where he will take his bride to live. They will spend their honeymoon in French Lick Springs, Ind.

After the ceremony, which will be attended only by the families and a few close friends, the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lilburn Bakewell, will entertain the small group of guests at an informal reception at their apartment in the Netherby, 4540 Lindell boulevard.

Miss Joan Bakewell will be her sister's maid of honor, and their brother-in-law, John Christopher Muckerman II, will be best man.

Lt. Lawton is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Lawton of Indian River Park, Hampton, Va., who will be unable to come to St. Louis for the marriage. His brother, Lt. Frank B. Lawton Jr., is serving with the Army Ordnance department overseas.

Mr. and Mrs. Bakewell have just returned from Woodstock, Md., where they spent a few days with their son, Anderson Bakewell, S. J., a student at the Jesuit College there.

* * *

Lt. and Mrs. Stuart MacMillan Skinner are expected to arrive in St. Louis today to visit their respective parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rumsey Skinner, 415 East Argonne drive, Kirkwood, and Mr. and Mrs. John Shepley Lionberger, 123 North Central avenue, Clayton. Mrs. Skinner is the former Miss Margaret Clarkson Lionberger.

Lt. Skinner received his commission last Thursday at Yale University as an engineering officer of the Army Air Forces and before coming to St. Louis he and Mrs. Skinner spent a few days at Long Beach, N. J., with his brother and sister-in-law, Lt. and Mrs. David Skinner. After a brief stay here he expects to go to Wright Field, Dayton, O., for further duty. His wife will follow him shortly after he obtains living quarters.

* * *

Mrs. Douglas W. Robert will return Sunday to her home, 5592 Waterman avenue, after spending the summer in the East. She divided her time between her daughters, Mrs. John W. Andrews, in Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Robert Forsythe Young in Williamstown, Mass.

WAVES TO SERVE OVERSEAS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP). —President Roosevelt today approved a bill to permit Waves, women Marines and Spars to serve outside the United States on a volunteer basis.

TEXT OF CHURCHILL SPEECH ON ALLIES' PROGRESS IN WAR

Air Blows at Japan.

One must also certainly contemplate that a phase in the war against Japan will be the severe, intense, prolonged and ever-increasing air bombardment to which the Japanese mainland installations and munitions centers will be subjected. In this also we shall bear our part to the utmost limit which the bases will allow.

As for the land or amphibious operations which the British empire will conduct, these must rightly be veiled in mystery. Suffice it to say, that the scale of our effort will be limited only by the available shipping.

I must, however, add a word of caution against taking too optimistic a view of the speed at which these great transferences of forces can be made from one side of the world to the other.

The House may rest assured that the entire brain and technical power of Britain and the United States will be ceaselessly employed and, having regard to the results which have already been obtained in so many directions, one may feel good confidence that it will not be employed in vain.

(At this point Churchill called for an interlude for lunch.)

Alliance Effective.

Never was the alliance against Germany of the three great powers more close or more effective. Divergencies of views and interests there must necessarily be, but at no time have these been allowed to affect in any way the majestic march of events in accordance with the agreements and decisions at Tehran.

The armistice terms agreed upon with Finland and Romania bear naturally the impress of the Soviet will and here I must draw attention to the restrant which has characterized the Soviet terms to these two countries. (Bulgarians) may want to be treated as cobelligerent. So far as Great Britain is concerned, they must work their passage for a long time and in no uncertain fashion before we can accord them an especial status in view of the injuries our Allies in Greece and Yugoslavia have sustained at their hands.

It would be affectation to pretend that the attitude of the British Government and, I believe, of the United States Government towards Poland is identical with that of the Soviet Union. We have sentiments and duties towards Poland which deeply stir the British race. I trust that the Soviet Government will make it possible for us to act unitedly with them in this solution of the Polish problems and that we shall not witness the unhappy spectacle of rival governments in Poland, one recognized by the Soviet Union and the other firmly adhered to by the Western powers. I have good hopes of M. Mikolayczyk. It is my firm hope and also my belief that a good arrangement will be achieved.

We recognize our special responsibility toward Poland and I am confident that I can trust the House not to encourage any language which would make our task the harder. . . .

Attitude of Italians.

What impressed me and touched me most in my journeys in Italy was the extraordinary good will to British and American troops everywhere displayed by the Italian people. . . . Obviously no final settlement can be made with them until the north of Italy has been liberated and the basis on which the present government stands has been broadened and strengthened. . . .

For my part I have always felt that the heart of the French nation was sound and true and that they would rise again in their greatness and power. . . .

It would now seem possible to put into force the decree of the Algiers Committee whereby at an interim stage the legislative assembly would be transformed into an elected body reinforced by the addition of new elements drawn from inside France. . . . It would render possible that recognition of the provisional government of France and the consequences thereof which we all desire to bring about at the earliest moment. . . .

(At Dumbarton Oaks) the whole scene has been explored and many difficulties have been not merely discovered but adjusted. There are, however, still some important outstanding questions and we ought not to be hurried into decisions upon which united opinion by the various governments responsible is not at present ripe. It would not be prudent to press in a hurry for momentous decisions governing the whole future of the world. . . .

On U. S. Elections.

There is another warning I would venture to give to the House and that is not to be startled or carried away by sensational reports and stories which emanate from the other side of the Atlantic. There is an election on and very vivid accounts of all kinds of matters are given by people who cannot possibly have any knowledge of what has taken place at secret conferences.

The United States is a land of free speech. Nowhere is speech freer. Not even here where we sedulously cultivate it even in its most repulsive form. But when I see some of the accounts given of conversations I am supposed to have had with the President of the United States I can only recall a Balfourian phrase of many years ago when he said that the accounts which were given bore no more relation to the actual facts than the wildest tales of the Arabian nights to the ordinary incidents of domestic life in the East.

Everything depends upon the agreement of the three leading European powers and world powers. I do not think a satisfactory agreement will be reached—unless there is an agreement nothing can be satisfactory—until there has been a further meeting of the three heads of governments, assisted as may be necessary by their foreign secretaries.

I earnestly hope it may be possible to bring about such a meeting before the end of the year. There are great difficulties, but I earnestly hope they may be overcome.

Talks at Quebec.

The fact that the President and I have been so closely brought together at the Quebec conference and have been able to discuss so many matters bearing upon the course of the war and of the measures to be taken after the German surrender and also for a broad future, this fact makes it all the more necessary that our third partner, Marshal Stalin, who has of course been kept informed, should join us in a tripartite conference as soon as the military situation renders this possible.

The future of the whole world and generally the future of Europe perhaps for several generations depends upon the cordial, trustful and comprehending association of the British Empire, the United States and Soviet Russia, and no pains must be spared and no patience grudged which are necessary to bring that supreme hope to fruition. . . .

Whatever may be settled in the near future must be regarded as only a preliminary to the actual establishment in its final form of the future world organization. . . .

It is right to make surveys and preparations beforehand and many have been made and are being made, but great decisions cannot be taken even for the transition period without far closer, calmer and more searching discussions than can be held amid the clash of arms. . . . I am sure this is not the time for taking hard and fast, momentous decision on incomplete data and at breakneck speed. Hasty work and premature decisions may lead to penalties out of all proportion to the issues immediately involved. . . .

I have sedulously avoided the appearance of any one country trying to lay down the law to its

"LITTLE BOY" WITH TROUBLED DREAMS

There he lies. One of the legion of those who wear the Purple Heart. He carried with him the high spirit of patriotism and adventure. He wanted to be in the thick of it. And he was . . . on D Day. With medical science to help him—with comfort and care—he will soon be on the road to recovery. But, in the meantime . . .

Into his fitful sleep come flaming pictures. He twitches, mutters incoherently. He is a little boy again. A little boy with troubled dreams. Wouldn't you be proud to comfort him with soft words . . . to lay a cool hand on his feverish cheeks?

Yes . . . proud! Proud that you are blessed with a woman's quick sympathy and understanding. Proud that you can help him in a way beyond all medical science. And there are so many of him. So many wearers of the Purple Heart who will be returning long after victory is ours.

That is why you are needed . . . needed so much . . . right now. Needed to aid and comfort these men—these boys with troubled dreams. Needed to guide them back to a normal life. To help minds to think clearly . . . eyes to see . . . crippled hands and limbs to resume the tasks for which they were intended. Don't wait. Join the proud army of WACS today.

powerful allies or any of the other states involved. I hope, however, that I have given the House some impression of the heavy and critical work that is going forward and will lie before us even after the downfall of our principal enemy has been effected.

I trust that what I have said will be weighed with care and good will not only in the House and in this country but also in far wider circles.

FRANCE SEIZES COAL MINES AND RENAULT MOTOR WORKS

PARIS, Sept. 28 (AP).—Seizure by Gen. Charles de Gaulle's Government of Pas de Calais and Nord Department coal mines and of the Renault motor works in Paris represents the first step in a Government policy, according to Minister of Information Pierre Tietgen.

That policy apparently aims at nationalization of French enterprises. The seizure of the coal mines and the profitable Renault works came after a Cabinet session yesterday.

The Government intends to operate the mines, which before the war yielded big profits, reserving the rights of the owners for the time being. In the case of the Renault firm, the profits will be in sequestration. Louis Renault was arrested four days ago in a roundup of persons suspected of collaborating with the Germans.

AMERICANS IN JAP HANDS REACH TOTAL OF 29,250

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP).—The American Red Cross announced yesterday that the number of Americans held by the Japanese has reached 29,250. It said that 19,934 of them were prisoners of war and the remainder civilians.

Basil O'Connor, chairman of the organization, said that the prisoners have received no shipments from America in bulk since the last trip of the Swedish exchange liner Gripsholm in September, 1943.

He said that American and Australian representatives were meeting in Washington to try to arrange shipments to nationals of both countries in Japanese-held territory.

DONNELL TO TALK TOMORROW NIGHT IN UNIVERSITY CITY

Gov. Forrest C. Donnell, Republican nominee for United States Senator, will deliver his first campaign speech in the metropolitan area since the primary, at 9 o'clock tomorrow night at a Clayton Township Republican organization meeting in University City Library, 630 Trinity avenue.

He also will speak, if arrangements can be completed, at a meeting of the Fifteenth Ward Regular Republican Organization at Liederkranz Hall, Grand boulevard and Flad avenue, tomorrow night. Other speakers announced for this gathering include James G. Blaine, nominee for Lieutenant Governor, and W. T. O. Hart, nominee for Circuit Attorney.

Donnell also is on the program for a greeting at the opening of a Missouri State Bar Association convention at the De Soto Hotel tomorrow morning.

ARMY SETS UP AIR LINE PASSING OVER JAP BASES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP).—An air transport link between the Marianas and Admiralty islands in the Pacific—over the heart of the Japanese-held Carolines—has been established by the Seventh Army Air Force and has been used to transport passengers and high-priority freight.

A statement from the War Department yesterday said four C-47 Skytrain transports had made a 2000-mile pioneer flight in late August, and that since then other flights have been made. The new route links the forward areas of the central and southwest Pacific theaters.

The pioneer flight was led by Maj. Thomas B. Bramlett of Roanoke, Ala. One-fourth of the trip had to be made on instruments because of adverse weather.

JULIA CAVE RULE FUNERAL; WIDOW OF REALTY PARTNER

Funeral services for Mrs. Julia Cave Rule, former St. Louisan, who died Monday of heart disease in Washington, D. C., will be at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow at Louisiana, Mo., with burial there. She was 71 years old.

Mrs. Rule, who had lived in Coronado, Cal., for the last 25 years, died while visiting a daughter, Miss Mary Rule. She was the widow of A. O. Rule, partner in the McCormick, Kilgen, Rule Real Estate Co. Her father was the late Rev. R. C. Cave, pastor of the Nonsectarian Church at Vandeventer avenue and Lindell boulevard.

Surviving, besides Miss Mary Rule, are: three brothers, former Circuit Judge Rhodes E. Cave; Edward P. Cave, president of Ely & Walker Dry Goods Co., and W. D. Cave, Springfield, Ill.; three sons, Capt. A. O. Rule Jr., U. S. N.; Rhodes Elmore Rule and John C. Rule; and two daughters, Mrs. Sue Brandley, Coronado, Cal., and Miss Frances Rule, New York.

SOUTH SEA JARGON AMUSING TO FLYER

Overland Man Who Crashed on Island Tells of Confusing Dialogue With Natives.

Lt. James F. Mattox Jr., 9517 Muriel avenue, Overland, home on leave after a year of combat service in the South Pacific as pilot of a B-25 Mitchell medium bomber, found the pidgin English of the South Sea islanders very confusing and—in retrospect—highly amusing.

Out of fuel after encountering bad flying weather while on a shipping prowl north of the Solomons, Lt. Mattox was forced to make a crash landing. Having selected a lagoon in the middle of a large island as a landing place, he signaled the crew members to bail out and then stayed with the ship until it hit.

Three minutes elapsed before the plane sank—time enough to salvage emergency rations and to inflate the life raft. Natives on shore, having witnessed seven crash landings before, knew exactly what to do. "Me takem you tepee," they said, "tepee" being their chief, Tauponci.

The flyers wanted to know whether there were any white men on the island. "Nine," said the natives. Asked where the white men were, they insisted there were none. Only after this puzzling dialogue had gone on for a good part of the afternoon was it clear that "nine" or "nein" meant "none."

A basis for understanding was achieved in the evening when the visitors joined the islanders in singing "God Save the King" and "Onward, Christian Soldiers." Pronunciations which were unintelligible could be made out, it was found, if the words were reduced to writing. Bibles were plentiful, and in most of them all the long words were underscored. Their owners insisted on asking what all of these words meant. "That was rough," said Lt. Mattox.

Diving from outrigger canoes into 20 feet of water to reach the plane, the natives salvaged nearly everything that was movable. On the fourth day the emergency radio in its waterproof case was brought up.

The flyers lost little time inflating the balloon which sent their emergency aerial a hundred feet into the air and in putting their apparatus to work. Taking turns, they cranked away at the radio sender almost continuously for three days. Having no receiving set, they could not be sure they would be heard, but the flickering indicator light seemed to promise that the SOS signal, automatically sent when the crank was turned, was going out.

On the fourth day, eight days after the landing, just as the aerial had short-circuited in the water because the hydrogen in the balloon had given out, a patrol bomber landed in the lagoon. The signal, too weak to reach the bomber base 150 miles away, had been picked up the day before by a destroyer.

The South Sea people are learning rapidly. Grass skirts, which were at first obtainable for almost any kind of trinket, have now reached a rather stable ceiling price of a "dollah," Lt. Mattox said.

SECURITY TALKS WITH RUSSIA END, 2 POINTS AT ISSUE

sentatives of China begin the separate discussions made necessary by Russia's peaceful relations with Japan.

Some means undoubtedly have been found for keeping the Chinese contingent aware of what has transpired at Dumbarton Oaks. And also the Chinese plan for world security, in document form, has been in the hands of all the conferees for some weeks. As a result, the talks with China should be briefer than those with Russia. Much of the controversial material has been cleared and within a relatively few days, the conversations should be ended.

The governments of the four major powers have been fully informed of the progress made at the conference. Consent on delicate issues had been received befor the Dumbarton Oaks agreement was concluded. It should not be many weeks until the full United Nations meeting can be held. Secretary of State Hull is known to be anxious that this historic gathering should follow closely on the heels of the Dumbarton Oaks sessions. It is unlikely, however, that such a momentous assembly will be called before the second week in November.

DEWEY AUTOGRAPHS BY MAIL

BELLEFONTAINE, O., Sept. 28 (AP).—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey invited disappointed autograph seekers here yesterday to write him at Albany.

"You will get an autograph with the state seal of New York on it," he said, "so you will know it's genuine." He explained he did not have time at the various station stops to accommodate all requests.

MAN FINED $100, SENTENCED ON LIQUOR AND PRICE CHARGES

James I. Smith, Negro chauffeur, was fined $100 and given suspended sentences totaling 90 days today when he pleaded guilty of selling liquor without a license and above the ceiling price while working part-time as a waiter at the 400 Club, 3631 Grandel square.

C. Oscar Lamy of 1 Forest Ridge drive, Clayton, by whom Smith has been employed regularly for 18 years, appeared in court and paid Smith's fine. Lamy's employment of Smith had no connection with Smith's night-club work. Smith lives with his wife and three children at 4017A Evans avenue.

32 JAP VESSELS SUNK BY BRITISH SUBMARINES

LONDON, Sept. 28 (AP).—British submarines have sunk 32 enemy vessels in Far Eastern waters recently and have damaged four others by torpedoes or gunfire, the Admiralty announced today.

The vessels sunk ranged from small coastal craft to medium sized supply ships, the announcement said.

During the operations the British raiders penetrated into Sunda Strait between Java and Sumatra, attacked shipping lanes along the coasts of both islands and even ventured into Port Owen on the southern coast of Burma, where two gunboats were sunk at anchor.

Oil tanks on Christmas Island off the south coast of Java also were bombarded.

WALLACE SAYS U. S. NEEDS F. D. R. AT PEACE TABLE

Asserts Churchill and Stalin Will Be There 'and We Need Somebody to Represent Us.'

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28 (AP).—Vice President Wallace moved on to Atlantic City, N. J., today after a one-day speaking tour of Philadelphia where he called for re-election of President Roosevelt so "we shall continue to move forward in the busy, bright days which lie ahead."

He said in a radio address that the "big job" in postwar employment "must be done by industry and we must give industry all the incentive we can."

Wallace asserted "the Governor of a neighboring state (referring to Thomas E. Dewey) said the passage of lend-lease . . . would mean the end of free government in America. The Governor of your neighboring state now has nice things to say about lend-lease and about almost every accomplishment of this administration."

Wallace said America may be "compelled to go into a public works program before private industry is fully reconverted to peace" but "we must never allow the days of Hoover to return."

"We need planning for the peace. We need leadership in the peace. Winston Churchill and Joseph Stalin will be at the peace table and we need somebody to represent us. We need Franklin D. Roosevelt," he said.

Recalling his statement at the Democratic national convention that "if the Democratic party is to survive it must continue to be a liberal party," Wallace declared, "We must continue without ceasing our fight for the liberal cause."

"We are against a soft labor market. We know that many people in America deserve a higher living standard. For those people we want not lower wages but better wages."

Earlier, Wallace told thousands of shipyard workers "unemployment will be with us more continuously than any other enemy," and urged voters to place self-preservation above partisanship in electing the party they considered best able to provide postwar employment.

With President Roosevelt's "background, experience, heart and imagination, you will more likely get jobs under Roosevelt and the Democratic party than under the Republican party," he asserted.

REHEARING DENIED BRIDGES

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 28 (AP).—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday denied a rehearing to Harry Bridges, West coast labor leader, under order of deportation to Australia who seeks to remain in this country by habeas corpus proceedings.

The action clears the way for Bridges' attorneys to carry the case to the United States Supreme Court.

ARE NOT TOO FREE WITH FREE SPEECH

Since our republic was founded, no privilege has been guarded more jealously than the right to talk things over—a right for which men had fought in vain for centuries. The more viewpoints discussed, the clearer our national vision and the stronger our national unity.

Today, public opinion in America asks us all to protect our privilege. It warns us against spreading rumors thoughtlessly or circulating information helpful to the enemy. It urges us to challenge the person with "inside information on the war" by asking him, "Where did you get your facts?" It reminds us that the enemy lays important plans by piecing together little scraps of offhand information. There is no such thing as unimportant gossip.

* * *

In addition to supplying the armed forces with glider and bomber fuselage frames, wing parts, gun turret parts and foodstuffs, Anheuser-Busch produces materials which go into the manufacture of: Rubber • Aluminum • Munitions • Medicines • B Complex Vitamins • Hospital Diets • Baby Foods • Bread and other Bakery products Vitamin-fortified cattle feeds • Batteries • Paper • Soap and Textiles—to name a few.

When a product maintains the character that people respect, they are quick to demand it. Generations ago, the makers of Budweiser set a standard—distinctive in taste, pure, good and distinguished for its uniform quality. That's why people everywhere have agreed that Budweiser is "something more than beer". No wonder it is the most popular beer in history.

GASOLINE SALES CURFEW IS PERMANENTLY ENJOINED

A permanent injunction to prevent the city from enforcing the gasoline sales curfew law enacted in July, 1942, was issued yesterday by Circuit Judge James E. McLaughlin. A temporary writ was issued by the Judge last Dec. 30.

The ordinance was contested by 33 deaelrs as unconstitutional. It requires that filling stations be closed by 7 p. m. on week days, 9 p. m. on Saturdays and 1 p. m. on Sundays. Several dealers were arrested before the issuance of the temporary order.

2 PLAIN WASHING MEANS TOO MUCH OF THIS: You do lots more rubbing if you try to get soiled spots white without a bleach. That's hard on fabrics.

3 WITH PUREX YOU CAN AVOID BOTH DANGERS—HAVE LINENS AND COTTONS LAST LONGEST. Purex is the only bleach made by the Intrafil Process. You get the same bleaching action from every bottle. This Controlled Action spells safety! You can't overbleach with Purex when you follow directions. Linens come out beautifully white—and they last.

MAGIC NEW WAY TO KEEP HANDS SOFT AND WHITE WHILE YOU WORK

1. Smooth O-Cedar Hand Guard over hands, around cuticle, under nails. Rub it in until skin is absolutely dry.

2. Do Any Dirty Job without worrying about grime or grease grinding into your skin. Hand Guard keeps hands clean under dirt.

3. After Work moisten hands in clear water, work Hand Guard into a lather . . . then rinse off the dirt.

4. Hands Will Be Soft, White . . . no dirt pockets, no harsh soaps to irritate and dry your skin.

NOW GRIME AND GREASE CAN'T PENETRATE YOUR SKIN

O-Cedar Hand Guard forms an invisible film over hands, nails, cuticle—keeps grime, grease, paints and oils from grinding in! And Hand Guard washes off in clear water. Without harsh soaps, hard scrubbing! No wonder hands stay lovely with Hand Guard.

DR. M'MAHON HONORED BY MEDICAL SOCIETY

Mississippi Valley Group Presents Award for Naval and Civilian Service.

Capt. Alphonse McMahon, St. Louis physician serving with the Navy, received the Mississippi Valley Medical Society 1944 Distinguished Service Award at the annual meeting of the society last night in Peoria, Ill.

The award, consisting of a gold medal and certificate, was presented by Dr. C. Paul White, Kewanee, Ill., president of the society, and was based partly on Capt. McMahon's record during 18 months of service at a base hospital in the South Pacific.

The citation follows:

"To Capt. Alphonse McMahon of St. Louis, Medical Corps, United States Navy, for his long service as a teacher of clinical medicine at St. Louis University Medical School; for his continuous interest in postgraduate medical education in recognition of which he was elected vice president of the American Medical Association and president of the St. Louis Medical Society a few years ago, and for his fine example as a citizen of the United States, by leaving a lucrative private practice promptly upon declaration of World War II and entering the Navy although over the draft age.

"Here he spent 18 months in the South Pacific in the establishment of one of the first hospitals to receive combat injured from the battles of the Coral Sea and Guadalcanal, in recognition of which he was cited by Adm. William F. Halsey as a Naval officer who has 'reflected great credit upon himself by his outstanding professional ability and keen judgment, particularly in the management of war wounds and the treatment of tropical diseases.

"'His long experience as a teacher of medicine and his effective leadership in the instruction of young medical officers contributed materially to the success of the Navy's operations.'"

DRIVE BY DISABLED VETERANS

A two-day drive for funds was begun today by the St. Louis Chapter of the Disabled Veterans as part of a national drive by 930 chapters.

Members of the organization's women's auxiliary and other groups are stationed in the lobbies of downtown office buildings and on street corners with containers for receiving donations and supplies of blue forget-me-nots to be given contributors.

MORE THAN 100 B-29S TOOK PART IN TUESDAY'S RAIDS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP).—More than 100 B-29 Superfortresses participated in Tuesday's raids on Anshan in Japanese-occupied Manchuria and against military targets in occupied China, it was disclosed last night. In a statement by Brig. Gen. Lauris Norstad, chief of staff of the Twentieth Air Force.

"Although more than 100 Superfortresses participated in yesterday's mission against Manchuria and occupied China there were no losses whatever," the statement said. "Every plane which left the ground returned safely.

"This would be a remarkable record on a bombing mission by planes of any type, and is all the more remarkable when applied to the B-29 which is still relatively experimental and is flying such vast distances. Yesterday's mission for example was about as far in miles as from Atlanta, Ga., to the Arctic Circle."

ART MUSEUM VETERAN TO QUIT

George Lauerman, the City Art Museum's oldest employe in length of service, will retire Saturday after 32 years on the guard force. He is 82 years old, and lives at 1004 Brownell avenue, Glendale.

Lauerman has seen the museum grow from a few exhibits to the 68 galleries of collections that it has today. He lives with two daughters Misses Mamie and Frieda Lauerman.

GROWTH OF RED CROSS MEDITERRANEAN WORK

W. E. Stevenson Tells Fraternal Congress 1100 Are Now in Area.

Red Cross workers in the Mediterranean theater have increased from a dozen sent in with the invasion of North Africa two years ago to about 1100 now, William E. Stevenson of New York, who organized Red Cross activities in that theater, reported today.

Stevenson, back in the United States after two and a half years overseas, addressed the annual convention of the National Fraternal Congress of America at Hotel Jefferson. He was accompanied here by his wife, Mrs. Eleanor Bumstead Stevenson, who also served with the Red Cross on Mediterranean battlefronts. Both were repeatedly under fire in combat areas.

Red Cross hospital girls, Clubmobile units and field workers give men under fire a sense of security, relief from worries by establishing home ties and diversion through entertainment, Stevenson said.

Mortality of veterans from tropical diseases will probably be low, but the introduction into this country of these diseases should not be ignored, Dr. William C. Macdonald of the St. Louis University Medical School said yesterday afternoon before the congress, which includes 103 fraternal benefit societies offering legal reserve life insurance.

Life insurance companies, he said, would find it necessary to establish veterans' previous health records in semi-tropical or tropical regions. He characterized as "enormous" the present scope of tropical medicine. "Never before in the history of the world," Dr. Macdonald said, "have such large numbers of men suddenly been deposited in areas rife with disease and made to live under unfavorable circumstances."

Speaking on types of social security programs, A. L. Kirkpatrick, insurance editor of the Chicago Journal of Commerce, said that a compulsory, Federal-administered system may mean "subjection" to the Government, rather than freedom and independence, "which are real security."

Flashes of Life

By the Associated Press.

Name Is Familiar.

SAN FRANCISCO.—Sailor Edward Shevlin, 37 years old, became an American citizen. After he had gone, along came another sailor, Edward Shevlin, 20, and he also took the citizenship oath.

Both were born in Glasgow, Scotland, both now live in New York City, both were at the same boot camp.

But they never have met, and are not related.

What About Interest?

DENVER.—Scott W. Cummings lost his wallet containing $15 while fishing from a boat on Monarch Lake more than two years ago.

But he has it back. J. B. Falnar reported it had washed ashore, and returned it to Cummings. The $15 in bills were still there, wet but spendable.

Postage Is Higher.

SPOKANE, Wash.—Postmaster Will W. Simpson says, paste in those war stamps as soon as they're purchased. Several times customers have stuck a $1 war stamp instead of a one-cent postage stamp on cards. But the biggest error came whe na letter was mailed with three $1 war stamps on it.

VANITY WINS PRIZE AT FALL HORSE SHOW

Adds Another Blue Ribbon to Long List of Trophies— Two on Jumpers Fall.

Vanity, 9-year-old brown mare of Fair City Farm, Elberon, N. J., which has won blue ribbons in every horse show in which it has has participated, last night won the $250 stake for fine harness horses at the St. Louis Fall Horse Show, held at the Missouri Stables arena, 5200 Berthold avenue, for the benefit of the American Women's Voluntary Services.

Mrs. L. Victor Weil of Elberon, drove Vanity in the event, which was judged by Charles J. Barrie of Teaneck, N. J. As he placed the blue ribbon on Vanity's bridle, Barrie announced to the audience that he had been the judge who gave the horse its first blue ribbon eight years ago. Mrs. Weil received a check and a trophy.

Last night's results of the show, which will continue through Saturday, follow:

PLEA FOR BUS EXTENSION TO HOSPITALS UNOPPOSED

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 28.—A request by the V-K Bus Lines, operated by John J. Morrison, for authority to revise and extend its route to provide more adequate bus service for Koch Hospital and the United States Veterans' Hospital in St. Louis County, was taken under advisement by the Missouri Public Service Commission yesterday after a hearing.

Henry S. Caulfield, Director of Public Welfare of St. Louis, urged approval on the ground the extended service would benefit employes of Koch and Veterans' hospitals, and persons visiting the hospitals. There was no opposition.

The proposed route, which would connect with street cars of the St. Louis Public Service Co., on South Broadway, would extend from Broadway and Catalan street south on Broadway to the city limits, over highway V and over Broadway to the north gate of Jefferson Barracks, through the Jefferson Barracks reservation to the Veterans' Hospital thence to Koch Hospital and return over the same route.

U.S. DUTY TO TAKE LEADERSHIP AFTER VICTORY, TRUMAN SAYS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 28 (AP).—Senator Harry S. Truman, Democratic nominee for vice president, said yesterday that after the defeat of Germany and Japan "we will have the greatest responsibility any country ever had."

"It will be our duty to assume the leadership which we failed to do 25 years ago, unless we expect our grandchildren to go through what our children are undergoing today," he said.

The lend-lease program came in for brief mention. "If anyone cries on my shoulder over lend-lease I always say that for every 100 million dollars we gave them we saved 100,000 soldiers' lives," he said. "Even if we never get any of it back it will be money well spent."

ST. LOUISAN OUTWITS NAZIS, GAINS GROUND

Devises Scheme to Sift Troops Through Line—Marine Kills Snipers — Other Exploits.

Lt. Sylvester J. Hunter, whose wife, Mrs. Margaret Hunter, lives at 1759 Waverly place, is credited in an Associated Press dispatch from Italy with having devised a scheme which gave his men good advance positions at small cost.

The Nazis, carrying out "disengaging operations" at Rosignano, had a habit of attacking in the early evening to screen their night withdrawals. Lt. Hunter taught his men to wait out the attacks, then pass quickly through the German assault troops to positions in their rear. This worked so well that sometimes not a man was wounded in the swift exchange of positions, and the enemy were mightily confused.

Lt. Hunter, who received the Distinguished Service Cross for heroism at Cassino, is attached to the 135th Regiment which has been overseas nearly 1000 days, of which 300 days and nights have been spent in actual front line fighting in Africa and Italy. The equivalent of nearly a division of replacements has passed through this regiment, largely to make up for casualties suffered in those 300 days of fighting. Nearly 1000 men have been killed, and several thousand have been wounded.

Marine Pfc. Patrick W. Lawrence, 5099 Wells avenue, a veteran of Guadalcanal an Cape Gloucester, cleaned out a snipers' nest on Peleliu Island although he had to place himself in an exposed position to do so, a Marine combat correspondent reported in a dispatch received today.

Marines who established a line on the beach found themselves heavily attacked during the night after the first landings. In the morning Lawrence leaped onto a disabled amphibian tank only 50 feet away from the snipers and from this position of vantage fired a clip of ammunition, killing two Japanese. They could not be reached at ground level because they had hidden behind a low ridge and had thrown up a parapet to protect themselves.

Staff Sgt. Bruce C. Walsh, whose wife, Mrs. Virginia Walsh, lives at 4241 North Euclid avenue, was last to leave the Flying Fortress "Lucky Penny" when it faltered and went into a spin on its way home from a bombing mission on which it had been heavily hit by flak, an Eighth Air Force correspondent reported.

Posted in the tail of the bomber, Sgt. Walsh failed to hear the bail-out order given by the pilot because the inter-phone communications had been knocked out. Mystified to see parachutes in the air, he turned just in time to see the waist gunner, Staff Sgt. Morris A. Goodrich of Waynesville, Mo., bail out and then decided that it was time for him to jump, too.

Members of the crew made their way to Paris and from there were flown back to their English base.

Lt. Herbert H. Benner, 9700 South Broadway, a veteran of the North African campaign, participated recently in a mission which resulted in wholesale destruction of German equipment in Italy, an Army dispatch reported today.

American tanks had been sent to cut off the German escape route from Cori. Ranged in horseshoe formation, they were attacked by Nazi motorized artillery advancing over the top of a hill. The Americans opened fire at a range of 200 yards, and at the end of the engagement more than 180 pieces of German motorized equipment had been destroyed. Lt. Benner said that the sporadic German antitank fire was much less effective than that which had been met in Tunisia.

Lt. William K. Mann Jr., 724 Alhambra court, East St. Louis, has returned to the United States for rest and re-assignment after completing 41 missions over Europe as navigator of a Flying Fortress, he has notified his parents by telephone. After being forced down in Yugoslavia during a raid on Romania, Lt. Mann was with the forces of Gen. Draja Mihailovic. Later he was with the forces of Marshal Tito, and was evacuated to Italy by air transport. He is 20 years old. He said he was not injured, and expects to return home on leave in the near future.

E. ST. LOUIS EX-CHIEF OUT

The resignation of Lt. Sam Strautz, former chief of East St. Louis police who was demoted a year ago when the department was reorganized, was accepted last night by the East St. Louis Board of Fire and Police Commissioners.

Strautz, 46 years old, said he would return to private business. He has completed 20 years of service, and at the age of 50 will be eligible for a pension of half his chief's pay of $275 a month.

MSGR. SHEEN UPHOLDS MARRIAGE AND FAMILY

Lectures Here

MSGR. FULTON J. SHEEN

An audience which filled the 3600 seats of Kiel Auditorium Opera House, and overflowed into the orchestra pit, heard Msgr. Fulton J. Sheen, noted radio orator, deliver his address on "The Bulwark of a Nation"—the family—last night.

Ticket-selling efforts of parish groups could account for the large attendance; but the close attention and utter silence of the gathering through the hour-long lecture were a tribute to the eloquence of the speaker, with whom many were acquainted through his broadcasts in the Sunday night Catholic Hour on Station KSD. Msgr. Sheen's appearance was under the auspices of the Sacred Heart Program, daily broadcast of St. Louis University station, WEW, and he was introduced by the Rev. Patrick J. Holloran S. J., president of the University.

Much of the address was an exposition of principles which, Msgr. Sheen declared, belonged not to church doctrine, but to the all-inclusive moral law, which is "the same for the Holy Roller as for the Holy Roman."

"Some seem to think," the purple-robed speaker said, "that we of the Church sit up nights fashioning monkey-wrenches to throw into the machinery of marriage. The very opposite is true—we sit up producing oil to make that machinery run more smoothly.

"The ancient Romans carried appetite to such excess that they would gorge themselves with food, go out and tickle their throats to induce vomiting, then return and gorge again. If such a practice prevailed now, the Church would condemn it as the perversion of a natural appetite." He proceeded to uphold the Church's stand against "the idea that love can't bear much fruit, for economic reasons—that the human element must give way to the economic element—an idea that, if carried out, would fill our land with concentration camps."

After relating that one of every five marriages ends in divorce—in cities, the ratio was given as one in three—Msgr. Sheen said: "Can we of America, who break one of every five marriage covenants, expect to be true to the international obligations we must assume?"

He ridiculed the granting of divorces on the ground of incompatibility, asking, "Were there ever two persons absolutely compatible? But it is strange," he continued, "how compatible they can become when they know that they can't get out of it. You can get used to a dripping faucet when you haven't the money to get it fixed. Many a case of incompatibility is worked out through the working day by the husband with pick and shovel and by the wife over the washtub, and when evening comes, she is waiting for him with a warm meal and a fresh white apron."

The Bible, Msgr. Sheen said, "speaks of marriage as knowledge—we are told in Genesis 'Adam knew Eve.' The knowledge is of the mystery of one's own incompleteness—of man's dependence on God, on nature, on a fellow-being. The obligation of the person to the other person who breaks the fragmentation of life and brings this completeness is a lasting obligation.

"Here lies the fallacy of the idea of sex education. Make it nice and natural, we are told. You can't—it's a mystery. A mother who had studied John Dewey was asked by her little girl, 'Mother, where did I come from?' She sat down and gave a long talk along the line of her reading. The child did not seem interested. 'I meant,' she said, 'did I come from Wisconsin? The little girl next door says she did.'"

The speaker laid down as principles of marriage Fidelity Fruitfulness, Sacrifice. He closed his address with an eloquent tribute to "Mary, protector of motherhood—the first Gold Star Mother."

TWO U. S. GENERALS DIE OVERSEAS FROM ILLNESS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP).—The War Department reports the deaths from illness of two generals overseas.

Brig. Gen. Walter G. Layman, 56 years old, died of a heart attack at Cheltenham, England, while serving as commandant of the American school center in the European theater of operations, and Brig. Gen. Thomas E. Roderick, 51 years old, died Sept. 21 in the North African theater after a short illness.

Both served in World War I.

Gen. Roderick, a native of Navarre, O., was Assistant Chief of Staff at Allied headquarters in North Africa. Gen. Layman was born at Parkersburg, W. Va., and had been commandant of the American school center since August, 1942. The date of his death was not given.

Why Was Hot Oatmeal The Most Favored Cereal
In the Vote of 2500 Authorities?

1000 Dietitians, 1000 Home Economists, 500 Nurses gave their opinions: All groups agreed that A HOT BREAKFAST IS BEST! All three groups named whole-grain oatmeal their favorite cereal. The total of all groups named it 10 times more often than all corn cereals combined . . . 4 times more often than all cold wheat cereals combined . . . more often than all other cereals combined, either hot or cold.

When 2500 experts voted overwhelmingly in favor of whole-grain oatmeal in a recent survey, they were considering known scientific facts.

Being informed and trained in foods, they could hardly have given any other decision.

The superiority of oatmeal is in the GRAIN itself! It contains at least 30 known elements valuable to human nutrition.

These nurses, dietitians and home economists know, for instance, that if you are raising children, there is no cereal that will provide as much of the basic growth element—Protein—as whole-grain oatmeal.

No other natural cereal will give babies, growing children, and everyone, an amount of Vitamin $B_1$ equal to that stored by nature in oatmeal. ($B_1$ is needed daily to "spark" energy, growth and good digestion.) These experts know too, that there are great fatigue fighting nutritional elements in oatmeal, especially needed by adults. No other cereal equals oatmeal in food-energy. Oatmeal's excellence in Protein, Food-Energy, Vitamin $B_1$ is just as essential to the energy and stamina of adults as it is to the growth of children.

Games Here and in Detroit Postponed; Two Doubleheaders Tomorrow

Tigers Lead After Sewell's Men Drop Final to Boston, 4-1

Red Sox Manager Changes Traveling Plans to Play Game at Night—Kramer and Potter Named to Pitch Against New York in Twin Bill.

By W. J. McGoogan

The scheduled opening game of the Browns' final series of the season, with the New York Yankees, was postponed this afternoon because of rain and it was announced that a doubleheader would be played tomorrow, starting at 1:30 p. m. Two more contests are booked for Saturday and Sunday.

Manager Luke Sewell of the Browns said that his pitchers for the twin bill would be Jack Kramer, who has won 16 games and dropped 13, and Nelson Potter, who will be seeking his nineteenth victory against only seven setbacks. Ernie (Tiny) Bonham and Hank Borowy are due for New York.

The Detroit Tigers' scheduled series opener with the Washington Senators at Detroit was also postponed because of rain, which means that the Browns will take the field tomorrow exactly one game behind the pace-setting Bengals in the hot American League pennant race.

The Tigers will also play a twin bill tomorrow with the Senators.

It is not a very bright prospect which the Browns now face in quest of their first pennant in the 42 years of their American League history, for, while they are playing the Yankees, the Tigers will be meeting the last-place Senators, whose record with Detroit this season is 15 losses in 18 games. The Browns have won eight and lost 10 with the Yankees.

In addition to the battle for first place, the Browns face a struggle for second, too, because the Yankees are only two games behind the Browns. New York, too, still has a mathematical chance for the pennant, as the club is three games behind Detroit.

The Boston Red Sox are responsible for the sad state of affairs which exists. They defeated the Browns last night, 4 to 1, to end the winning streak of Sewell's men after seven straight and at the same time stopped their own losing streak after 10 in a row.

Rain, too, had something to do with it. The game was scheduled for the afternoon, but it was first postponed from 2:30 o'clock until 3:30 o'clock and then reset for a night game.

All of this, of course, had to have the consent of Joe Cronin, manager of the Red Sox, who could have refused to play at night. His men had given up their hotel rooms and had space on a train for Chicago at 5 o'clock. But he agreed the game was the most important thing.

Cronin's Prophecy Rides True On Wing of Young Righthander

"I believe the Browns should have every chance to play it," he said. "But," he smiled, "don't forget we might beat you."

And that's just what happened.

George Woods, a strong-armed right-handed pitcher, who had not started a game since Sept. 2 and who had won only three games all season, up to last night, was sent to the box by Cronin to oppose Denny Galehouse.

Then the fun began—but it was not laughable to the supporters of the Browns, who endured much inconvenience to cheer for their club in the struggle for the flag.

Finney, first up, singled, took second on a passed ball. With Metkovich up, Hayworth tried to pick Finney off second base, but his low throw went through Stephens into center field, Finney moving to third. Metkovich fanned, but McBride singled Finney home. Galehouse then fanned Johnson and Tabor.

Galehouse pitched in fine form for the next four innings, yielding only three hits, and he had seven strikeouts for the five innings.

Rain began to fall again in the fourth inning, and when Christman walked with one out in the fifth, Sewell rushed in Gene Moore to bat for Hayworth. Gene singled to right, sending Christman to third. Then Sewell put in Chartak to bat for Galehouse, but he fouled to Tabor, and Baker grounded to Bucher.

George Caster pitched in the sixth, and Bob Johnson greeted him with a double. Tabor bunted straight to Caster, who threw him out at first. Bucher was then passed intentionally, but Partee grounded a single to left, scoring Johnson, Bucher taking third on the throw to the plate, to count a moment later after Kreevich caught Newsome's long fly.

In the Browns' eighth Kreevich beat out a hit to Tabor and Zarilla walked. Stephens hit to Newsome and when Bucher dropped the throw at second, the bases were filled. Byrnes sent a short fly to Finney, the runners holding their bases. McQuinn then lined to Finney, Kreevich scoring. Christman walked, to again fill the bases, and Barrett replaced Woods, to get Mancuso on a long fly to McBride.

Shirley pitched in the eighth as Caster retired for Pinch-Batter Schulte in the seventh.

In the ninth Newsome singled and took second on a wild pitch. Barrett bunted, intending a sacrifice, but threw the ball over Christman's head and Newsome scored.

All of this was taking time and it had been determined before the game that no inning would start after 11:05, and the game would be terminated at 11:20, regardless of the situation.

But when the Browns started their final turn they had 15 minutes to go. Sewell sent in Babe Martin to hit for Shirley, the sixth pinch batter he used during the game. Martin beat out a single to Bucher. Baker sent a short fly to left, which fell safely, but Martin was forced at second, McBride to Bucher, as Babe, fearing a catch, did not have a long enough lead off first base. That really broke the back of a possible rally. Kreevich fanned, then Zarilla walked.

Stephens grounded to Tabor, whose throw to Bucher forced Zarilla at second base, at least Umpire Bill Summers said it did. Sewell protested vigorously, with the usual result, and the Browns were a game behind.

The long wait for the start got on the players' nerves and, no doubt, the Browns suffered more than the Red Sox, who didn't have much to worry about, but you gotta hit to win, and the Browns didn't do it.

Attendance was 4938 total, including 2530 paid.

The Browns' office was swamped with telephone calls in the afternoon asking if there would be a game. Callers were told that it would be played if possible, and several hundred people assembled in Dodier street, hoping, but they had to be sent away. Many women were there because of the "ladies' day," which was turned into "ladies' night," and 2049 attended.

Denny Galehouse has passed his military physical examination and may be called for duty soon. He is married and has three children. His home is in Akron, O.

Yankees Won't Pull Any Punches, McCarthy Says

By Dick Farrington

Joe McCarthy chaperoned his third-place Yankees into St. Louis this morning for the all-important four games with the Browns, full of fight and still hopeful of landing the erstwhile Bombers in the king row.

He seemed disturbed by the rain and was downright disappointed when his phone rang to advise him that today's game had been postponed.

It was suggested to McCarthy that he would "shoot the works" to knock the Browns down and climb over them in the torrid American League race. Marse Joe scowled: "We shoot the works in every game," he said. "It doesn't matter if it's the Browns or any other club that we're playing. The Yanks never pull any punches and they never will."

It will be recalled that there has been no love lost between McCarthy and Luke Sewell since last season, when the Brownie manager was quoted as saying that the Yanks were getting the umpiring breaks. "I never went to Harridge (American League president) about that statement," protested McCarthy. "It happened that I had other business with Harridge that day and was in his office when the thing came up. We don't need umpiring help to win—never had cried over any decisions."

Asked if this was not the toughest campaign he had ever experienced in his long tenure as manager of the Yanks, McCarthy unhesitatingly pointed to the 1940 season. "That was the toughest," he said, "because we came from 11 games behind in August to battle the Tigers down the stretch. We were eliminated only two days before the season ended."

Marse Joe declined to take any personal credit for this year's showing of the Yanks. "Give the players the credit," he said. "They are entitled to it. A fine bunch of boys."

The Chase Hotel, where the Yankees are stopping, had something of a world series atmosphere today. A half dozen writers who were with the Red Sox remained over to take in the Yank-Brown series and then the world series games. There are fully a dozen in the New York writing assemblage, the scriveners were down from Chicago in force and H. G. Salsinger was here from Detroit.

SHORT WAVES

An international boxing card featuring JUAN ZURITA, world lightweight champion (NBA) against PETE LELLO, Chicago, in Mexico City has been postponed from October 2 to 6 . . . It will be held in the Mexico City bullring. . . . Also on the program will be CEFERINO GARCIA, Los Angeles, vs KID AZTECA, Mexico, and Mexican lightweight champion, RODOLFO RAMIREZ and TONY MAR. . . . DEWEY defeated ROOSEVELT in Nemaha, Neb., last night, but it was a softball game between two southeastern Nebraska school teams.

ZURITA

The GREENTREE STABLE not only will continue in racing competition, in accordance with the wish of its late owner, MRS. PAYNE WHITNEY, but will play a dominant part in several important stakes. . . . DEVIL DIVER, who accounted for the Manhattan Handicap last Saturday, will be back Saturday to face BOLINGBROKE and STRATEGIC in the Jockey Club Gold Cup at two miles, while DOCKSTADER is entered in the Belmont Futurity. . . . The San Francisco PACKERS, professional football team, have signed FRANK THORPE, nephew of JIM THORPE. . . . He weighs 250 pounds, but the only football he has played was with Shawnee, Okla., high school.

They'll never know what the score might have been had the Summitville and Gaston high school teams of Indiana finished out their baseball game. . . . It was called after five innings with Summitville ahead, 48 to 8. . . . The losing pitcher stuck it out to the point of termination, though allowing 23 hits and walking 20. . . . The KENTUCKY STATE RACING COMMISSION has approved a 19-day meeting for Churchill Downs, starting October 21 and ending November 11. . . . Five years ago today—HAROLD (PIE) TRAYNOR resigned as manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Browns Getting the Breaks—All Bad.

THE heavens weren't doing all the weeping this morning. . . . Don Barnes, Luke Sewell and the entire Brownie roster may have shed a few tears on the side. . . . One down, only four to go, Muncrief still ailing and another sloppy field was the local A. L. pennant picture this morning.

The outlook was not hopeless: but in betting circles $5 will probably get you $10, if you think St. Louis can finish ahead of Detroit, giving the Tigers a one-game handicap with only four to play.

The weather man pulled another dirty trick by continuing to supply the current brand of precipitation. . . The washout of today's New York game forced a doubleheader with the Yanks—and that's always tough to win. . . . Barnes and Sewell would really have cause for that headache, should a downpour of rain cause the home club to lose a pennant sitting down.

* * *

The prospect of losing a chance to play the final Red Sox game through rain caused that terrible affair of last night. . . . The Joe Cronins were not coming back here any more so the wash-out of the afternoon had to be played at night. . . . The Browns asked for it. . . . Cronin obliged. . . . And the Brownies failed. . . And that, after twice blanking the Bostonians in previous games. A real headache, Don.

* * *

Looks as Though Luke Had Something.

NOT so many weeks ago we ran a column about this Boris Babe Martin, who, by the way, is a brother of Mrs. Warren Bockwinkel, wife of the local heavyweight mat star. . . . Mrs. Bockwinkel likes that boy—she has kept two volumes of clippings concerning his athletic record from the time he was a McKinley High School star. . . . And her faith was justified when he rapped out a double his first time at bat and a single later to drive in a run on his very first appearance in a Brown uniform.

Martin was held over with the Toledo club because that team was in the title scramble in the American Association. . . . When that race was over, he was called in by the Browns, but he would not be available for the world series if the Browns should win the flag. . . But next year he ought to be a valuable asset to the attacking power of the club.

Martin is a medical discharge from the armed services. . . . For Toledo he played the outfield and was an acceptable help behind the bat on occasion. . . . He got off to a good start with the Browns and is likely to remain in the big time.

The Browns will have to give up all idea of moving to Los Angeles or San Francisco, if they ever entertained such an idea seriously. . . . At least Bill Benswanger, the Pirates' president, thinks it would break up the Pacific Coast League to allow either 'Frisco or L. A. in the majors. . . . And neither city could support two teams—Class AA and major league—he adds.

Nor can he foresee a third major league on the Pacific Coast. . . . Too many cities of low population out there. . . .

It's easier to move the Rock of Gibraltar than to move a major league franchise, under present agreements.

Such a Headache!

Mize's Homer Helps Beat Beazley in Army-Navy Game

HONOLULU, Sept. 27 (AP). — Navy sluggers pounded out a 10-5 victory over the Army today for their fourth straight triumph and the championship of the "servicemen's world baseball series."

The victors jumped on four Army twirlers for 11 hits. The Army collected 10 blows, but were kept within bounds except for a five-run splurge in the sixth inning.

Although the title has been decided, the full seven games will be played, with games scheduled tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday.

Durocher Stays As Dodger Pilot

BROOKLYN, Sept. 28 (AP).—Leo Durocher, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers since 1939, today signed a one-year contract to pilot the club again in 1945.

This is the first year the Dodgers have been out of the first division since Durocher succeeded Burleigh Grimes. The club finished third in 1939, second in 1940, won the National League pennant in 1941, was runner-up to the Cardinals in 1942 and wound up third last year.

Lanier Sent Home for Treatment; Musial Out To Rest a Sore Ankle

By J. Roy Stockton
Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Billy Southworth, manager of the Cardinals, recognized the problems that confront his National League champions on the eve of their World Series with the Tigers of Detroit or the Browns of St. Louis.

The Redbirds will have to go into the competition with slight chance of any help from their leading left-handed pitcher, and there is a chance that the National Leaguers' leading hitter will not be at his best for the championship struggle.

Max Lanier, who drew the important first-game assignment in the 1943 series with the Yankees, departed for St. Louis last night to report to Dr. Robert F. Hyland, club surgeon, for treatment. Max, beaten in his last seven games, is suffering from a sore arm, pains in his back muscles and a stiff neck, and the chance that he will be available at top form for duty in the World Series is remote.

Southworth also announced last night that the club's No. 1 hitter, Stan Musial, plainly was being bothered by a lame ankle and would be rested for the next three days in the hope that he might be ready for duty in the title contests. Stan probably will return to his regular outfield position in the final game of the series with the Giants Sunday to warm up for the championship struggle, which starts Wednesday at Sportsman's Park.

With a patched-up team in the field this afternoon Blix Donnelly pitched the league champions to their 104th victory of the season. Blix held the Giants to five hits and made his second victory of the year a shutout, 2 to 0.

In the ninth inning Danny Litwhiler pulled a leg muscle and Johnny Hopp relieved him for the final frame. Verban and Kurowski were the only regular infielders on duty, Johnny Antonelli relieving Sanders at first and Fallon filling in for Marion. Ken O'Dea did the catching.

A pass to Kurowski and singles by Litwhiler and Antonelli produced a Redbird run in the sixth inning and in the eighth Litwhiler hit into the left field seats for his fifteenth homer of the year.

The Cardinals still have a chance of topping their all-time victory total, if they can win the three remaining games of their series with the Giants.

Two Fairmount Jockeys Injured

Jockey Eddie Franklin, injured with Al Shelton in a spill at Fairmount Park yesterday, may have serious internal injuries, it was said today by Dr. R. H. Greaves, who has examined the riders at St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis. It will be necessary to keep Franklin under observation for another day or two before a definite diagnosis can be made, the surgeon said. Shelton, too, must remain out of action because of a dislocated shoulder.

This, the second pileup of horses in two days at Fairmount, occurred during the running of the eighth race. The horses were passing the clubhouse shortly after the start of the mile and 70 yards race when Shelton's mount, Echo Bell, fell, knocking Franklin off his horse, Hello Cap.

The day before, J. Dean Jessop, leading rider of the season, suffered his second fall of the meeting, and is confined to the hospital with a shoulder injury.

Ed McCuan, veteran owner and trainer who had horses active in the early days of Fairmount Park but who hasn't had his green and white silks flying in this section in many years, is a daily visitor at the oval. He has had the racing shoes taken from his horses and they are now quartered for the winter at the McCuan farm near Edwardsville, Ill., where he has a practice track.

Northwestern Is Leader In Difference by Score

By Dr. E. E. Litkenhous
Originator of the Difference by Score System.

Northwestern and Duke climbed to the top of the Difference By Score System of ratings by turning on crushing power against breather opponents in their opening games last week end.

Northwestern whammed Depauw by 62-0 and rose into first place with a rating of 121.3 and Duke smothered Richmond 61-7 to take over second with a 120.8 figure. They replaced Michigan, which dropped to third and the Iowa Navy Pre-flight School, which fell to fifth.

Michigan's 14-0 victory over Marquette was not enough to hold up its mark of 125.3 and the Wolverines wound up the week with a 112.0 rating. The Seahawks had more trouble than they expected from Minnesota before winning 19-13 and slid from a rating of 118.0 to 110.2.

Wallach Seeks Foe for Dodson

After trying last night without success to find an opponent for Charley Dodson, Promoter Lou Wallach hoped that something would turn up today and meanwhile awaited the arrival this afternoon of Walter (Popeye) Woods, New York middleweight star.

With Pvt. Baxley Hardy of Scott Field being shipped out by Scott Field for a new destination, local a military secret, Wallach transplanted his main event for morrow night's fight card at Kiel Auditorium by promoting Woods to the main event with Deacon Nathan Logan. Woods was originally scheduled with Dodson for the first of three 10-rounders and now Charley, the Deacon's stablemate, is left high and dry, at least temporarily.

The semifinal trots out two heavyweight mixers, Pvt. Hank Postaway of Scott Field and Claude Cooper, a giant Negro from Chicago.

Louisville Wins Playoff in A. A.

CHICAGO, Sept. 28—Louisville, which finished third in the regular American Association race, will represent that league in the junior world series. The Colonels won that right yesterday in the Shaughnessy playoff by defeating St. Paul for their fourth straight decision over the Apostles, 3 to 2. Mel Deutsch pitched the victory and drove in the winning run in the ninth.

In the Pacific Coast League playoff final, the San Francisco Seals made it two straight over the Los Angeles Angels, 4 to 0.

By defeating the Newark Bears, the Baltimore Orioles took first blood in the International League playoff. The score was 14-3.

SMALL, MIXED CHANGES MARK STOCK TRADING

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP).—The stock market continued to grope through a fog covered terrain today and, while scattered leaders managed to make a little headway, slight stumbling propensities were displayed by many pivotals.

Talk of a long European conflict failed to stimulate the armament group unduly or depress issues that might benefit by a quick crash of the Nazis. Those who sold recently on reconversion apprehension when it looked as though Germany might fold any day were apparently in no hurry to reinstate commitments. Individual issues were benefited by special business influences but, as in the previous session, it was more a case of investment and speculative confusion than anything else. The result virtually was a trend stalemate.

Dealings expanded at intervals after the start but slowdowns were numerous. Minor variations either way ruled near the close, with isolated wider ups and downs in evidence.

Transactions were 636,710 shares, compared with 484,020 shares yesterday.

Of the 825 issues traded in today, 312 were higher, 223 lower and 223 unchanged. Twenty made new 1944 highs and three new 1944 lows.

Aircrafts at New 1944 Highs.

Kennecott and Grumman Aircraft edged into new high ground for 1944. Supported at intervals were Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Douglas Aircraft, Du Pont, Montgomery Ward and Goodyear. Lacking rising steam were United States Steel, American Telephone, New York Central, Chrysler, Texas Co., Consolidated Edison, United States Ruber and Oliver Farm.

Day's Leaders on Curb.

Moderately popular in the curb were Ken-Rad Tube, Aircraft Accessories, Merritt-Chapman, Fansteel and Republic Aviation.

On the big board American Tobacco "B" and common stocks exhibited renewed weakness in further reflection of the company's proposal to issue 100 million dollars of new debentures. Both issues dropped more than 3 points shortly after the opening on top of yesterday's 2-point recession.

On the side of the aircraft manufacturing group was the announcement that Pennsylvania-Central Airlines had signed a contract with the Douglas company for nearly 10 million dollars of the super four-engine transport planes calling for delivery of part of the order several months after peace.

The warning of Prime Minister Churchill that the battle against Hitler might run into 1945 brought the suggestion that this could mean the delay of tax relief an dtend to perpetuate government controls, which would be interpreted bearishly from a market standpoint.

DAY'S 17 LEADERS.

MIXTURE OF SMALL GAINS AND LOSSES IN BOND LIST

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP).—The bond market developed a general mixture of small gains and losses today, although the trend was helped in late trading by firmness in a number of rails.

A half dozen loans of the Milwaukee road moved up fractions to nearly 2 points and Florida East Coast 5s improved about 2 along with some of the New Havens. American Tobacco 3s and Central of Georgia first 5s were backward.

Foreign dollar bonds held in a narrow range throughout the session, although a few made substantial moves. Belgium 7s, an inactive issue, advanced 2⅝ points in the final hour to close at 106¾.

Certificates representing Chicago, Terre Haute & Southeastern Railway income 5s moved up more than 3 points at one time on light demand. The bonds have been inactive recently during periods of strength in the Milwaukee loans. The road is part of the Milwaukee system.

Others holding higher positions most of the time included International Great Northern 6s, Morris & Essex 4½s, New York, Westchester & Boston 4½s and Wabash 4¼s.

Governments kept in the background as machinery to handle the forthcoming war loan drive beginning Nov. 20 was examined by the investment community.

U. S. STEEL CORP TO RETIRE $27,500,000 DEBENTURES

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP).—Directors of the United States Steel Corp. authorized the redemption on Nov. 1 next of all outstanding serial debentures totaling $27,500,000 and due from 1949 to 1955.

The debentures will be paid off at the prices stipulated in the indenture. They were sold on May 1, 1940 in the amount of 75 million dollars to provide part of the funds needed to retire the then outstanding debenture 3¼s. Prior to the start of this year $47,500,000 had been retired.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP).—The city of New York sold 25 million dollars of revenue bills to a group of banks at an interest cost of .50 of 1 per cent. The bills mature in a little less than a month.

COTTON MARKET CLOSES 55C TO $1.10 A BALE UP

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP).—After displaying a heavy tone in early trading today, cotton futures turned firm on aggressive trade buying and commission house demand in the distant months, which met a scarcity of offerings. The market was partly influenced by reports that an early announcement was due on details of the Government cotton purchase program designed to lift cotton prices to full parity. There was considerable switching from near to far months.

Late afternoon values were 35 to 75 cents a bale higher. Oct. 22.02, Dec. 21.99 and March 22.00.

DIVIDENDS

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP).—Austin Nichols & Co., Inc., announced a dividend of $2 a share on its prior "A" stock on account of arrears would be paid Nov. 10 to stockholders of record Oct. 27. The company paid $2 a share in July and had paid $1.50 a share in March, against arrearages. In 1943, payments aggregated $3.50.

WHEAT MARKET EASY, BUT CORN IS STRONG

CHICAGO, Sept. 28 (AP).—Corn futures sold fractionally higher in late futures trading today and other grains recovered some of their early losses. Short covering developed after wheat had dropped as much as a cent and rye had broken more than two cents.

The rally in wheat carried prices almost back to the previous close and was started on buying credited to a leading local operator and purchases for a cash house.

The trade in corn was light and the market was quickly affected by small orders. Some short covering was prompted by bad crop weather and the threat of frost.

There was an avalanche of early selling in the rye pit but offering dried up later, apparently as a result of rallies in the cotton and wheat markets.

At the close wheat was unchanged to ¼c lower than yesterday's finish, December $1.61 @1.60⅞. Corn was ½ to ⅞ higher, December $1.12⅞. Oats were ⅛ higher to ⅜ lower, December 61⅞@62c. Rye was ⅛ to ⅝ lower, December $1.03¾. Barley was ½ to ¾ higher, December $1.01½.

St. Louis Cash Grain.

MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, Sept. 28.—In the cash grain market today wheat was ½@2c higher.

Local Grain Receipts.

Local grain receipts today were: Wheat, 15 cars local and 22 cars through; corn, 6 local and 22 through; oats, 2 local; barley, 1 through.

U. S. PLANES BLAST JAPANESE TRYING TO ENCIRCLE PAOCHING

CHUNGKING, Sept. 28 (AP).—The Fourteenth Air Force is subjecting Japanese columns closing in on Kweilin to heavy assaults and has assisted Chinese troops in driving entrenched enemy forces from a hill position near Paoching, Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters announced today.

Paoching is about 150 miles north of Kweilin, Kwangsi capital and site of a strategic United States air base, which it was announced recently was being abandoned. In a new drive from the southwest, the Japanese thrust into Kwangsi province from Lotien, in Kwangtung province.

In an interview at Kunming, Maj. Gen. Clare L. Chennault, commander of the Fourteenth Air Force, said he did not think the Japanese could take Kweilin as long as the Chinese held Paoching, which the enemy is attempting to encircle.

$10,000,000 Airplane Order.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP).—Douglas Aircraft Co. announced it had signed a contract with Pennsylvania-Central Airlines calling for delivery of 15 four-engine super transport planes worth about $10,000,000 within several months after peace.

The company said this was one of the largest single orders so far placed for the planes and brought the postwar backlog for the four-engine transports to $60,000,000. The company's total commitments for after the war amount to $100,000,000.

AUTOMOBILES WANTED

WHAT'S IT REALLY WORTH?
This ad appeared in the Post-Dispatch Jan. 20, 1942:
"1939 Chevrolet Sedan—Perfect condition; radio, heater; 15,000 actual miles; for sale by original owner; $250 cash."
That was two years ago when prices were based on new car values less normal depreciation.
Today that car would sell for $640 according to OPA ceiling prices.
It's time for you to decide what your car will be worth as soon as new cars are available.
DON'T KID YOURSELF
It won't be based on today's prices. It will be based on its new value less depreciation for its age.
If you want to cash in on the top value, do it today!
AUTO EXCHANGE
3710 S. Kingshighway. LO. 1808.

SPOT CASH FOR YOUR CAR
We will buy any make or model automobile 1936 to 1942; price is no object; we will pay high cash prices for Fords, Cadillacs, Mercurys, Buicks, Chevrolets, Chryslers, Pontiacs, Oldsmobiles and others. You are passing up a good bet if you do not stop in and get our bid. We have a buyer on hand at all times. Prompt, courteous service has been our slogan for many years. In the 28 years that we have been in business our reputation for fair dealing has been unsurpassed. So don't fail to see us. Come to one of St. Louis' oldest dealers and get a top cash price. Come prepared to sell. Bring title, tire certificate and gas ration book. See Bill Duggan. CE. 8204.

Wolfing Days Are Over for Burgess

By Earl Wilson

NEW YORK.

I HAVE a fan (oh, yes I have!) who has goaded me once a week for the past year to stir up one of my little literary classics on Capt. Burgess Meredith. "I am nuts about him," this clever girl has written to me. "Where is he at?" Capt. Buzz, being in the service, has no press agents or, as I affectionately call them, pest agents, although dozens of the fiends publicized him in the past. It took me a year to run into him (after all, if you were married to Paulette Goddard, would you be going out nights?) and when I found him I announced that I was going to interview him. "No you're not," he said, evidently not knowing how powerful I am all over this town, except at home. "Why?" I wanted to know. "I am now a press agent," he said, "and a press agent doesn't get writeups about himself, but about his clients. I'm assistant public relations officer for the Troop Carrier Command."

BURGESS MEREDITH

★ ★ ★

"WHAT A WAR!" I reflected moodily when I had recovered from the blow. "It retired him from the Hollywood wolves pack, brought him pulchritudinous Paulette, and has now brought a fate worse than the newspaper business—publicity." But aloud I said to him: "Oh, so you refuse to converse, eh?" (I'm not one of these oh-so-you-won't-talk-huh thugs.) "Well, in that case I'll print an interview I did with you three years ago!"

★ ★ ★

I WAS YOUNGER and dumber back in those days but not any fresher than now. Buzz or Bugs Meredith, the actor who liked blank verse, was having a breakfast martini at 1:30 p. m. at the St. Regis, in his suite. He was lying back in an easy chair. A curl of ginger-colored hair dipped over his left eye.

"How's the wolfing lately?" I had just asked him. "How does a guy get to be a wolf?" I was even then a serious journalist.

"How can you be so colossal with the babes?" I had also said, "when you're so homely?" I had documented this with a New Yorker magazine profile which said he had a face "that might more reasonably belong to a jockey."

"——— ———!" Buzz had said. "Is that going to be your story?"

★ ★ ★

TRAPPED BY HIS own fame, and being a good guy, he had given me some answers. "That old wolf Meredith!" I remember him saying, "Ridiculous! A wolf takes a long-term view of conquest. I don't make a date 10 minutes ahead. I forget to light their cigarettes. When I arrive at a theater with them, I make the interesting discovery I forgot to get tickets. I'm a fake wolf. The bartenders will tell you that I usually come in alone, and while I don't show up often, I show up loud."

★ ★ ★

CLEVER OF ME, wasn't it, to ring in that background so I can show you how different Buzz Meredith is today? (I should really get more money.) Well, Capt. Buzz now is lean and nice looking in his uniform, and has given up breakfast martinis. He's been in the Army going on three years, including 10 months in Europe. He's acted only in a training film he wrote. When I mentioned wolfing, he shifted the subject to the Troop Carrier Command—"Work Horses With Wings," it's called on a radio program he's helped write and produce.

"They transport pigs, mules, bullocks, munitions, insect powders," Press Agent Meredith said, enthusiastically. "They carry, drop and supply paratroopers and air-borne troops and evacuate the wounded to base hospitals. It's headed by Gen. Old at Indianapolis. He trains glider pilots, power pilots of tow planes, and flight nurses who go into actual battle . . . "

"These old wolf days . . . " I interrupted.

★ ★ ★

"IT ALL SEEMS a long time ago," he said. "I roomed with Jimmy Stewart and Franchot Tone. I drove Jimmy to the trolley at 6 o'clock the morning he went in. We talked about whether we'd ever act again. He got serious about flying and I think he's the No. 1 movie hero of the war. I got into Intelligence, and one job was to assist bombard Europe with propaganda, including with films."

"Those wolves," I said.

"All retired now," he said. "Franchot Tone tried to get into service, and later married Jean Wallace. They have a fine child and he comes home nights now and stares at it. Tempus fugit. I've wolfed pretty much in the direction of Paulette for a long time. As for Jimmy Stewart, he left a lot of good possibilities behind. But lately," said Capt. Buzz, "he's been going steady with a B-24."

★ ★ ★

THE MIDNIGHT EARL: Jackie Miles at La Martinique said he bet on a horse that not only finished last in the third race but fifth in the fourth race. . . . Of Hialeah, he said, "That's Spanish for 'Hiya, sucker'" . . . Joe E. Lewis' gag at the Copacabana, "After my operation I got better, then I took a turn for the nurse," will become as much a night club classic as his old mother-in-law line: "I worship the ground that's coming to her." Joe's current performance is the best of his career. . . . Myrna Loy and Capt. Gene Markey, the collector of beautiful wives, were at the Stork and El Morocco and would permit no photographs. . . . Dinah Shore was called Dinah Shaw in a newspaper caption. . . . Shaw glad to see her back. . . . After Mike Todd had been the fall guy for hours at the Saints and Sinners, he gave them a four-word answer: "Thanks for the ride." . . . Typical cracks: "He started out on a G-string" and "He presented songs and sketches which he originated from the public domain. . . . Carmen Miranda got up and waggled at Diosa Costello's big celebrity party at Havana-Madrid, but Jackie Eigen, the night's m. c., pulled the best laugh—unintentionally—when he introduced "that wonderful little girl from pictures, Dana Andrews"—Dana being all-boy.

Conquest of Peleliu Island

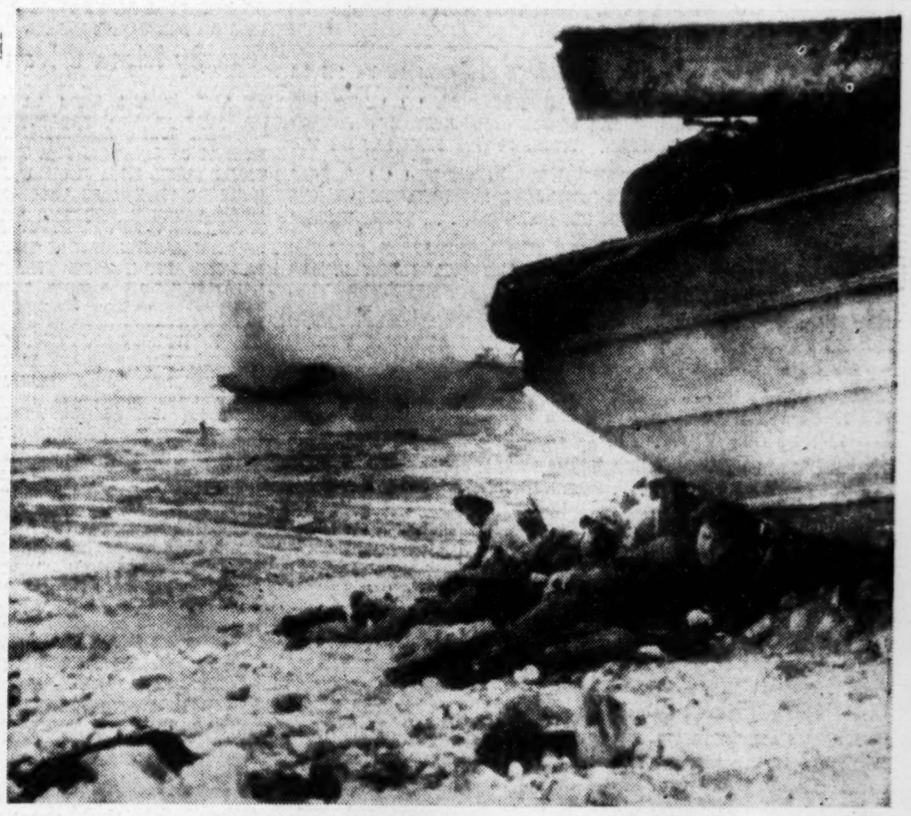
Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said last night that complete conquest of Peleliu in the Palaus is near, climaxing one of the hardest fought invasions in the Pacific. Marine infantrymen are shown using an amphibious tractor for cover. A rifleman on top takes aim while comrades in foreground get a breather.



First Division marines sprawling beneath the shelter afforded by the stern of a "duck" on the beach of Peleliu. Two other amphibious vehicles, hit by Jap artillery, burn in the background and ships lie off shore in distance.

JET PLANE U. S. and British Air Forces yesterday reported rapid development of Allied jet-propelled airplanes but said that Germany also was expected to increase use of that type of aircraft. Here is an official Army Air Forces photo of the P-59A Aircomet, first American jet-propelled plane, which has not yet been in combat.

He is shown with "Pamela," gilded statue of the "Knights." Lt. Buechler has made 22 trips over the Himalaya and holds both the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with four Oak Leaf Clusters with each.

BROADWAY

By WALTER WINCHELL

MANY of the staffers at Times-Life are said to be "tired of anonymity" and are taking side jobs. . . . The big musical hit in town, "Song of Norway," advertises Milton Lazarus as adapting the book. When it was readying on the coast he had his name omitted from the ads! . . . A film producer will be charged with "swindling the Government" out of almost a million dollars via tax loopholes. . . . Mme. Chiang Kai-shek will seek the President's permission for a personal pew at the Peace Table. . . . Elaine Castle, the new thrush with N. Brandwynne's crew at the Waldorf, is an ex-beauty contest champion. Her musical "cigars, cigarettes" as a ciggie salesman in her home town, Cleveland, first attracted Brandwynne's attention. The Waldorf owner considers her the best vocalist there yet. . . . Even the bookmakers at a certain Eastern track are disgusted. Rated the worst racing meet in history—it was that "curvy." . . . A "sleeper" song hit in "Mexican Hayride" is becoming a click in the swank spots. It's the guitar song—a lovely thing. . . . Sammy Walsh submits a slogan: "Be a blood donor and give your blood to a man w h o is saving your skin!"

★ ★ ★

THOSE TRICK NAMES used by some models are getting sillier. One calls herself Kitty Karr, another Hobby Carr. . . . George Duryea of the Broadway thittir, Tom Keane, seen in the hoss-operas, and Richard Powers, due soon in Columbia's "Sgt. Mike" flicker, are the same gink. . . . It always happens this way in H'wood. Until he appeared in "The Impatient Years," no studio had a job for Lee Bowman. Now many of them are trying to sign him. . . . Irving Berlin may be decorated for his many fine contributions to the war effort. . . . Metro long ago paid a fat fee for S. Romberg's "Student Prince" and then let it collect dust because of its Heidelberg background. They may do it soon, however, now that the talk has the war in Europe "being in the bag," which it is hardly. . . . Nobody is happy, except perhaps Hizzoner, over the prospect that the Copacabana may lose its fight.

★ ★ ★

KATINA PAXINOU, the Academy Award star, who hasn't worked in a movie since her fine performance in "For Whom the Bell Tolls," will be directed in her Broadway play by a former actor, Joseph Calliea. . . . Freddie Stewart, latest bid for the bobby-soxers, is an Andrews Sisters find. The girls discovered him looking for a job on the Coast. . . . Radio Row has its own betting odds. Not on the Presidency, but on the Crossley-Hooper outcome of the Kate Smith-Jack Benny program war. . . . Peggy Joyce's current favorite is Major Hugh Johnson, wounded overseas. . . . A lass named Oolan Farley (claims kinship to Jim Farley as second cousin) is a Russian Mongolian Irish ballerina. . . . They say one witness who left town after the Dorsey brawl was actually the chap who kept Jon Hall from losing his life. . . . The Stork Club name has been borrowed by several out-of-town night spots without S. Billingsley's permission. It is a jinx, apparently, for most of the copycats have gone into bankruptcy.

★ ★ ★

INSIDERS HEAR that the size of the allotment will prevail when it comes to discharging servicemen. In short, the largest wage-earners will be mustered out first. Ditto married men with families. . . . Al Jolson's newest tune is called: "Who Said Dreams Don't Come True?" . . . Frank Carroll's new ditty is: "It Won't Be Long Now." . . . Federal men suspect that Hitler will try to escape to Argentina where many Germans planted heavy investments and own ranches as big as cities. And that Hitler will be hard to find on any of them. . . . Col. Carlos Romulo announced that he will leave soon to rejoin MacArthur. He withdrew from a Town Meeting of the Air program because he was advertised as "trusting Japan to keep the peace," when he doesn't at all.

CASE RECORDS

By Dr. George W. Crane

CASE D-265: Maria H., aged 20, is an attractive office secretary. "I am to be married next month," she proudly informed me as soon as she had taken a seat. "I mention that fact, because a year ago I wrote you. My personality was then almost zero. I had no friends, even of my own sex. People scared me. I would blush and become tongue-tied when somebody spoke to me in public. I had graduated from business college, but quit my first job after two days because I was so shy I couldn't take the kidding from some of the sales force. Besides, I didn't know how to carry on an interesting conversation. I was no miserable I actually wished I would die.

"THEN I BEGAN reading your column and found that many people seemed to be as shy and unhappy as I. You told them to join the Compliment Club, and resolutely go out of their way each day to pay at least three honest, premeditated compliments. So I wrote to you. You sent me the Compliment Club materials and encouraged me, telling me to get a job and make my emotions obey my brain. That was the turning point in my life, and I feel eternally grateful to you and our editor. I sat down each evening and picked out the three people whom I vowed to compliment next day. I included some who were fearsome and made me uncomfortable at the office.

★ ★ ★

"I ANALYZED THEM in my mind, and actually wrote down each compliment, so I could memorize it. Otherwise, I would have been too shy to have spoken. It took courage those first few days, even though I just went up to a person and told him I admired his new tie. But I decided I would test your statement that even though I felt like dying of fright, I wouldn't die if I kept on. So I kept on. I sometimes hoped you'd be wrong, for I felt like dying. But I lived! As days passed, I gained a little confidence. Besides, people began to be more friendly to me, and that was a tonic to my deflated ego. Before the month was over, I felt like a new person inside. Oh, I was still shy at heart, but I had proved that I could walk up to a casual acquaintance at the office and smile while paying him a deserved compliment.

★ ★ ★

"MY EMPLOYER BEGAN to give me more responsibilities, and told me he liked to have me around. He is an engineer and only 29. He invited me to have a soda with him one noon, and we began to go to the movies together. Then we fell completely in love, and he gave me this ring. But the thing that surprised me as much as anything else, was when he told me why he first became attracted to me. He said it was because he liked girls who were confident and self-assured. While I was petrified with fright, but forcing myself to pay my three compliments per day, he didn't know I was scared but actually thought I was poised and nonchalant. No wonder you tell us, Dr. Crane, that we feel probably 10 times as nervous and fearful as we look."

Economical Menus for Tomorrow

By Meta Given

NOW is the time to capture some of that marvelous Concord grape fragrance and deliver it to your table in a quivery fruity salad. This fragrance is not quite as elusive as that found in some other fruits, but this does not mean that one need not take certain precautions in the preparation. First, wash the grapes while still on the stem, then stem the grapes, putting the fruit directly into the sauce pan in which they are to be cooked. Crush grapes slightly. There should be little or no need of adding water, but if there does not seem to be any juice on the bottom of the pan after a little crushing, then a spoonful or two of water should be added. Heat very gently at first and shake the pan occasionally to prevent sticking. As soon as the grapes are swimming in their own juice, they are ready to strain. Turn into a coarse sieve or a clean coarse textured cloth bag to drain. Above all, do not let stand for hours or over night if you wish the truest flavor.

Banana and Grape Molded Salad.

Two tablespoons gelatine, one-fourth cup cold water, three-fourths cup hot water, one cup fresh concentrated grape juice, one teaspoon lemon juice, three tablespoons sugar, three bananas, sliced. Soften gelatine in cold water. Add hot water, grape juice, lemon juice and sugar. Cool until thick. Arrange fruit in bottom of pint mold. Pour gelatine mixture on top place in refrigerator to set. Serve in lettuce cups with one-fourth cup mayonnaise, thinned with one tablespoon top milk. Serves four.

* * *

Breakfast.

Broiled tomatoes, four large tomatoes; place under broiler just long enough to heat through thoroughly; scrambled eggs, four to six; pan fried bacon, one-third pound; whole wheat toast, eight slices.

Luncheon.

Cream of corn soup, cut corn from four to six ears (about two and one-half cups cut corn). Cook one-half cup finely chopped celery and cut corn in one cup water until soft, five to seven minutes. Add two cups milk, two tablespoons butter and salt and pepper to taste. The soup may be rubbed through a sieve or served without straining. Raw spinach and cheese sandwich, three-ounce package cream cheese. Chop fine one-fourth pound raw, cleaned spinach. Mix with cream cheese—spread on eight slices white toast. Fresh plums, four to eight plums; shortbread squares, one-half or remainder.

Dinner.

Baked halibut or other large fish fillet (Spencer method), two pounds fish. Dip cleaned fish into mixture of one-half cup milk and two teaspoons salt. Roll in two cups fine dry bread crumbs. Place on an oiled baking pan, sprinkle each piece lightly with salad oil. Bake uncovered in very hot oven (500 degrees F.) for 10 minutes. Never add water—do not turn. Baked potatoes, four large potatoes; creamed peas, one and one-half pounds fresh; grape and banana molded salad. See recipe above. Quick pudding, one tin evaporated milk. Mix together in top of double boiler. One cup evaporated milk, juice and rind of one lemon, two beaten eggs. Cook over water until thickened. Stir in one and one-half cups sweet cookie crumbs, divide into individual sherbets. Chill. Serve with top milk. Butter or fortified margarine used on all breads. Include in today's menus, milk to drink: six cups for children, two cups for adults.

Hungarian Goulash

Two and one-half pounds beef chuck, lard or drippings, two and one-half teaspoons salt, pepper, two onions, chopped; one No. 2½ can tomatoes, one-fourth teaspoon allspice, one-fourth teaspoon cloves, one teaspoon paprika, one bay leaf, one-half cup beef stock, six small potatoes, peeled.

Cut beef into cubes and brown in fat. Add remaining ingredients, except potatoes; cover closely and simmer about two hours or until meat is beginning to be tender. Remove bay leaf. Add potatoes; cook until tender. Thicken gravy or remove meat and vegetables and cook it down until slightly thickened. Pour back over meat and vegetables.

The Time for Firmness

By Angelo Patri

FIRMNESS AT THE RIGHT TIME IS THE ONLY SHORTCUT TO UNDERSTANDING OBEDIENCE

BOBBIE was playing truckman with Dicky. Lunchtime was near and mother went out to the children and said, "Lunchtime soon, Bobbie. You'd better come in now and wash up. It will be on the table by the time you are ready so don't be long." To her consternation Bobbie didn't look up but said, "I'm not coming. I'm busy."

Mother stood still, her heart beating like a hammer. She knew that he must come in and that she must see that he did. This was the first time in his life that the child had ever spoken to anybody in such a fashion.

"Bobbie." No answer.

"I told you I wasn't coming," said Bobbie, his voice rising to a shout.

Mother went to him and he threw himself on the ground and kicked and howled, "I won't go. I'm not going."

Mother gathered him up as well as she could for his flinging and kicking and lugged him into the house and dropped him on the floor. When she got her breath again she said, as quietly as she could against his roars and kicks, "You are going to wash yourself and have your lunch." Then she went into the living room and sat down with her knitting.

Bobbie kicked and pounded on the floor. He yelled and shouted at his mother and told her he did not like her, that he would never like her again, but she just said, "Well, that's too bad. But you will have to wash yourself and have your lunch just the same."

To emphasize his feelings at this point, Bobbie kicked down the umbrella stand and the umbrellas and father's sticks fell on him. He rolled out of the way and his yells were not so violent. Mother righted the stand and went back to knit. His yells grew fainter, with occasional loud renewals. His kicks stopped altogether. He lay quiet looking at his mother through a slit between his eyelids. She knitted on. He fell asleep and his mother threw a light blanket over him and let him sleep where he was. When he wakened an hour later he was surprised to find himself on the floor. He got up and looked around for his mother. She sat knitting in her chair as she was the last time he saw her.

"Ma, I'm hungry."

"Yes, you must be. Go wash yourself and have your lunch." Without a word he went and when he returned his lunch was waiting on the tray. He ate it, rinsed his mouth, had his face and hands well wiped, and then he said, "Are you going to take me to Aunt May's this afternoon?"

"Yes, right after we clean up the lunch dishes." The battle was over and won. No more need to talk about it. Firmness at the right time is the only shortcut to understanding obedience.

Ice Cream Pie

Two tablespoons melted margarine; one tablespoon sugar; three-fourths cup finely crushed corn flakes; one tablespoon water.

Add margarine to corn flakes, tossing light to mix. Dissolve sugar in water and sprinkle over corn-flake mixture, tossing lightly again. Press into bottom and sides of an eight or nine inch pie plate. Bake at 375 degrees eight to 10 minutes. Cool. When ready to serve, fill with one pint fruit-flavored ice cream.

Short Rib Dinner

Five pounds short ribs of beef; two tablespoons lard or drippings; five teaspoons salt; three-fourths teaspoon pepper; two cups water; eight medium-sized potatoes; eight small onions; four parsnips; four to eight carrots.

Brown meat in hot fat. Season. Add water, cover and allow to simmer one and one-half to two hours. Add whole potatoes and onions, with parsnips and carrots cut in half. Season vegetables, cover and continue cooking until meat and vegetables are tender. Make gravy or barbecue sauce and serve separately. Serves eight to 10.

My OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

Dear Martha Carr:

WE civilians are constantly being told we should bolster the morale of men in service by writing them only cheerful letters. Since my two brothers have been overseas I have tried to remember this. But repeatedly I get worried letters from them because of things which Mother has spilled over about—from how lonely life is without the boys and how worried she is about them to things which have actually gone wrong here at home. The fellows sound unhappy and write long letters of suggestion about whatever upset Mother, and by the time I get these letters things here have usually worked out and all is serene once more, but the boys are left worrying till my next letter reaches them. This doesn't seem quite fair, but how can I tackle Mother on the subject? I suppose most of it is because she has been a widow so many years and has depended so greatly on the boys, and it seems natural for her to go to them. She is normally an unselfish person but this thoughtlessness makes her seem selfish. What can I do to make her realize what she is doing to the boys?

SISTER OF TWO GIs.

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest, but of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

I am quite sure it is only the habit of turning to the boys, which she has not yet overcome, which is making your mother so thoughtless. Suggest to her that by keeping her chin up, forgetting her own loneliness and keeping in mind only happy things to tell her sons, she will be contributing definitely to the war effort. Make her realize that to write unhappy, worrying letters is not only selfish but unpatriotic as well. If things are topsy-turvy, bad luck rampant, members of the family ill, she should skip it. On days when she feels sunk she should do anything except write letters. I am sure your mother will realize the reasonableness of this and you will have no more disturbed and disturbing letters from your brothers, through any fault of hers.

Dear Martha Carr:

WE ARE A GROUP of girls ranging from 16 to 18. There is one girl in the crowd who is always trying to steal every other girls' boy friend, and quite often she succeeds. How can we break away from this girl? Her reputation is not very good. Will you please send us your Popularity leaflet and some suggestions for a Hallowe'en party.

E. A.

I can't help but wonder if this girl really has a bad reputation, or if you are all down on her because she steals your boy friends. If she actually hasn't a good reputation then the crowd should drop her, of course. But if all she does is charm away your boy friends then consider her competition good for your souls, and be up on your toes to think of ways to beat her at her own game. Her methods might be worth studying—charm school at no expense. You forgot the necessary stamped, self-addressed envelope so I was unable to send your answer by mail, or the leaflets you requested. Send it along and you shall have them.

★ ★ ★

IN ANSWER TO "Mrs. J. L. P.", "E. O.", and "Mrs. W. C. M.": If you will send me the stamped, self-addressed envelope necessary I'll be glad to mail you my "Occupations for Women" and "Rose Jar" leaflets, as you requested.

★ ★ ★

IN ANSWER TO "D. R.": Were you really that low when you wrote me? Everything possible seems wrong with your little world. If that letter is truly on the up-and-up there's not a single problem which you can't settle quickly by talking over with your mother. So hop to it, and stop singing those blues.

★ ★ ★

IN ANSWER TO "Fatty": If you will send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope I will mail you my "Popularity Hints." If you are too plump how about sacrificing a few gooey sundaes, chocolate malteds, etc., on the altar of beauty and living on vegetables and meat and melba toast? If you are actually greatly overweight consult your family doctor. Girls of 13 are apt to be too thin or too fat, but round out or slim down in a few years without doing anything too drastic about it.

Social Problems

By Emily Post

IN this column several weeks ago, I did agree with the wishes of the bride's family that the mother's name be omitted from the wedding invitations because of an extreme case of permanent brain injury and exceptional family relationships. However, I do not agree that this should be an example to be followed under usual circumstances. In fact, I am sincerely sorry that I printed the letter since I have found that several readers have thought that saying nothing to anyone about relatives so afflicted was a general rule.

At all events I am more than glad to print the following letter sent me by a noted psychiatric expert; and with whom I, of course, completely agree.

"The public should be educated to recognize mental illness for what it is and to accept mental illness as they accept ailments of a physical nature. If people would only stop to realize that mental illness is no more to be ashamed of than a disorder of any other part of the body, there would be no question of how to express ourselves to the families nor should it be considered a "delicate subject." Certainly good taste directs us to inquire about the health of those who are ill and, in my opinion, it would be extremely rude to ignore such a matter or to act embarrased about referring to it. Sympathy, encouragement and an attitude of hopefulness are what the relatives need and deeply appreciate at this time."

DEAR MRS. POST: Where is the right place to put the iced-tea spoon? A friend told me that there was no one correct place but that it was a question of the table-setter's choice, inasmuch as the iced-tea spoon is not put on a formal table because according to this service, the beverage served is black coffee. Does this also mean that at a formal lunch party, an iced drink should never be served? Which leads me to ask—are there no rules except for formal service?

Answer: There are plenty of rules. In fact, iced tea in summer is served often at what might be called quite accurately formal luncheons. The spoon is placed on the extreme outside of the plate. After you have put the spoon in the glass it is supposed to remain there. It is the one occasion when you drink with the spoon in the glass—held out of the way with your index finger. Or, if you prefer, after stirring your tea, you may remove the spoon and put it at the side of the plate from which you are eating and have it carried away at the end of the course. But if you like to keep it in your glass, you may let it remain there and drink as explained above.

The Doctor Gives Facts On Diabetes

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

I RECEIVE numerous letters which say—"I have diabetes. If I diet will I ever be cured?"

Or—"I had sugar in the urine and blood. I have taken insulin and the sugar is gone. Can I stop now?"

The honest answer to both these questions is—"No." They both show an entire misconception of the nature of the disease diabetes. Diabetes is a disturbance of starch or sugar nutrition. Sugar is burned in the body to furnish energy—muscular action and body heat, just as gasoline is used in an engine. The substance which sparks the sugar is insulin formed by certain glands in the pancreas.

Diabetes is a disease of these glands. When their secretion of insulin is deficient, sugar accumulates in the blood, flows off in the urine, just as choke accumulates in your automobile when the spark plugs are dirty. This can be treated either by giving insulin artificially (sparking) or reducing the starches in the diet. The improvement, however, is only temporary. The underlying condition still exists. The treatment has to be renewed daily indefinitely. The treatment, though temporary, is effective, and diabetes is now one of the easiest of all the chronic diseases to control.

THE ADVANTAGE of using this control is that if conscientiously done the sugar tolerance of any diabetic gradually stages some degree of a come back. To that extent we can speak of a cure, or partial cure.

There are two general classes of diabetics—young and old. They need different kinds of care because the young diabetic always has a severe case and requires insulin almost daily, while the older diabetic has a more or less mild case that can be controlled in most instances by diet alone.

It is in this latter class of the middle aged, or elderly, diabetic that treatment is so gratifying that it may be said they make a partial recovery. They renew their spark plugs. They are good examples of the old saying of Dr. Osler that the way to live a long time is to acquire a chronic disease and nurse it.

I HAVE A RECENT report on 55 diabetic patients who under treatment improved so much, on diet alone, that they increased the ability of the body to utilize starches and sugars almost to normal.

In all cases the greatest improvement occurred when weight reduction was made. That was the real first objective of treatment. It is easy to see why weight reduction should help diabetes. If a man's insulin cells—spark plugs—can't produce enough sparking to burn sugar to furnish energy to a body which weighs 200 pounds, they may be able to do so when his body weighs only 150 pounds. If the diabetic can't replace his injured spark plugs he can reduce the size of the engine they have to service.

In performing this weight reduction the diet will necessarily be low in starches and sugars and thus perhaps by giving the insulin-forming cells a rest you allow them to stage a come back.

To this extent it may be said that diabetes is at least partially curable.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Mrs. F. F.:—My son three and a half years old fails to recognize colors. I have worked with him for hours on end but he still mixes them up. He is bright otherwise and he tells me endlessly about something that is pretty so I don't think he is color blind.

Answer: He probably is color blind nevertheless. Only males have it. The color blind person lives in a world of beauty, even though it is different from ours, so may think something is pretty. It is best to find out whether he is color blind or not, because many adjustments in life depend on it. Any oculist can tell you. Four per cent of all males are color blind.

Your Stars

By Marion Drew

WHAT TO EXPECT TOMORROW
Sun in Libra.

General Tendencies—There appear to be changes during the day, particularly in the attitudes of the various people whom you will contact. The best hours for business calls and financial discussions seem fairly late in the afternoon, the earlier part of the day tending toward less serious matters. If you want to make a date for this evening, then choose the morning for your telephone query. You may also meet new friends before noon has passed.

If Tomorrow Is Your Birthday.

A general feeling of confusion or lack of ambition may disturb you during the year about to come. Do not let this worry you unduly. It is a characteristic of the influence of the planet Neptune, and when not understood causes many people to think themselves very remiss. It will pass in a fairly short time without doing any harm. The best way to use the constructive side of it is to study music, art or some form of literature. Don't push yourself during next winter.

Tomorrow's Watchword—There is a very common subject emphasized by tomorrow's position of the Zodiac—hot temper. "I used to be angry every day," said Epictetus, "then every other day; then every third and fourth day. Now I can miss anger as long as 30 days, and so I offer a sacrifice of thanksgiving to God." Whenever you find a man who cannot control his resentment or temper, then you can know that there are many other things beyond his control as well.

Retirement of a Great Champion

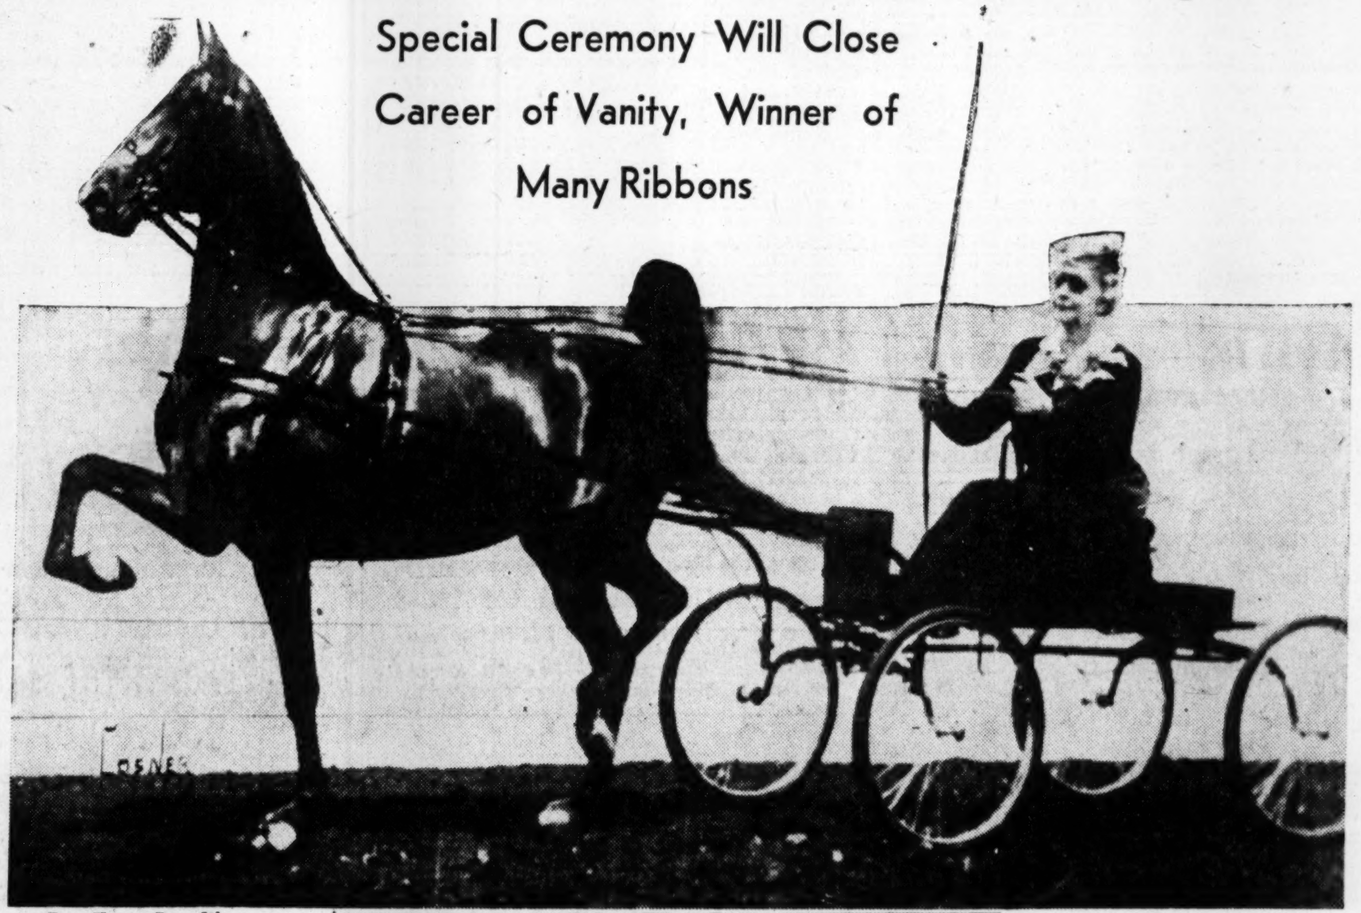
Special Ceremony Will Close Career of Vanity, Winner of Many Ribbons



MRS. WEIL AND VANITY POSE TOGETHER FOR A PHOTOGRAPH. ABOVE, VANITY IN ACTION WITH MRS. WEIL AT THE REINS.

By Fay Profilet

VANITY, grand champion fine harness horse, owned by Mrs. L. Victor Weil of New York and Elberon, N. J., will say farewell to the horse show ring in St. Louis. For the occasion the St. Louis Horse Show Association has planned a special ceremony to retire the beautiful bay mare Friday night at Missouri Stables Arena, where the annual Fall Horse Show is in progress.

After seven years of intensive exhibition in top shows of the nation, Vanity will spend the rest of her life at Fair City Stables on the Weils' New Jersey estate. Mrs. Weil chose to retire this champion show horse here because it was in St. Louis, as a two-year-old, she was bought from Irving F. Florscheim of Chicago. Mrs. Weil gave $15,000 for the mare, the highest price known to have been paid for a harness horse.

"Vanity was the cheapest horse I ever bought," said Mrs. Weil. "Because she has repaid me over and over in the pleasure I have had in owning her. She is 10 years old now, a ripe age for a show horse. She has always given me her very best and she deserves the best from me after she leaves the horse show world."

With tears in her eyes, when she speaks of Vanity's retirement, Mrs. Weil said she was looking forward to driving her as much as she pleased without being afraid of ruining her gait. She said wistfully that she hoped Vanity would come often to the kitchen door for apples and a lump of sugar.

AN aristocrat by birth, Vanity was sired by Meadow Majesty. Live Wire Beauty was her dam. She has won 138 first honors including championships and grand championships in 121 shows from the Golden Gate to the Maine coast. Last year she was winner of the coveted title of "1943 Grand Champion of Winners" and the American Horseman annual trophy.

"Vanity is a rare specimen of grace and animation," said her owner. "She has gentleness and great intelligence and at the same time a big heart. By a big heart I mean endurance. In one class at a show she stood for judging three quarters of an hour and after the line-up she was sent out to the ring seven different times. Each time she was better than the time before."

Mrs. Weil is one of the best whips in horse show circles and one of the best dressed women in any circle. Tall and slender with laughing blue eyes and an almost flawless complexion, she has snow white hair softly waved and smartly arranged. When seen in her suite at Hotel Chase, where she is a guest for Horse Show Week, she was wearing a simple navy blue daytime frock set off by crisp lingerie touches. Her jewelry consisted of an immense deep blue sapphire ring, set with diamonds, and an unusual pin. Having been an artist, a portrait painter, before her marriage, Mrs. Weil designs all her clothes and jewelry. The pin is of gold in the shape of the prized blue ribbon set with rows of sapphires. In the center of the gold rosette was a replica of the head of Fair City King, an English bull dog she once owned, carved out of rock crystal.

Mrs. Weil likes dark blue, black and royal purple for the show ring. Her favorite furs are chinchilla and platine fox and her favorite gem is the ruby. With each specially designed costume she wears just one or two specially designed pieces of jewelry. These amazing rings, pins, earrings and bracelets seem at a glance to be exquisite costume jewelry but on closer observance one discovers they are set with real stones. The head of her first show horse, Lee Belle Sir Walter, was copied in agate for the center of a pin which sparkles with sprays of diamonds and emeralds. On the occasion of Vanity's retirement, Mrs. Weil plans to wear a black costume, banded with jet bugle beads, with a double platine fox fur scarf and a cunning white satin hat trimmed with white ostrich tips.

In addition to driving Vanity to victory all over the country, Mrs. Weil finds time for much philanthropic and war work. For 19 years she has done all the buying, with the exception of medical supplies and food, for Lebanon Hospital in New York, founded 50 years ago by Mr. Weil's father. Recently Mrs. Weil gave a new wing to the hospital in memory of her brother. She gives many hours a week as a Nurse's Aide. Mr. and Mrs. Weil, who are the parents of a married daughter and a grown son, operate a canteen in Elberon. Their project, free of charge for everything, which started two years ago for the entertainment of 25 servicemen now has an attendance of 5000 a month.

FAIR CITY STABLES, managed by Frank J. Connor, houses not only the fine harness champion but America Beautiful, champion three gaited mare of the country and Killearn Beauty, heavy harness horse, and international champion when she showed in England.

"There will never be another Vanity," said Connor. "She is what is known as a natural born show horse. She has perfect conformation. The minute she is in the ring she just blossoms out. The most remarkable thing about Vanity is that she never has to be worked or trained. She is turned in the pasture with all the other horses in the winter and in the spring we just put her in the harness and she is ready. I have seen Mrs. Weil, an amateur driver, compete with the best professional men drivers in the country and she and Vanity have always won."

THE declarer's dilemma in this deal was that he was confronted with three finesses and didn't know which to take and which to reject.

The bidding:

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 2 hearts | Pass | 3 diamonds | Pass |
| 6 hearts | Pass | Pass | Pass |

West opened the spade ten, and declarer looked over the dummy. Obviously, he was safe if he could catch either the trump queen or the club king, and it also would be possible to avoid the loss of a club by finessing successfully against the diamond queen.

Probably confused by this multiplicity of finesses, South crossed to the diamond ace and finessed to the jack of trumps. West won and returned a spade, and declarer might as well have thrown his cards on the table and conceded a club trick!

The right way to play the hand was to take only one finesse that could not be avoided, and that, only if other, preliminary maneuvers went wrong! South had almost as good a chance to drop the heart and/or diamond queen as he did to finesse for those cards, and moreover, playing for the drop would not tie him up in knots if he had bad luck. Thus, he should have laid down the ace and king of trumps, then, whether or not the queen had fallen, cash the king and ace of diamonds. If the diamond queen dropped, the club queen should be discarded on the diamond jack; if not, the club finesse would be the last shot.

NABISCO SHREDDED WHEAT

Stuffed Tomatoes

Four large, firm tomatoes; one-half cup dry bread crumbs; one-half cup soft bread crumbs; one-fourth cup margarine; one-half cup boiling water; one-half teaspoon salt; one teaspoon poultry seasoning; one tablespoon coarsely chopped anchovies.

Melt margarine in boiling water. Cut tops from tomatoes and hollow out a pocket in each. Combine all other ingredients and stuff tomatoes with the mixture. Place in shallow baking dish with a little water in the bottom to keep them from sticking, and bake at 375 degrees about a half hour, or until stuffing is lightly browned on top.

Pot Roast In Wine

Four pounds utility boneless chuck; two cups red wine; one-fourth teaspoon allspice; one bay leaf; six whole cloves; four whole black peppers; two tablespoons seedless raisins; two tablespoons fat; two cups cooked or canned tomatoes; three stalks celery (with leaves); six medium onions.

Wipe meat with damp cloth. Mix wine, seasonings and raisins and soak meat in this at least two hours, turning it frequently, so that all sides come into contact with the marinade. Remove meat, pat it dry with paper towels and sear it in fat on all sides in heavy, deep pot. When brown, add wine mixture, two cups of boiling water, and the vegetables. Cover and simmer until meat is tender (about two and a half hours). Remove bay leaf, thicken sauce, if desired, and serve.

Good Gravy!

For a peppy gravy for pot-roast or braised short ribs, spread one-fourth cup of prepared horseradish over the meat after browning, and make gravy from the drippings. For a spicy gravy, rub the pot-roast with powdered ginger, or crumble a few ginger snaps into the gravy and flavor it with a little vinegar—spices, too, if desired.

For onion gravy: Cook one-half to three-fourths cup sliced onions in the drippings until tender and slightly browned. Add flour and finish cooking as for brown gravy.

For mushroom gravy: Cook one-half to three-fourths cup canned mushrooms, or one-half pound fresh mushrooms, in drippings until slightly browned. Add flour and finish cooking as for brown gravy.

When experimenting with unfamaliar herbs and spices, remember that too little is better than too much. As the French would say, "un soupcon" (a suspicion).

Like MOTHER MADE

Give the family a treat this week-end with a home-baked cake or some pastry. You will find all of the things you need including flour and other ingredients prominently displayed and attractively priced at your neighborhood A. G. market. Follow mother's old fashioned formula for making regular meals unusually attractive by serving with them a home baked family favorite.

Garlic Whole Wheat Bread

Cream margarine with garlic. Cut bread in slices one-and one-half inches thick, down to, but not through the bottom crust. Spread garlic-flavored margarine on each of cut sides of bread slices and place in a 400-degree oven to crisp and to let the bread absorb the margarine.

BING CROSBY SHOW STOPPED BY NAZI ATTACK IN FRANCE

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN ALSACE-LORRAINE, Sept. 27 (Delayed) (AP).—In an abandoned factory only two miles from German positions American troops of a frontier regiment gathered today for an afternoon of entertainment. Word had spread that this show would be something special, and the place was packed.

After the comedian and two pretty girl singers had completed their acts, Bing Crosby appeared and got a rousing reception from the soldiers, who had not been told who the star would be.

Crosby sang one song and was half way through another when word came that the Germans had started an attack. An order was passed quickly down the line of disappointed GI Joes and they marched hurriedly out to battle—leaving Crosby singing to an empty house.

DONALD DUCK—By Walt Disney

Believe It or Not! by RIPLEY

THE WORD "FLAK" COMES FROM THE GERMAN WORDS "FLug Abwehr Kanonen" ANTI-FLIGHT GUNS
KING STEPHEN 1533-1586
GREATEST OF THE POLISH KINGS - WAS A HUNGARIAN AND COULD NOT SPEAK A WORD OF POLISH DON'T BE A GOOSE?
IN ADDITION TO BEING GENEROUS BENEFACTORS OF HUMANITY - THEY ARE VERY INTELLIGENT CUNNING, KEEN, AGILE, VIGILANT AND COURAGEOUS!
THEY MAKE BETTER WATCHDOGS THAN DOGS. ALL HUNTERS AGREE THAT IT'S IMPOSSIBLE TO FOOL A GOOSE
A GOOSE MAY WADDLE ON LAND - BUT SO DOES MAN - A GOOSE HISSES - BUT SO DO THEATRE GOERS.
A GOOSE CACKLES - BUT SO DO POLITICIANS.
THEY NEVER DO THE GOOSE-STEP!
THE ANCIENT EGYPTIANS AND ANGLO-SAXONS WORSHIPPED THE GOOSE AND THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE WAS WRITTEN WITH A GOOSE QUILL!
PEACH SHAPED LIKE A BIRD GREW IN A BIRD'S NEST

NANCY—By Ernie Bushmiller

I'M GONNA HIDE THIS BOX OF CANDY SO I WON'T EAT IT ALL TODAY
NOW I'LL TRY TO FORGET WHERE I HID IT---I'LL THINK OF OTHER THINGS SO I'LL GET IT OUT OF MY MIND
-ERNIE BUSHMILLER
SEPT-28
IT'S NO USE---I CAN'T FOOL ANYBODY AS SMART AS ME!

HELP! HELP! GUARDS!
9-28
FOOL! DID YOU THINK YOU COULD ESCAPE?
BUT WHILE DR. CONGO SUBDUES LOTHAR...

JANE ARDEN—By Monte Barrett and Russell Ross

WE'RE CATCHING A SHORT WAVE SIGNAL, RIDDER—THE CALL LETTER IS CA-2C—
OH-OH—THEY'RE CALLING JAP INTELLIGENCE!
MAYBE THIS IS IT!
ALL OTHER STATIONS REPORT THE SAME CALL—THE FINDERS LOCATE THE STATION ABOUT THIRTY MILES EAST OF HERE—NEAR THE TOWN OF SALEM—
READY A COUPLE OF MOBILE UNITS AND CARRY SOME SNIFTERS ALONG—
WHAT'S A SNIFTER?
YOU'LL FIND OUT—IT'S TIME WE GOT GOING IF WE'RE GOING TO STOP THIS BIRD!
THESE MOBILE UNITS ARE ACTUALLY SMALL ADCOCK STATIONS ON WHEELS—SEVERAL OF THESE CARS ARE CONVERGING ON THE POINT WHERE THAT SIGNAL ORIGINATES!
WE'LL HAVE OUR SPIES WITHIN AN HOUR!
THEY HAVEN'T A CHANCE HAVE THEY?

CHIEF WAHOO—By Saunders and Woggon

SNAP
REALLY, MR.--AH--"SNAPPAH" ---YOU NEEDN'T!
9-28-44
BUT IT'S GOOD BUSINESS, FRANKLY! --TO HAVE A SOCIAL LEADER LIKE MRS. DOUBLEDAY PREEN SEEN HERE--AND WEARING THE WORLD'S MOST FAMOUS GEM-- THE "SHAH" DIAMOND!
SAUNDERS and WOGGON
HOW WE COMIN', STEVE?
OKAY, CHIEF! AS SOON AS I SHOOT THE OLD SQUAB WITH THE HUNK OF BOTTLE GLASS ON HER BOSOM, WE'LL CALL IT "30!"
LADIES AND GENTLEMEN--! THE STAR OF OUR FLOOR SHOW! PRINCESS MINNIE-HA-CHA!

KERRY DRAKE—By Alfred Andriola

DR. ZERO! THE BOY IS GONE! HE MUST HAVE RECOVERED AND CRAWLED AWAY!
ALFRED ANDRIOLA
WHAT HAVE YOU DONE, YOU LITTLE FOOL! WHERE IS THAT YOUNG POLICE SPY?
I'M NOT SAYIN', ZERO!
AS LONG AS YOU WERE FIGHTIN' COPS, I STOOD BY YOU—EVEN WHILE I HATED THE SIGHT OF YOUR GREASY FAT PAN! BUT—JUMPIN' ON A YOUNG KID—
OOOONH!

BATMAN AND ROBIN—By Bob Kane

HOW WONDERFUL BRUCE WAS! EVEN BATMAN COULD HAVE BEEN PROUD OF A FEAT LIKE THAT. STRANGE—KNOWING BRUCE SO LONG—YET I NEVER DREAMED HE HAD IT IN HIM.
BOB KANE
IT'S AMAZING. GUESS LIVING ON A FARM MAKES ONE PRETTY HARDY.
ZZZZ
YES! AND ALL OF A SUDDEN. ARE YOU SURE YOU'RE ALL RIGHT?
I'M ALL RIGHT. BUT NOW THAT EVERYTHING'S OVER, I WAS JUST THINKING...
IF IT HADN'T BEEN FOR ALFRED LEAVING THAT PORTFOLIO IN THE AMBULANCE, WE'D NEVER HAVE FOLLOWED THEM. AND—WELL—THAT AMBULANCE WOULD HAVE BEEN THE FIRST TO CROSS THAT WEAKENED BRIDGE.

PRIVATE BREGER—By Dave Breger

DON WINSLOW—By Frank V. Martinek

I'VE GOT TO SPEAK TO THE MANAGER ABOUT USING MY QUARTERS IN MY ABSENCE.. I'LL MEET YOU DOWNSTAIRS!
